Dedication

IN DEDICATING this book to the present generation of the descendants of John Hottel, the Immigrant, may it be indelibly stamped upon our minds that we should be greatly indebted:

1. To our ancestors for having the privilege of being born in a land of Bibles and religious liberties.
2. To our parents who so faithfully discharged their duties in rearing us in the nurture and admonition of the Lord, and taught us to be law-abiding citizens.
3. To the present generation of descendants of these noted ancestors who have furnished much valuable information. May they pass it on to future generations.

FOREWORD

HIS compilation of the Hottel-Huddle Family History was considered by Hon. J. K. Hottal, attorney, Spartanburg, S. C., while on a visit in the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia, in 1868, but nothing tangible was done until in 1916, when J. A. Huttel, Hellertown, Pa., later deceased, Hon. J. Klahr Huddle and Rev. John T. Huddle, D. D., both of Washington, D. C., had gathered some items of valuable information and formulated some general outlines. It was at this stage of the undertaking that Rev. W. D. Huddle, then of Lancaster, Ohio, was discovered and invited to join the editorial staff. The work of specializing proceeded nicely until the illness and death of J. A. Huttel, the chief promoter. About the same time the pressure of affairs of a different nature made it impossible for the other men mentioned above to do more than assist Rev. W. D. Huddle, who was urged and authorized to undertake the tedious and difficult task of preparing and publishing this material in book form.

The work will consist of three branches, each headed by one of the children of John Hottel, immigrant; Charles, George and Barbara Anna.

In compiling this genealogy we have spared no pains to have it as complete and perfect as possible; telling at least where all live or have lived, the occupations of all grown-up members of the families and their church affiliations, giving all dates of births, marriages and deaths. It is a matter of regret that the record is far from complete, especially regarding those whose whereabouts are unknown. Whole families would have been omitted but for the industry and sagacity of relatives, who in addition to their own record, have collected and furnished collateral branches of their families. Where there are entire omissions of persons or families or dates, it is positively due to their failure to respond to our continued calls. Some to whom we have written for information paid no attention to our requests. To such we would say that we must politely leave them out of the history. Others have been most accommodating, kind and obliging, giving valuable help and much encouragement in the work. It has been our aim to avoid disparaging comments in all cases. Some of the kin are deserving of more conspicuous mention than they received. But this has not been the fault of the compiler. Our aim was to secure all information direct from the families themselves, but we had to get along without much valuable material which would have been welcome could it only have been obtained.

Every little bit of information had to be picked up separately and all had to be worked into a coherent unity, requiring labor, patience, perseverance and sacrifice of time and money.

During the time that has been devoted to this compilation, we have traveled many thousands of miles to Virginia and other parts of the country in search of information; talked with oldest inhabitants here and there; visited old graveyards; searched through the musty records of churches, probate courts and old family manuscripts. We have looked through many genealogical works, and have written many letters of inquiry, but notwithstanding our earnest labors we are not unmindful of the incompleteness of the task assigned us. However, we venture to say that this work is more complete than many family histories and we believe it will prove a real contribution to the genealogical literature of our country.

To attempt to make this short foreword a full acknowledgment of the services of those who have assisted in the preparation of this work would be difficult, to say the least. The book is the result of the cooperation of all the kindred. Their names appear in the body of the genealogy. But special mention is made of the services of those who helped from the beginning to the end. Without their assistance the book could not have been written.

We are greatly indebted to our Associate Historians: Hon. J. K. Hottel, Spartanburg, S. C. for encouragement and painstaking collaboration of data in the Shenandoah Valley and in Ohio and points in other states; to Rev. John T. Huddle, D. D., of Washington, D. C. for contributions of data of the Southwestern-Virginia branch of the family; to P. S. Rhodes, Woodstock, Va. for an exceptional amount of research work in the court records of Shenandoah County at Woodstock, besides a vast amount of other material furnished for the book; to M. H. Hottel, Woodstock, Va., a man of mature years and exceptional memory who gave an unusual amount of miscellaneous information on the various families in his native county and state. Their acquaintance, counsel and cooperation have been delightful.

Special mention and thanks are due to many others who have contributed to the success of this work; Hon. J. Klahr Huddle, Washington, D. C., later Berlin, Germany; E. K. Huddle, Akron, Ohio; Mrs. Annie M. McInturff, Strasburg, Va.; Lucille Hottel, Woodstock, Va.; Roy C. Wright, Galesburg, Ill.; Mrs. Sophia L. Keys, Knightstown, Ind.; Mrs. Alice A. Culbertson, Indianapolis, Ind.; J. C. Hottel, Woodstock, Va.; W. J. Keller, Toms Brook, Va.; David H. Keller, Toms Brook, Va.; Dr. W. L. Hunton, Philadelphia, Pa.; Mrs. S. W. INTRODUCTION

HIDDEN from all is the future. It is mysterious, uncertain, unreal, except that we sometimes by the aid of the imagination project ourselves into it and so fill our lives with the promises of good or with the threat of evil.

The past is not so. The past is real and lives in us; in it we were born; from it we have been formed, and out of it we have grown; hence to know ourselves and to know others, we must know the past. In the onward march of the world there are those who occasionally desire to take a backward look and learn something of their ancestry; to know whom they were, when and from where they came, and what kind of people their descendants have been, whether indolent or industrious, learned or illiterate, and what part they have taken in shaping and supporting the government and maintaining civilized society.

Daniel Webster said, "Those who do not look upon themselves as a link connecting the past with the future do not perform their duty to the world." Another eminent writer makes this statement, "Those who care not about their earthly origin, care little as to anything higher." "Why write a family history?" is frequently asked. "What is the necessity for it?" If it is deemed necessary to write the pedigree of certain animals, and register them, is not the record of a worthy family much more advisable?

If it is important that the Church and State should keep a careful record of their historical incidents and facts, it is equally important that a family, the greatest of the three, should do so, for it lies at the foundation of the others. It is a well recognized fact that the prosperity of the state and success of the church are dependent upon the virtue, good order and sanctity of the home. "Break down the safeguards of this, the first institution in the plan of God, and social order is destroyed and national greatness imperilled."

The writers of sacred story constantly remind us of this. They found delight and honor in tracing and placing upon record the kinship that existed between the Lord Jesus and David, the Shepherd King of Israel, although they were separated from each other by many generations of people and many centuries of time, that they might know surely if the promised Messiah came in the prophetic line. So the writers of story in every age loved to trace the kinship of their heroes and heroines, and sought to leave future ages the record of their names, their virtues and their achievements.

Since the Christian era, genealogy has become very much neglected until in these latter days. The present generation can hardly trace their forebears back further than to grandparents, and consequently do not even think of, or appreciate their ancestors, who paved the way for our American liberties and Christian privileges, and present prosperity. It is difficult to imagine what our lot might have been morally, socially, and religiously had our ancestors remained in Europe, instead of coming to America.

As the country gets older and the connections increase, and the name becomes more familiar in all the professions and trades, it certainly is a matter of vital importance to each member of a large family such as ours to be able easily to trace the family back to the early history of the country when neighbors were few and far apart and the land was a trackless wilderness. It is also a great satisfaction to know who his ancestors were and to what branch of the family he belongs, and how he stands related to every member of the family.

The Scripture Commandment, "Honor thy father and thy mother," means love for one's parents and ancestors. Honor them not only for making it possible for you to get an education, or giving you a worthy start in life, or laying up for you an inheritance in the form of a farm or a bank account, but honor them supremely for having given you a good birth, a clean body and a clean brain with which to go through life. There are many babies that are cursed into existence by unclean parentage, doomed to lifelong suffering, defeat and shame because their parents gave them unclean bodies, tainted blood, blasted brains and nerves. Your appreciation of clean parents will know no measure and you will never cease to honor them for their supreme gift to you.

Family records in old Bibles are becoming illegible, falling to pieces or lost and this book will preserve these records with the family and local history to posterity for all time.

KEY TO THIS HISTORY

The plan followed in this work is to give the history of the descendants of John Hottel in chronological order by branches.

The exponential sign is used throughout to indicate the generation from the Immigrant, and is found at the right of each individual.

All children of the same family are given the same number. Each number is followed by a letter joined to it by a hyphen. The letter indicates the place of the child in the family. The letters x and y are used to distinguish family lines thus: 2-a Charles Hottel; 2x-d George Hotel; 2y-e Barbara Anna Hottel. Where the children of a family are listed, the first child (unless he died young or there is no available record of his life) is carried forward with his number, and his history given. His descendants are then carried through the successive generations. Each child of the list with his descendants is brought forward in like manner. Where families are large and descendants numerous, especially among earlier generations, the parent may be separated from the younger children by a number of pages. To trace the ancestry of any individual back to John Hottel, the Immigrant, use the method illustrated as follows:

The number, chosen at random, is 46-c (Charles line). The letter indicates the third child in the family. Since the account of a first child (if recorded) follows immediately after the list of children—or the parent if no list is given—from 46-c trace back to 46-b, then to 46-a, the first child, and as no list is given, the parent, 28-e, will be the preceding number. From 28-e trace back to 28-d, (28-c is missing, owing to early death) to 28-b, to 28-a the first child. Above the list here given will be found 6-b, the parent. From 6-b turn back to 6-a and above the list find 5-a, the parent. From 5-a find 4-a; from 4-a find 3-b and trace back to 3-a where above the list find 2-a and from 2-a to 1-a, John Hottel, the Immigrant.

Where the reader is referred to a certain name and number for further record of a person or family, if reference is not easily located by number see index for page numbers of the name.

The usual abbreviations of b. for born, d. for died, m. for married, unm. for unmarried, etc., will be found throughout this work.

SPELLING OF THE FAMILY NAME

Hottel, Hottle, Hottell, Hottal, Hoddle, Huddle, Huddell, Huttel. Few names offer opportunity for such varied spellings as does ours. How the fathers spelled the family name is a question of vital interest. The Immigrants' Registry at the Port Philadelphia, according to I. D. Rupp, has it Hottel, which is undoubtedly the original name. The spelling would indicate German nationality. Our early forebears spoke the German language and understood nothing but German, while clerks and school teachers who knew nothing but English spelled the name according to their understanding, or, perhaps, to suit themselves. We can readily conclude that the German awkwardness in pronouncing, and the English lack of comprehension, is accountable for the differences. The name has undergone changes in spelling and pronunciation, especially in the many languages and dialects through which it has perhaps passed. The mark (X) after the Immigrant's name under his will and testament indicates that he was not able to write in English and the clerk wrote it John Hoddle. The land grant to him (1750) in Shenandoah Co., Virginia by Lord Thomas Fairfax, spelled the name John Huddle. The Census of the same state (1790) spells the name Huddle. The softened pronunciation of the Hottel name resulted in spelling it Huddle. This is the Anglicized form of it. Some families at different times adopted the name Huddle, while the major part of the relationship by heredity and preference still bear the original name Hottel or Hottle.

IMMIGRANTS—WHY THEY FLED FROM EUROPE

URING the wars of religious persecution the best and thriftiest citizens of Europe left and settled in America. They fled from the Pharaohs of that country, crossed the ocean and sojourned in the wilderness that you and I might enjoy the blessings of this age.

The celebrated Edict of Nantes which, given by Henry IV of France, April 13, 1598, had guaranteed religious freedom to the Protestants of France, was revoked Oct.

22, 1685 by Louis XIV, King of France, for the purpose of destroying French Protestantism at a single stroke. By this unwise act all Protestants were ordered to give up their faith and return to the communion of Rome under penalty of having their property confiscated and themselves put beyond the protection of the law. Protestants were denied freedom of worship, equality of rights and religious peace. Their churches were closed and their ministers were persecuted. The regions where Protestant population predominated were reduced to desolation, and it is estimated by students of history that France by her frightful ravages and barbarity lost a half million of her best industrious citizens. The persecution that drove the Protestants out of France, extended to Switzerland and the northern provinces of the Netherlands and other countries. History relates that the French and Bavarians invaded the Rhenish provinces and rioted fearfully until the country seemed like a desert. Inspired by the brave venture of the Pilgrims, their fellow-exiles, the Swiss and German refugees of that section made their way to Holland and eventually to the haven offered them in the New World.

The early immigrants in America wrote to their relatives and friends in Europe, advising them that if they intended to emigrate to America, they should by all means avoid New York where the authorities had treated them to hatefully. These representations made a strong impression and induced immigrants to avoid that state and locate in Pennsylvania.

Immigration into Pennsylvania was started in the proper sense of the word by the philanthropic and pious Friend, William Penn, a Quaker, who had already traveled and labored in that country before he entered upon the actual possession of the immense tract of land which has immortalized his name. His broad sympathies and guarantee of religious and political freedom attracted the oppressed and persecuted. They came by thousands from Europe and settled in the then three counties of Pennsylvania: Philadelphia, Bucks and Lancaster. The German, Swiss, French, and Dutch formed the greatest portions of the first settlements and were the ancestors of the toiling millions of today. The Pennsylvania historian, I. D. Rupp, counts in his book over 30,000 names of immigrants, from 1727 to 1776, heads of families and other males over sixteen years of age, that took the oath of allegiance to the Crown of Great Britain, who emigrated to Pennsylvania, and also to Virginia and North Carolina, and yet his lists are far from being complete.

The influx of immigrants to Pennsylvania from Germany, France, Switzerland and Holland was so great it called forth public attention. Genuine alarm was felt for the future of the province, but finding that these harmless people were a great source of benefit to the country the objections were withdrawn. The Governor said, in 1738, "This province has been for some years the asylum of the distressed Protestants of Europe, and I believe it may be truthfully said that the present flourishing condition of our country is due to the economy and industry of these harmless law-abiding people."

To think of married couples coming alone and settling among strangers, is a wrong view, for multitudes came from the same community at the same time. Frequently a ship was chartered by a church and the whole congregation came together and settled at the same place. It was an age of religious colonies. It has been found that a number of families who were associated in Europe, moved side by side from place to place, for nearly 200 years. Language, religion, early associations and family affinities held them together. They were religious dissenters, a class to themselves, and they largely helped to make the civil and religious conditions peculiar to this country.

ORIGIN OF THE HOTTELS AND FAMILY CONNECTIONS

It is firmly believed that the Hottels are of Swiss lineage. They are noted for fidelity and quiet demeanor. When the Reformation under Dr. Luther and his contemporaries swept over Europe they embraced the Protestant faith. John Hottel, the Progenitor of this vast lineage, came to America in the ship that carried between two and three hundred Palatinate immigrants. The term "Palatinate" refers to the beautiful Rhenish provinces of the German Empire. Since our American ancestor and his family were associated with this class of immigrants the conclusion is irresistible that they were residents of that country at least for a period of time. It is easy to account for their presence in the German Empire, Switzerland and other countries, when the seventeenth and the early part of the eighteenth centuries were marked by religious intolerance and the people fled from one country to another for refuge.

The author is under the painful necessity of acknowledging to our numerous relatives that the story of the original Hottel family seems to have vanished into the shades of the forest, drawing around it a veil of mystery and romance beyond which speculations are unable to penetrate. John Hottel's parentage, the exact time and place of his birth, residence in Europe and in the colonies before coming to the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia is a sealed book, it may be, to all mortal eyes forever.

Nevertheless, this work would be regarded incomplete if it did not contain some traditions, unsatisfactory as they may be, about our first American ancestor and his family.

BENJAMIN HOTTEL, Council Grove, Kans., a Civil War veteran, and a great-grandson of Charles, is credited with the information that the Hottel family are descendants of the Royal Family of Holland. It is related that a copy of the record signed by the Crown of Holland was obtained for him by his captain in the Civil War who made a business trip to Holland after the close of the rebellion. Papers containing this information was ruined by a flood about a quarter-century ago. An effort to verify the record has been unsuccessful. A similar tradition was disclosed by a descendant of another branch of the family, but it could not be proved.

HON. J. KLAHR HUDDLE, Department of State, Washington, D. C., who made this subject a special study, is credited with a bit of interesting information definitely to the effect that John Hottel was a Huguenot, and that the family hailed originally from Southern France. A verification of this theory was obtained from Prof. D. F. Huddle, Alexandria, La.

COL. SETH WELDY, Logan, Ohio, an attorney, a man of recognized ability who frequently practiced in the Supreme Court of the United States, referring to his mother (Susannah Huddle) in his autobiography, said, "She was of Swiss descent." This latter tradition is strengthened by the fact that our ancestor and his descendants were closely associated by intermarriages in this country with the Kellers, Rinkers, Fravels, Sagers, Funkhousers, and possibly others whose ancestors hailed from Switzerland, the land of the famous Alps. These Swiss ancestors had much in common in Switzerland and in Germany, were related to each other by marriage and religious ties in Europe, and came to America together because of these relationships, seeking a peaceful home in the "New World."

"Thus, then, like the noted Rhine having its source far back in the snow-capped Alps, we as a family have our source far back in the country of Tell and Zwingli. The blood in our veins, and the thoughts of our minds may still have after so long a time, some affinity with the past, how much we cannot know, much less describe."

OUR MILITARY ANCESTORS

SOLDIERS OF THE REVOLUTIONARY WAR

JOHN HOTTEL, the Immigrant, departed this life (1760) before the war for American Independence. His two sons, Charles and George, were too far advanced in life to be eligible to the military service of the Continental Army. However, some of their sons helped the Patriot Army to fight for American Freedom. Believing that many of their descendants will appreciate it, we herewith record the names of our Revolutionary soldiers. The page number refers you to where the war record may be found in this work unless otherwise recorded, as follows:

JOSEPH HOTTEL, son of Charles, see page 13 and 168.

DANIEL HOTTEL, son of Charles, see page 14 and 236.

JOHN JACOB HOTTEL, son of George, see page 399 and 505.

JACOB HAMMAN, son-in-law of George Hottel, see page 748.

JOHN HUDDLE, is listed in Company 6, Philadelphia Militia on return of Aug. 18, 1779. Penna. Archives, 6th Series, Vol. 1, page 423.

CORPORAL WILLIAM HUDDLE, enlisted Aug. 10, 1780. Penna. Archives, 6th Series, Vol. 1, pages 91, 241, 251.

MICHEAL HUDDLE, is shown on general muster roll of Northampton Co., Militia, 1782-3. Penna. Archives, Series 5, Vol. VIII, page 87.

Note—The last three mentioned belong to the Pennsylvania Branch of the Hottel family.

VETERANS OF SUBSEQUENT WARS

Many of our kindred took prominent part in later wars, the Civil War, the Spanish-American War, and the World War. Quite a number have sealed their devotion to the country with their lives. Patriotic blood usually flows at high tide when our country's flag is in danger.

The slavery question, especially in Virginia, became a troublesome one, and many of our kindred emigrated to other states, where slavery, by the act of Congress, could never exist. Many of our relatives, during the Civil War, rendered military services both in the Federal Army and that of the Southern Confederacy. In the body of the genealogy honorable mention has been made of all military services in the various wars.

JOHANNES (JOHN) HOTTEL'S WILL

A copy of John Hottel's last will and testament is herewith produced in full, bearing date August 11, 1760, admitted to probate in the Court of Frederick Co., Virginia, at Winchester, November 5, 1760, as follows:

In the name of God, Amen:

I, John Hoddle, of the county of Frederick and Colony of Virginia, being in health of body and of perfect mind and memory, thanks be given to God, calling to mind the mortality of my body and knowing it is appointed for all men to die once, do make and ordain this my last will and testament, that is to say, principally and first of all, I give and recommend my soul into the hand of God that gave it, and my body I recommend to the earth to be buried in a decent Christian burial at the discretion of my executors, nothing doubting but at the general resurrection I shall receive the same again by the mighty power of God, and as touching such worldly estate wherewith it has pleased God to bless me in this life, I give, devise and dispose of in the following manner and form.

First, that all my just debts and funeral charges be paid. I also give and bequeath to Margaret, my dear wife, one full third part of my whole estate by her to be enjoyed during her natural life, and then at her decease to fall to my executors. Also, I give to my eldest son, Charles Hoddle, ten pounds of current money of Virginia, to be raised and levied out of my estate.

Also, I give to my youngest son, George Hoddle, and my son-in-law, George Keller the—which two I likewise constitute, make and ordain my executors of this, my last will and testament—all and singular, my lands together with all my movable estate, to be equally divided between them after my decease and the decease of my wife, then by them freely to be possessed and enjoyed, and I hereby utterly disavow, revoke and disannul all and every other former testaments, wills, legacies, and bequests and executors by me in any wise before named, willed and bequeathed, ratifying and confirming this and no other to be my last will and testament.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and seal this eleventh day of August in the year of our Lord, one thousand seven hundred and sixty.

JOHN X HODDLE. [Seal]

This will was exhibited into Court by George Huddle and George Keller, the executors therein named who made oath thereto, according to law and the same being proved by the oaths of the witnesses thereto, is ordered to be recorded.

Will book No. 2, page 444. Teste: Arch Wager, C. C.

The above will is very interesting showing the religious frame of mind and the approximate date of the death of the testator. The reader will notice the omission of the names of John and Henry who remained in Pennsylvania. We have assumed in the foregoing that they were his sons. Either they have received their portion while their father was still living, or they were not his sons. We have delayed too long before attempting a history of this important family so that the connecting links probably have been lost forever.

JOHN HOTTEL

1-a JOHANNES (JOHN) HOTTEL, with whom this history begins, was born in Europe, about 1700, where he grew to manhood, took ship Pennsylvania, John Stedman, Master, probably in June, with his wife, MARGARET, and five children under sixteen years of age, at Rotterdam, Holland, landed in Colonial America at Port Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, September 11, 1732, the year George Washington, the father of our country, was born. John Hottel must have been still a young man at that time. Of his parents we have not been able to find any trace. Probably they were lost in the terrible commotions of Europe, and their records destroyed.

John Hottel and Margaret were married about 1720, and their five children were all born in Europe. The family name of Margaret, her parentage, time and place of birth in the old country are unknown.

This family located in the northern part of Bucks County, Pennsylvania, where they lived eighteen years and by thrift and industry acquired lands and homes, so that the name Hottel appears on the tax records a few years after their advent. These immigrants took the oath of allegiance to the Crown of Great Britain. In religion they were either Lutherans, Reformed, or possibly Mennonites. They spoke the German language and were faithful, patriotic citizens.

According to Prof. I. D. Rupp, (Sept. 21, 1732) Ulrich Hottel who was sick, arrived with 188 passengers. No further record is given. Probably he was a brother of John.

2-c Heinrich (Henry) Hottel², b. 1726

2y-e Anna (Barbara Anna) Hottel², b. 1730

Dates are approximate. These children constitute the ancestors of the whole Hottel family in America.

PARENTS AND THREE CHILDREN MOVE TO THE
SHENANDOAH VALLEY, VIRGINIA

Public records show that our Progenitor, John Hottel, Margaret, his wife, and three children, Charles, George and Barbara Anna, emigrated in 1750 to the Shenandoah Valley, Virginia, where their descendants are legion today. John and Henry remained in Pennsylvania. Why they became separated is unknown. The descendants of John Hottel rank among the prominent citizens of the Keystone State. They held their Third Family Reunion at Waldheim Park near Allentown, July 26, 1917, at which Rev. John T. Huddle, D. D., of Washington, D. C. and the writer as their honored guests delivered addresses. Those represented on the program were, Joseph M. Hottel, Benneville Hottle, Rev. Benjamin Hottel, Edwin B. Hottle, Lewis L. Schuler, Sylvester Egner, George W. Hottel, Eastburn R. Hottle, J. Abraham Huttel, Joseph S. Hottle, Rev. Henry H. Moyer, Helen Kilmer and Mrs. Frank A. Kaufman. This branch of the Hottel family is not included in the body of the genealogy. What became of Henry, brother of John Hottel, is unknown. Probably he died unmarried.

DESCRIPTION OF THE SHENANDOAH VALLEY

Less than 200 years ago not a white man dwelt in the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia. Scientists claim it was at one time a lake, evidenced by the discovery of fossils and sea-shells high up on the mountains. When discovered by the white man it was a blooming prairie, the only timber being along the rivers and creeks. It was then a dark and terrible wilderness, the home of the Red Man, where the reckless hunter and daring adventurer feared to pass. Wild game, fur-bearing animals of all descriptions, wild fowl and fish abounded there.

In 1716, Gov. Spottswood with a party of 50 gallant "Knights of the Golden Horseshoe," breasted the steep slopes and tangled underbrush of the Blue Ridge Mountains coming at last to the summit at "Swift Run Gap." He was the first white man to behold the Valley in its primitive beauty. Hence this entire section drained by the Shenandoah River was named in honor of Governor Spottswood. It was once the immense county of Spottsylvania.

In 1734 there was a division of Spottsylvania and the Valley became a part of Orange. In 1738 it was again divided and became the two Counties—Frederick and Augusta. Dunmore County was taken from Frederick in 1772 and in 1777 the Legislature altered the name of Dunmore to Shenandoah. Rockingham County was organized in 1778. Other divisions were soon made. This country was long overrun by Indians of different tribes from whom it could not be bought, because there was a dispute as to the claimants.

The influx of immigration to the Valley began about 1732. Joist Hite, with his family, was one of the first settlers but he was soon followed by the Germans of Pennsylvania and other states. Some came direct to the Valley on landing. Indians vanished into the shades of the forest as the whites enlarged the boundaries of civilization. Finally they all left the low country in the year 1754. Tradition places the nucleus of a town where Winchester now stands as early as 1732. Authentic records show that the first court was held in Frederick County in 1743.

The great Valley of Virginia, drained by the waters of the Shenandoah River, is bounded on the east by the Blue Ridge Mountains and on the west by the Alleghenies, and stretches from the Potomac on the north to the Tennessee border on the south. This includes the smaller Valley of Shenandoah, which is from thirty to fifty miles in width and over a hundred miles in length. It has scenic and historical attractions and natural wonders—the most beautiful valley in the world.

EXACT LOCATION OF THE JOHN HOTTEL HOMESTEAD

Over near North Mountain on the head waters of Toms Brook, out a short distance from the village of Toms Brook, lies the original Hottel homestead, containing 341 acres, which was purchased from Lord Thomas Fairfax, Aug. 30, 1750. This body of land lies six miles north of Woodstock, (Muellerstadt), the seat of Shenandoah County founded in 1760. It is believed the Hottel domicile stood near the Hottel spring on the back road leading to Mt. Olive, near the present residence of David H. Keller. We sometimes wish these worthy ancestors who invaded and occupied these premises in the long ago, could return and reveal themselves to our curious eyes. Nearly two centuries ago they joined the spectral hosts that dwell among the stars, while in yonder Keller graveyard their ashes sleep. Lovingly Virginia's skies are arched above their tombs.

CHILDREN AND THEIR DESCENDANTS

Charles, George and the only daughter, Barbara Anna Hottel, married and lived their entire lives near the vicinity of their parents. They reared prosperous and progressive families. Charles was the father of 11 children; George was the father of 9 children; Barbara Anna, who married George Keller, was the mother of 9 children. Their descendants in the Shenandoah Valley are legion. Apparently the Valley could not accommodate them all, hence in the early years of the nineteenth century the Hottel bee hive swarmed, and today thousands are scattered from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from Alaska and Canada to Florida and Texas. A great majority of them have adhered to the faith of their fathers and are a fine people; some have attained to great age, few to great wealth. The majority are well-to-do. Some, if poor, are very respectable. None, as far as known, have been pensioners of public charity. While some have attained to eminence in the literary world and have acquired fame, others have blazoned their names in their country's annals and their deeds have engaged the historian's pen.

They are included among the various vocations of the business and professional world. We find ministers of the various denominations, as well as doctors, lawyers, judges, teachers, farmers; intelligent and educated men and women, high school and college graduates in vast numbers.

THE OLD FRIEDEN'S CHURCH AND HOTTEL-KELLER SCHOOLHOUSE

On the original Hottel homestead near where the first Hottel domicile stood, the old Frieden's church was built in 1821. It was owned jointly by the Reformed and Lutheran congregations. Many of our kin of that day worshipped in this church, being identified with one or the other of these bodies. The congregations were separated and the building abandoned and torn down in 1880 and separate churches were erected. The Lutherans since then worship at St. Matthew's not far distant, and the Reformed people at Harrisville.

A community schoolhouse was built at the rear of the Frieden's church, familiarly known as the Hottel-Keller schoolhouse. This was erected by free-will offerings of money, labor and material. George Hottel, John Snarr, the Kellers and many others figured prominently in this educational enterprise. They believed that education was essential to good citizenship and the welfare of our country.

PART I
Charles Hottel

CHARLES HOTTEL

2-a CHARLES HOTTEL², oldest son of the Immigrant, John Hottel, was born in Europe about 1722, came to America with his parents when a mere boy and grew to manhood in Bucks Co., Pa. The public records show that he came to Augusta Co., Virginia (1748-49)—where he owned real estate several years in advance of his parents. He settled on a farm of 250 acres one mile west of the village of Toms Brook. Here near the buildings he and his wife were buried without proper markers and inscriptions. The major part of his life was spent in Shenandoah County. He was among the outstanding pioneers of that community and was a prosperous farmer, owning 1318 acres of land in the above county at the time of his death. The surname of his wife, BARBARA, is unknown. She preceded him to the grave.

Prompted by premonitions of death as a result of being kicked by a horse, Charles made his will. The precision and painstaking care in disposing of his properties is particularly noticeable. He parcelled out land values to his sons and money values to his daughters except Magdalene. The document was written in German, and it stipulated that his son Jacob should maintain him in old age until death; therefore, he departed this life on the farm east of Maurertown, Va. The will is dated June 10, 1778, ordered to be translated in the English language and probated, Sept. 12, 1814.

An abstract of the will of Charles Hottel taken from Probate records at Woodstock is as follows:

1. He speaks of having been hurt by a horse, provides for decent Christian burial, and makes bequests.

2. To John, 285 acres of land valued at 400£, deducted 10£ in addition to the allotted sum for each and owed his brothers and sisters, 217£, 5s. and 6 p.

3. To Jacob, 215 acres of land valued at 400£, deducted his allotment, owed 227£, 5s. and 6p.

4. To Joseph, 250 acres of land valued at 260£, deducted his heritage, owed 87£, 5s. and 6p.

5. To Solomon, 204 acres of land valued at 400£, and 6p., deducted his allowance, owed 227£, 5s. and 12p.

6. To Daniel, 201 acres of land valued at 300£, deducted his allowance, owed 127£, 5s. and 6p.

7. To Magdalene, 163 acres of land and 22£, 14s. and 10p. equals the correct amount due her.

The value of the original estate totals 1910£ for the sum of 1318 acres. Deducting the 10£ which John, the eldest, received, 1900£ was the total remaining for equal distribution. The total of the sums owed by the five brothers, as noted in the foregoing analysis, is 886£, 9s. and 4p. Deducting from this amount due to Magdalene, leaves a remainder of 863£, 14s. and 10p. This sum of money to be divided among the sisters, Barbara, Mary, Elizabeth, Anna and Susannah, who received no bequests of land, divided by five, their number, the result is the sum of 172£, 14s. and 10p. for each.

3-a JOHN HOTTEL³, first child of Charles and Barbara Hottel, was born near Toms Brook, Shenandoah Co., Va., about 1747; he died prior to Mar. 3, 1813, intestate, having never married. His father devised to him 285 acres of land on the southeast side of the North Shenandoah River near Edinburg to which subsequent purchases were added, making his holdings very valuable at the time of his demise. His possessions were divided among his brothers and sisters. He and Solomon jointly owned their father's family Bible, which likely contained the record of the family. Solomon at the sale of John's household effects purchased John's half and thus owned the entire volume.

3-b JACOB HOTTEL³, second child of Charles and Barbara Hottel, was born near Toms Brook, Shenandoah Co., Va., about 1749. Records show that he survived his brother John by only a few months or part of a year. He made his will June 25, 1813, but was too weak to sign his name to it and likely died shortly after. The tract of land containing 215 acres two and a half miles east of the village of Maurertown upon which he spent his entire life, was given to him by his father, Charles Hottel. The residence, a large log house—remodeled in later years by siding and paint—is still standing and in good preservation. This domicile is known by the residents of the community as the old Hottel home. Jacob was very fond of his father and maintained him in his old age until his death.

According to Miley, genealogist, Jacob Hottel married the widow of Joseph Rhodes, Sr., who died in 1766. His will was probated at Winchester, in Aug. 1766. Before her marriage, Mrs. Rhodes was MARY ELIZABETH STRICKLER. Jacob, Sr. provided for his surviving widow and two children, Jacob, Jr., and Mary, each one-third of the estate, also each one-third of that he was entitled to out of the estate of his brother John which he did not live to receive.

4-b Mary Hottel⁴, b. Mar. 3, 1768

4-a JACOB ("SNITZ") HOTTEL-HUDDLE, JR.⁴, son of Jacob, Sr., was born two and a half miles south east of Maurertown, Va., 1766; d. prior to Mar. 12, 1845, date of estate of settlement; m. Dec. 6, 1795, BARBARA ANN STOVER, dau. of Samuel and Barbara (Lionberger) Stover, a granddaughter of Daniel and Eve (Albright) Stover, of Page County.

P. S. Rhodes, associate historian, is credited with the write-up of Mr. Huddle's life, as follows: "On his father's farm he grew to manhood, receiving little opportunity for education. However, he was endowed by nature with an unusually well balanced mind, which was improved and developed by association with men of affairs, so that in his mature years he was regarded as being far above the average in intelligence and sound judgment, and was well read for the time in which he lived.

In early life he was a member of the Mennonite Church and was exceedingly plain and unassuming in his manners and dress, wearing homespun and homewoven woolen and linen, being seldom seen in any other apparel.

During the Revolutionary War he was subject to draft into the service of the colonies, but being a Mennonite with conscientious objections to military service, he endeavored to escape or elude conscription by hiding away in the mountains east of his home. By this means he escaped military service during the Revolution. Warfare was strictly forbidden in the doctrines and customs of his church.

He was a very industrious and energetic and, possibly, the most successful farmer in the central part of Shenandoah County in his day. He loved his land and live stock and general farming which netted him handsome profits each year; and this income carefully augmented from the accruing revenues from other investments was invested in farming land. He pursued this method throughout his active life until he owned in Shenandoah County over 900 acres of land, most of it very desirable. He owned farms in the Counties, Page, Frederick and Rockingham, also in Licking Co., Ohio. Besides he possessed a large personal estate, and at least two negro slaves whose name were Jack and Tom; but he evidently did not take kindly to the slave trade or ownership of them which was so common in that day as he gave the two he had their liberty.

The writer has heard men who knew him well personally make the assertion that at the time of Mr. Huddle's death his estate was estimated at $200,000. When we consider the difficulties under which this large estate was accumulated, it seems almost impossible to have amassed such a sum in the span of his life time. Crops had to be raised with few implements now seen on farms; wheat was harvested with the reap hook and grain cradle, threshed by tramping with horses, and ground in mills on adjacent streams. The flour was hauled on wagons to Alexandria, Baltimore or Fredericksburg, where it was sold for specie or exchanged for salt, coffee and manufactured articles not yet produced in this country, but imported from Europe.

Many interesting stories are told illustrating the personal characteristics of the man. Upon one occasion he was in Woodstock dressed in his usual plain garb when there appeared on the street several men from southwest Virginia or Tennessee taking a number of fine young horses to the eastern markets and while stopping Mr. Huddle examined the animals very carefully. Selecting one of the finest specimens he asked the price of that particular one. The owner sized up Mr. Huddle by his plain clothes and thinking him unable to buy anything, remarked in a commanding tone, "As it is you I will take ——— dollars for him." But to his surprise Mr. Huddle put his arm through the bridle rein, and taking a roll of bills from his pocket proceeded to count out the money to the stranger who, realizing his predicament, began begging off, trying to annul the bargain. Mr. Huddle, however, insisting that a bargain is a bargain, paid for the horse and took him away.

The subject of our sketch was generally known by the nickname "Snitz" Huddle. This name was given him, according to one of his great-grandsons, in the following way: When hiding in the mountains during the Revolution, on one occasion his stay was so prolonged that he was almost starved when he reached his home. Getting hold of some dried apples he ate so many that when they swelled up in him it became necessary to bandage him.

Another tradition is to the effect that he paid the minister who solemnized his marriage with dried apples, commonly called snits. Still another tradition has it that he was very fond of dried apples and carried a supply in his pockets for occasional eating.

The Crabill farm lying due south of Maurertown was received by inheritance from his father in 1813. This farm was always regarded as a very valuable property. It was valued by his father at 600 pounds, English money.

The Marsh farm adjoining the home place he bought from the Mark Miller heirs for 1810 pounds, seemingly a large price, but he made it a valuable farm. About 1805, Mr. Huddle purchased from the heirs of David Stover the farm containing 450 acres of splendid land lying on the North Fork of the Shenandoah River. On this farm, regarded as one of the best in his section, he spent the latter years of his life.

There being no Church of his choice (Mennonite), in his vicinity and County, Mr. Huddle in the later years of his life identified himself with the Disciple Church at Zion near his home. He and his wife were buried in a private cemetery on the farm where they spent the most of their days. Six children were born near Maurertown, Va.

3-d SOLOMON HOTTEL³, fourth child of Charles and Barbara Hottel, b. near Toms Brook, Shenandoah Co., Va., about 1753; d. prior to Aug. 1833, date of the appraisement of his estate; m. FRANCES BLOSSER, b. about 1744, dau. of Peter Blosser, who came from Switzerland to York Co., Pa., on the ship "Snow Betsy," landing at Philadelphia, Aug. 27, 1739. To Solomon was devised by his father 204 acres of land on the north branch of the Shenandoah River near Edinburg where he lived and died. Some unique characteristics were found in this family. When Solomon reached his dotage, a commission, composed of Jacob Coffman, Jacob Hottel, Jr., and Jacob Gochenour, was appointed to finance his possession. There were seven children in the family. Some of whom d. young. Public records show that on July 21, 1817, $3.00 was paid for a coffin; again, Sept., 1817, $5.00 was paid for a coffin to bury the body of Christian Hottel, indicating the death of children in his family. Since the entire family is extinct, scarcely any dates could be obtained. Births may not be in rotation.

639-a Rudolph Hottel⁴

639-b Christian Hottel⁴

639-c Martin Hottel⁴

639-d Elizabeth Hottel⁴

639-e Magdalene Hottel⁴

639-f Barbara Hottel⁴

639-g Mary Hottel⁴

639-a Rudolph Hottel⁴, d. in young manhood, unm. He owned 50 acres of mountain land, which reverted to his father, Nov. 18, 1829

639-c Martin Hottel⁴, unm. Was under a guardianship; d. during Civil War period.

639-d Elizabeth Hottel⁴, unm. Was under a guardianship

639-e MAGDALENE HOTTEL⁴, unm., remained in her father's home having use of room upstairs, of the garden and sufficient quantity of fruit for her own use during the tenency of John Rutz, who took care of Martin and Elizabeth. Magdalene d. in 1875, having attained the remarkable age of 105 years. Her longevity is unequalled in our lineage. She is one of two centenarians in the Hottel family.

639-f BARBARA HOTTEL⁴, m. Feb. 12, 1827, JACOB B. MYERS, wagonmaker, who died as a result of foul play. He was found dead in his shop with his head crushed. Barbara d. of cancer in 1860. They also lived in her father's homestead with the rest of the family. Their two children had very long hair reaching down almost to their feet. Both died at the ages of 10 and 12 years. The old Hottel homestead was destroyed by fire in 1840, and these children were taken to the home of a neighbor, Samuel Painter. They d. shortly after the fire. It is believed that the old family Bible containing record of Charles Hottel family, possessed by Solomon, was turned to ashes when the house was burned.

639-g Mary Hottel⁴, there is no record. It is possible that Magdalene bore the name Mary Magdalene. Not one of Solomon Hottel's descendants is living. The curtain drops and the story ends.

3-e MARY HOTTEL³, fifth child of Charles and Barbara Hottel, b. near Toms Brook, Shenandoah Co., Va. about 1755; d.; m. CHRISTIAN MAGGART, JR., son of Christian Maggart, immigrant. They lived and d. on their farm containing 400 acres on Mill Creek, three and one-half miles west of Luray, Page Co., Va. Their bodies lie entombed in a private burial place on their farm. A marker carved from native gray rock by the talented artist in stone cutting, P. M. Kauffman, was erected June

6, 1925 by a great-grandson, Martin V. B. Gander, in memory of the Maggart ancestor. It bore the following inscription: "Christian Maggart, pioneer, d. 1762; Christian Maggart, Jr., died 1826; wife, Mary Huddle. Their son Isaac died June 6, 1872; aged 91 years." Their family consisted of three children. Only Barbara, the youngest left descendants.

3-f ELIZABETH HOTTEL³, sixth child of Charles and Barbara Hottel, b. near Toms Brook, Va., about 1758; m. first, CHRISTIAN RIFE (REIFF). To them six daughters were born. Their daughter, Elizabeth, qualified as administratrix of her father's estate, July 9, 1793, which fact indicates he had died prior to that date. Elizabeth (Hottel) Rife later married ANDREW ZIRKLE, without issue. According to records, her will was probated Mar. 9, 1819, which proves she had died some time before this event. As far as could be ascertained, the Rife heirs sold out and left Shenandoah Co., prior to the Civil War, excepting Mary, who remained near Woodstock. Her descendants are numerous in Shenandoah, Rockingham, Bath and Augusta Counties, Va.

717-c MARY RIFE⁴, b. near Woodstock, Va., m. 1790, HENRY HAUN, b. of German parentage, pioneer stock. This is the first entrance of the Hauns into the Hottel family. Since their immigration many years ago they have become prolific and are desirable home makers and good citizens. They are quiet, energetic and industrious. Henry Haun, and Mary, his wife, lived, prospered, died and were buried on their farm of 200 acres two miles north of Woodstock. Most of their descendants reside in and about Woodstock. He makes mention in his will of Daniel Grable, his son-in-law, but daughter's name is not given. Many dates of births and deaths are not available for the genealogy.

718-d SUSAN HAUN⁵, dau. of Henry, b. near Woodstock, Shenandoah Co., Va., about 1799; m. Nov. 14, 1817, DANIEL SHEETZ, b. at Mt. Calvary, near Woodstock, Va. He grew to young manhood, took up land from the Indians and built a log house for a home on Narrow Passage Creek, at Mt. Calvary. One can imagine their log cabin, with its clapboard roof held in place by weight poles, with its large fireplace and clay hearth, its rough plank door, wooden latch, and one small window. Their furniture was home-made. The loom, a hackle, a reel, and spinning wheels, one for flax and one for wool, became household articles and in the evenings the hum of the wheel lulled the children to sleep. Their dishes were of pewter, their knives of iron and steel and most of their spoons and forks were made of hard wood. The girls had rosy cheeks without paint, and the boys were healthy and cheerful in their homespun clothing. Their stock consisted of a few cows, hogs, and sheep, and all except the horses, lived most of the time in the woods. Daniel and Susan Sheetz, lived in the days when the Valley was sparsely inhabited. There were no hard surfaced roads and travel was by wagon and horseback. Then things now considered necessities were not even thought of by them. Their old log cabin, in which eleven children were b., stood until 1879, when it was torn away and a large frame house built on the same site. It is now occupied by two grandsons, Julius A. and Asa A. Sheetz and family. All their children were b. at Mt. Calvary, near Woodstock.

Jan. 27, 1783, JOSEPH ROADS, son of Joseph and *Mary (Strickler) Roads, and grandson of Mennonite Elder, John and Eve (Albright) Roads. Joseph Roads and wife, lived and died, on a farm on Hawksbill Creek, seven miles south of Luray, Page Co., Va., and to this was added by subsequent purchases, including a farm at the foot of the Blue Ridge mountains and lands on the east side of the North Shenandoah River near Edinburg. His wife, Magdalene, inherited from her father 163 acres. He died intestate, in 1813, or early part of 1814, dates of birth and death are unavailable, but it is known that he was about 52 years old at the time of his death. His estate was administered by his son Joseph and son-in-law, William R. Almond. The appraisement of livestock, farm implements, and household furnishings, etc. amounted to 784 pounds, Virginia money; while his notes, bonds and other miscellaneous accounts amounted to 2429 pounds, making a total of 3213 pounds, or its equivalent of $10,710. This does not include real estate of any kind. His lands were afterwards divided and settled by his heirs and were valued at more than $10,000. His whole estate amounted to more than $20,000. He owned land and a mill near the White House, in addition to the above properties. It is related by some of his descendants that he had a number of tame deer on his farm, which is clearly shown to be true by the appraisement, and that these tame deer were kept in the fields adjoining the Blue Ridge mountains. At the upper side of those fields he maintained a high fence to keep them in, and when the wild deer found the tame ones feeding in the enclosure, they jumped over the high fence and could not readily jump out; thus many of them were killed for venison and hides. He also trapped many wolves along the streams that passed through his farm by baiting steel traps with carcasses of domestic animals that chanced to die. Deer and wolves were plentiful at that time, and the latter were destructive to small domestic animals and poultry. To this couple five children were born.

*Mary Strickler Roads, dau. of Abraham the pioneer, following the death of her husband, married Jacob Hottel, son of Charles, and moved to the Crabill farm near Maurertown, Va.

To the memory of Rev. John Roads, his wife and six children, who were killed by the Indians six generations ago (1764), a monument was erected on the George R. Bauserman farm, three miles north of Luray, Page Co., Va., by his descendants. In 1926 it was unveiled with ceremonies in the presence of hundreds of people. The monument is the handiwork of Philip M. Kauffman, aged 80, of Luray, who took the stone from the foothills of the Massanutten Mountain, and did the lettering without assistance. He is the great-great-great-grandson of Roads. At the unveiling, Philip S. Rhodes, Woodstock, remotely related, spoke. To him belongs the credit for much material found in this chapter. The name Roads originally "Rood." "Hans" (John) Rood, immigrant from Switzerland, later the name was changed to Roads, Roades, some to Rhodes.

*Noah Keyser is the son of Major Andrew Keyser, a soldier of the Revolutionary War, and a grandson of Charles Keyser, who was born in Germany. He came to America as a hired soldier in the service of Great Britian to fight the French and Indians. Charles married Miss Shelly of Phila. and built a house near the mouth of the Hawksbill. We are indebted to the Strickler history for this bit of information.

July 3, 1880. She is a dau. of Thomas P. Evans who at the time of her marriage was supervising engineer of the National Military Home, Dayton, Ohio. She is the founder and owner of the Lakeview Country Day School, St. Petersburg, Fla. The following extract is taken from the "History of the City of Dayton, and Montgomery County, Ohio" which was published in 1909, "Dr. Franklin W. Roush who is filling the position of Chief Surgeon at the Central Branch National Military Home, Dayton, O., with the rank of Major, has practiced his profession since 1899, and since Dec. of that year, has been connected in a professional capacity with the Home. Dr. Franklin W. Roush remained a resident of his native town for fifteen years, and at the usual age entered the public schools where he passed through consecutive grades until he was qualified for entrance to Carrollton College at Syracuse, Meigs Co., Ohio. He continued his studies there for a time, and in Oct., 1895, entered the Miami Medical College, Cincinnati, Ohio, where he prepared for his profession, continuing his studies until he was graduated, with honors, with the class of May, 1899. He was succeeding in establishing himself in practice when in Dec. of the same year, he was appointed to a position on the Medical Staff of the Central Branch National Military Home, Dayton, Ohio. He was promoted from time to time to the several grades of assistant Surgeon, and on Nov. 5, 1905, was appointed to his present position, that of Chief Surgeon, and third ranking officer of the Home. His ability well qualified him for the responsibility which devolves upon him in this important office. He has by constant reading and observation along scientific lines kept abreast with the medical fraternity and its constant march of progress. He belongs to the American Medical Association, the Ohio Medical Society, the Montgomery County Medical Society, and the Dayton Academy of Medicine. He is likewise identified with the Masonic Order, being a life member of the Blue Lodge Masonry, a thirty-second degree Scottish Rite Mason, and a Shriner. He also belongs to the First Presbyterian Church and is interested in its work and the extension of its influence. A gentleman of culture, genial and courteous, Dr. Roush has made many friends during his residence here, and is greatly esteemed by the members of the Home."

Dr. Roush continued as Chief Surgeon of the Central Branch National Military Home until May, 1916, when he took charge of the Medical Department and Hospital at the Hampton Virginia Branch of the National Military Home. He remained there until May, 1917, when he resigned his position in this branch of the Government Service and went to New York City, where he spent the summer doing post-graduate work at the Vanderbilt Clinics. He returned to Dayton, Ohio in the early days of the World War and upon application was commissioned Captain in the U. S. A., Medical Corps, March, 1918 and ordered to report to Camp Greenleaf, Ga., for duty. He served in various camps and hospitals during the spring and summer of 1918, and in Oct., 1918, was assigned a hospital with a corps of officers, but before getting orders to go to France, the Armistice was signed. He was honorably discharged from the service May 25, 1919. Broken in health he returned to Ohio, but in Nov., 1920, went with his family to Florida where the climate proved so beneficial he regained his health. He is now permanently located in St. Petersburg and has acquired considerably property within the city limits. While not actively engaged in the practice of his profession, Dr. Roush has not gotten away from it entirely as he is Vice-President of the Board of Directors of the American Legion Hospital for Crippled Children, and President of the Visiting Nurses Association. He is a member of the Advisory Board of the Salvation Army, member of the Civic Glee Club, organized for the benefit of the under-privileged children of the City; a member of The American Legion; of the Board of Deacons of the Presbyterian Church, of which he and his family are members, member of the Citizen Club; the St. Petersburg Chamber of Commerce and other civic organizations.

3-h JOSEPH HOTTEL³, eighth child of Charles, was born near Toms Brook, Va., about 1761; evidently died in the latter part of 1814, and buried on the farm of 250 acres, given to him by his father, one mile southwest of Toms Brook; was married by Simon Harr, Aug. 27, 1782, to BARBARA DULL, of pioneer stock. No further record of her. Joseph Hottel served in the Revolutionary War, Va. Inf., rank and organization not further indicated. In the War Department, his name appears on a record under the heading: "A list of soldiers of the Virginia line on Continental Establishment who have received certificates for the balance of their full pay agreeable to an Act of Assembly passed November Session, 1781, which was paid June 18, 1784." To perpetuate his memory the name "Joseph" appears on these pages in four consecutive generations. Qualified administrators were sons Jacob and John Snarr, Nov., 1814.

1218-b JACOB HOTTEL⁴, b. near Toms Brook, Shenandoah Co., Va., in 1787; d. in 1862; m. Nov. 22, 1819, ELIZABETH WARNER, dau. of Philip. Mr. Hottel was familiarly known as "Jacob of Joseph," as there were other Hottels in Va., at the same time bearing the name Jacob. He was a veteran of the War of 1812-14, a member of the Frieden German Reformed church and a prosperous farmer, having spent his entire life on his father's homestead. He and wife lie entombed on the farm. Two children were born, one of whom, a daughter, died in infancy.

1237-a PETER HOTTEL⁵, b. near Toms Brook, Dec. 22, 1824; d. Oct. 4, 1864; m. Dec. 24, 1846, REBECCA ANN SPIGLE, dau. of William and Sarah (Hottel) Spigle, a great-granddaughter of George Hottel, youngest son of John Hottel, immigrant, b. in Toms Brook vicinity, Jan. 17, 1828; d. Jan. 26, 1870. Following the demise of Peter, his widow married George H. Snarr. See No. 1330-c. When the Civil War broke out, Peter Hottel was in sympathy with the Federal cause, opposed to slavery, but was conscripted for the Confederate Army. When the officers came after him, they gave him a chance to either hide or run away and they would report him as having absconded, but he was too conscientious to accept their proposal. He entered Stonewall Jackson's army, Co. A., 5th Regt., Marian Rifles, Stonewall Brigade, was captured at Spotsylvania. He came home and died before the war closed. Peter Hottel inherited his father's farm and engaged in agriculture. He adhered to his father's church, German Reformed, but his wife was a Lutheran. They are both buried on the farm.

1250-a ADAM HOTTEL⁵, b. 1814; d. 1855; m. Nov. 21, 1846, ELIZABETH BOWERS, d. 1855; Adam lived on his father's farm until 1849, when he and his brother Joseph as partners, conducted a mercantile business at Liberty Furnace. They kept account of all merchandise that was consumed in their own homes. Adam's page shows a charge for a pair of shoes at $1. The last date in the account book is Apr. 21, 1855. It is presumed that Adam died that year. His wife was buried on Easter Sunday. His death occurred during her burial, and their daughter Elizabeth died near the same time, and their son Allen lived a few years longer. A fever epidemic caused their deaths. Common stones without inscriptions mark their resting places in the Hottletown Graveyard.

PHILIP WARNER, Jr., son of Philip, Sr. Philip, Jr. was a brother to Elizabeth Warner who married Rachel Hottel's brother, Jacob. There is a tradition in the family to the effect that Samuel Warner, a grandfather to Philip, Jr., came from eastern Pennsylvania ten or fifteen years after the Revolutionary War to the Shenandoah Valley, and that either he, or one of his ancestors, married an Indian, possibly a Delaware Mohawk or one of the tribes that inhabited that region, but this is rather uncertain. Some say that the Warners were originally English, others German, probably the latter is correct. Philip and his wife were engaged in farming, and were members of the Frieden Lutheran Church. They resided at Mt. Olive, then Toms Brook and later at Lebanon Church. He died Jan. 1, 1865. To them five children were born and possibly six. The Frieden church record has a Mary Barbara Warner, b. April 22, 1825, perhaps died in infancy, may be their child.

Mr. and Mrs. Keller are substantial farmers and members of the Reformed Church. They own a part of the original Hottel homestead. The family residence stands near where once the old Frieden church stood, and presumably near the historic home that has wasted away. The cool water of the famous Hottel spring is made to flow into a large cement tank and is a valuable asset to the premises. The pioneer ancestor passed from the shadowy realms of this ancient home 166 years ago. Ever since then the home has been in the family. Mr. Keller is treasurer of the Hottel Association. He and his wife are descendants of Barbara Ann Hottel, the only dau. of the immigrant.

Mr. Snarr was an energetic farmer and an aggressive business man. Our public school system was unknown in that early day and facilities for social enjoyment were few. John and Mary were active members of the Lutheran Church that held services jointly with the Reformed people in the old historic Frieden's Church, of which he was a trustee. He believed in education, as records show, and figured prominently in the movement for having a community house that was familiarly known as the Hottel-Keller schoolhouse, which was built by free-will offerings of money, labor and material. He owned a vast scope of land and lived one and a half miles northwest of Toms Brook, where nine children were born. They lie bur. in the Keller Cem.

May 8, 1848; d. Dec. 26, 1915. In 1862, Mr. Borden and wife moved to Seneca Co., O., then a wilderness, and lived on Benjamin Huddle's farm three miles east of Melmore. He and Israel Fauber, his brother-in-law were coopers in connection with their farming interests. Returning to Toms Brook in 1869, he engaged in the stave and lumber business. His sons, Borden Brothers and Co., are his successors. They manufacture choice roller flour, plain and self-raising, and are also producers of staves and headings as well as barrels for flour and apples. The flouring mill has a capacity of fifty barrels daily, and turns out the Snow Drift and Valley Triumph brands, sold locally and shipped. Lutheran Church.

1218-g JOSEPH HOTTEL, II⁴, youngest child of Joseph, I, b. near Toms Brook, Shenandoah Co., Va., Nov. 6, 1795; d. Aug. 28, 1878; m. June 18, 1815, CATHERINE SNARR, b. in the same vicinity, as above, Dec. 5, 1797; d. of paralysis, Mar. 28, 1873. Both bur. in a private cemetery on their farm two miles north of Woodstock. They had sixteen children, several of whom d. in infancy, the rest reached adult age, and had families. They all remained in the Shenandoah Valley except Sarah and Catherine, who, with their families moved to Indiana in 1855 and died there. Joseph was too young for military service in the War of 1812, but took a chance at the lots that were drawn, and it fell to him to go. This was in perfect accord with his wishes and patriotic spirit. He was a gallant soldier in that conflict. He drew a pension for his services and lived a very industrious and useful life. At the time of the Civil War, Joseph was too old for military service, but he had his share of the devastations of the war in his own door yard. When the war department issued the order to destroy the material resources of the Shenandoah Valley as a means of ending the war rather than continue shedding more blood, Gen. Phil Sheridan and his men shot through the Valley setting fire to hundreds of buildings, making the Valley so poor that a crow could not live in it. It was a windy day when Joseph Hottel's barn was fired. The wind carried the flames to the house and both were totally destroyed. Only a small log building and a corn crib were left. The log house, occupied by slaves of a former owner, served as a loom house where weaving was done for the family use. This was fitted out for a dwelling until they were able to build the comfortable framehouse which he, with his wife and Barbara, occupied the remainder of their lives. These facts were furnished by a devoted granddaughter, Mrs. Annie M. McInturff.

1477-a HENRY HOTTEL⁵, first child of Joseph, b. near Toms Brook, Va., Apr. 5, 1817; d. Feb. 10, 1890; m. first, CATHERINE COFFMAN, b. at Toms Brook, Sept. 16, 1816; d. Jan. 10, 1875. Second, m. MRS. CATHERINE ANN COFFMAN, nee Snarr, widow of Obed Coffman, deceased. Bur. at Pughs Run. Henry and six brothers were flour millers, the other two were farmers. On the North Shenandoah River, near Woodstock, Henry and his brother Andrew, operated a mill many years. Upon dissolving partnership, Henry's son, James Morgan, became associated with him in the business and continued until the time of the Civil War. Either James Morgan or his brother-in-law, Lemuel Painter, must join the Army. That his sister's husband might stay with his family, James Morgan left Lemuel Painter to take his place in the business and entered the ranks never to return alive. After the war, Henry operated what was known as the old Stonewall Mill, the interior having been entirely burned out when Phil Sheridan did his famous burning in the spring of 1865. The walls were left in good condition. His first efforts at retrieving his losses was to put a grist mill in one corner of this building while it was undergoing reconstruction. He was one among the first millers in the Valley to install the roller process of manufacturing flour. As Henry grew older, being unable to endure the dust of the mill and also suffering from asthma, his sons, George and Luther, succeeded him in the milling industry. He retired to Woodstock, where he conducted a flour and feed store the remainder of his life. He was energetic, honorable and useful; a kind, faithful, considerate husband and father. The facts in this brief tribute were furnished by his son, 1478-a JAMES MORGAN HOTTEL⁶, b. near Woodstock, Va., Oct. 22, 1838, was a soldier in the Confederate service. He was wounded in the hand but soon recovered and returning to the ranks, was mortally wounded in the big battle of Chancellorsville. He died soon after, May 3, 1863. He was First Lieut. of Co. C., 33rd Va. Regt., Stonewall Brigade at the time of his death. The railroads in the Valley being badly disrupted by the contending forces, his father brought his body home in a plain spring wagon a distance of 65 miles. He was buried on Whit Sunday in the old cemetery at Pughs Run. He was the only one of all his descendants to lose his life in the war. He was a substitute for his brother-in-law, Lemuel Painter.

Andrew and his brother Henry were successful partners in the old Stonewall Mill, two miles north of Woodstock, but owing to increased family responsibilities, their partnership was dissolved; and Andrew conducted a milling business two miles southeast of Toms Brook until some years after the Civil War, when he retired to his father's homestead on Pughs Run which his generous son, B. F., provided for him and wife the remaining years of their lives. The private burial plot, in which their bodies repose, has been cemented over by B. F. Hottel, making it proof against neglect and intrusion.

Mr. Hottel grew to young manhood in his native county and evinced rare gallantry near Maurertown, during the Civil War, when he dashed through the columns of Gen. Shield's Cavalry and captured a number of the officers' horses. Upon the eve of his departure for the West in 1867, his mother remonstrated saying, "A rolling stone never gathers any moss," to which he replied, "Neither does a setting hen get fat." His fondest anticipations were fully realized after he began his career as a miller and rancher at Omaha, Nebr., taking four of his brothers with him. When first married he resided two years at Cheyenne, and then moved to Ft. Collins, Colo., where he now resides, and became manager of a flour milling company acquiring an independent competency as a reward of his talent and energy, and is now president of the Poudre Valley National Bank. 1477-e CATHERINE HOTTEL⁵, b. near Toms Brook, Shenandoah Co., Va., Jan., 1823; d. in 1871; m. first in her native county and state, DR. R. L. ARMAND, who died soon after. Second, m. April 26, 1848, ADAM CHRISMAN, as his second wife, a native of Hessa Darmstadt, Germany, d. at Bloomfield, Jay Co., Ind., in 1868. The family moved in 1852, in a covered wagon from near Woodstock, Va., to Adams Co., Indiana, settling near New Corydon, or a little closer to Geneva, on a farm where they raised a large family. Near the same date Catherine's sister, Mrs. Sarah Boehm and her family located in the same vicinity and remained near each other all their lives. The Chrisman's house while occupied by their son, Henry, was destroyed by fire and the old family record consumed. This accounts for imperfect records. Catherine's family on their way to the west sojourned several years in Licking and Franklin Counties in Ohio where Daniel, Albert and James were born. Farmer and butcher. Christian Church. Catherine was reared in the Lutheran faith. Minerva assumed the Chrisman name after her mother's second marriage moving immediately into a strange locality.

Jan. 5, 1901, both bur. at Middletown, Va. For 50 years they were residents of Meadow Mills, Va., and engaged in the flour milling industry. His partner was James Hottel, a kinsman, whose wife was Nancy Rader, sister to Catherine, his wife. They operated two flour mills on the historic Cedar Creek. The upper stone mill was built in colonial times. Both buildings are standing. From these mills the settlement derived its name, Meadow Mills. Mr. Hottel erected a limestone station for the B. & O. R. R. Co., at this place. After his death, his son Holt succeeded his father as agent and was postmaster in connection with a store for many years. William was a good citizen, a faithful friend, a kind husband, and a member of the M. E. Church. He resided with his step-dau., Sallie Yount, in his later years. He finally died from a paralytic stroke in the home of his son Holt.

1477-m ABRAHAM HOTTEL⁵, son of Joseph, b. near Toms Brook, Shenandoah Co., Va., Dec. 18, 1833; d. Dec. 13, 1914; m. June 22, 1854, ANN DIRTING of Scotch Irish ancestry, b. at Woodstock, Va., Dec. 1, 1834; d. June 26, 1918, interment at Woodstock. They were industrious farming people, residents on Pughs Run near Woodstock and were members of the Presbyterian Church.

Abraham served four years in the Civil War as Lieut. in Co. C, 33rd. Va. Regt., Stonewall Brigade. He was the youngest of eight sons in the family that reached adult age and the only one that was in the war; the others were exempted being millers, save one who was nearsighted.

The subject of this sketch was in all the big battles in which his brigade was engaged except the second battle of Manassas. He was never taken prisoner nor in a hospital nor seriously wounded. At the first battle of Manassas he was struck on the nose by a piece of shell which left a scar. At Spotsylvania a piece of shell, striking him on the belt, knocked him down but did no harm.

When Gen. Sheridan did his famous burning in the Valley, Abraham was near enough to see his home burn over his wife and little children. On his return from the army he had nothing left but a calf and it was so poor it could hardly walk. After the close of the war he secured a home for himself and loved ones.

On June 22, 1904, this couple celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary at their residence. One brother, one sister, a few Confederate comrades, a host of relatives and friends were present to make the event pleasant and enjoyable. Their sixtieth wedding anniversary was celebrated June 22, 1914, at the residence of their daughter, Mrs. Bessie Wisman, Woodstock. That same year Abraham died. His wife, feeble and almost blind, lingered four years longer. In her 84th year she passed into the unending day beyond the clouds. Children were born near Woodstock. The facts in this loving tribute were contributed by a devoted daughter, Lucile Hottel.

3-i DANIEL HOTTEL³, ninth child of Charles and Barbara Hottel, b. near Toms Brook, Va., about 1763; d. about 1823; m. Apr. 2, 1786, MARY BIEDLER, a native of the same county and state as above. His father by will devised to Daniel a tract of land containing 201 acres lying on the north side of Saumsville, Va., which he sold to two parties, June 13, and Sept. 19, 1814, and that same year moved to Fairfield Co., O., settling near Bremen on a farm in Rush Creek Twp., where he d. in his 80th year. Mary, his widow lived with her youngest son, Benjamin, Seneco Co., O., until 1846, when she made her home with her dau., Rebecca, wife of Abraham Seitz, near Ottawa, Putnam Co., O., where she died. There is a tradition in the family definitely to the effect that Daniel Hottel served as a soldier in the Revolutionary War, that he was with Gen. Washington at the battel of Brandywine and was one of the unknown thousands who left their blood stained footprints on the bleak frozen ground of Valley Forge, crossing the Delaware on the memorable night of the battle of Trenton. His grandchildren were old enough to remember him and heard him tell of the war for liberty and were well acquainted with the facts that he was wounded in the head from which he suffered in after years. Record of his services does not appear on the muster roll of the War Dept., nor could any documentary evidence be found in the county and state records of Va., in confirmation of the foregoing facts, and yet, not for a minute would we discredit the tradition regarding his services coming from various reliable sources, as it is well known that many of the muster rolls have been lost; or the omission of record may have been due to an error of some sort, and for this reason the services of many cannot be credited officially. Then it must be remembered that the War of 1812 may be responsible for some of these losses when, Aug. 24, 1814, the Capital City was captured and government buildings and most military records were destroyed by the British soldiers. Another tradition relates the fact that Daniel Hottel was at one time a candidate in his native county for the legislature, but was defeated. This prominence may have been given him in recognition of his services in the army. This is not known for certain. Whether chagrined by his defeat, or vexed by the slavery question, or lured by the fertility of the soil is not positively known, but he moved to Ohio, and the battle for supremacy in the wilds of that state was begun. The land was cleared and a log cabin was erected. Their joys and sorrows, their comforts and hardships, were many. There were seven children: Catherine and Abraham, the two eldest, remained in Va., the other five came to the Buckeye state.

MARY HOTTEL ANDERSON

Peoria. Mary entered the realm of the centenarians, Nov. 12, 1921. The remarkable and long-to-be-remembered event was celebrated on what is known as the Hunt City Farm. Then, 11 of 15 grandchildren were living, 29 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild. She was living at the time of Thomas Jefferson and John Adams and lived through the administrations of 21 of our presidents, from James Monroe to Warren G. Harding. When Henry Clay was candidate for the Presidency, she was present (1844) when a reception was given him at Greenfield, Ind. At this time it was the custom for candidates to kiss the ladies and children present on such occasions. During the evening Mrs. Anderson left the reception room and later returned with a lady friend. They were both greeted by Mr. Clay in the usual manner, as he believed them to have just arrived. This provoked considerable joking on the part of her friends who accused her of scheming for the second kiss. She liked to tell of this event and kept the slippers she wore upon that evening as a remembrance. She maintained her faculties remarkably well; could read a newspaper without the aid of glasses and did considerable needle work to pass the time away during the last three years of her life. She was a member of the M. E. Church, and was inclined to be cheerful and humorous. At the anniversary many letters of congratulations were received. Among them was one from our President and one from the Governor of the State. Many relatives came and went at different times of the day. Among the visitors was a cousin, Hon. J. K. Hottal, Spartanburg, S. C., a talented conversationalist, who helped to make the occasion a very enjoyable one.

Ohio Wesleyan University. He took up the study of law at Lancaster and was admitted to the bar in 1857. He practiced law at Lancaster and Logan for some 39 years, and was a conspicuous figure at the bar in southeastern Ohio. He was admitted to practice in the Supreme Court of the United States, Jan. 6, 1867, and was a man of recognized ability, possessing qualifications that fitted him eminently for high official positions. He represented Hocking County one term in the State Legislature. He was firm in his convictions and fearless in promulgating them. He was twice brevetted for gallant services in the Civil War. He was First Sergt. of his company, later, First Lieut. of his Regt.; was promoted to Captaincy, in the 23rd Inf.; was with his regiment in the battles of Mills Spring, Ky., Shiloh, Iuka, sieges of Corinth, Vicksburg and Jackson. In 1863, he was appointed Judge Advocate of the military division of the South on Gen. Phil Sheridan's staff. When he wrote his autobiography mention was made of his mother, Susannah Huddle, stating that she was of Swiss descent. Undoubtedly he obtained that information from her.

1686-g BENJAMIN HOTTEL (HUDDLE)⁴, the youngest child of eight children, b. Aug. 5, 1803, near Saumsville, Va., on the Daniel Hottel homestead, which farm of 200 acres, willed to Daniel by his father, Charles Hottel, is now owned by Mr. Swartz. Benjamin d. in Seneca Co., O., Jan. 28, 1860; m. Aug. 17, 1823, ANNA SEITZ, b. near Bremen, O., July 21, 1805; d. Aug. 25, 1863, bur. by the side of her husband in Pleasant View Cem., adjacent to the neat little brick church edifice of the Primitive Baptist organization, to which they had given an acre of land, later enlarged to five acres, a beautifully kept plot, where quite a number of the children and descendants of these faithful pioneer parents lie.

Anna Seitz, the wife of Benjamin Huddle, was the youngest dau. of Elder Lewis and Anna Beery Seitz. Her father was one of the earliest settlers and a prominent Primitive Baptist preacher in Fairfield Co., O. He was the father of fifteen children, fourteen of whom, seven sons and seven daughters, married and reared families. Lewis was the son of *John Seitz, who came to the United Colonies from Prussia in 1764, and finally settled in York Co., Pa. He was the father of six children, all of whom reared large and prosperous families. Benjamin received his early education in about three months in the old schoolhouse near Saumsville, which building was still standing in good condition in 1868. The assertion has been made by certain of his sons and daughters, that in that school he gave his name, "Benjh Hottel." The English teacher changed it to "Huddle," and taught him this spelling. The habit acquired in his youth was retained in his later years until he finally adopted the English orthography of the word. All of his children bear the name Huddle with the single exception of Jacob K., who became convinced of its inaccuracy after examining the stone marking the grave of his grandmother, Mary Biedler Hottel, on Jan. 1, 1880. He adopted the spelling (Hottal) found thereon, and it has been used by him and his descendants since. In 1821-22, the sons and sons-in-law of Elder Lewis Seitz were already moving or planning to move from Fairfield into Seneca County, then being formed in the Sandusky River Valley in the north central section of Ohio. The sons, John and Daniel, had gone through this section during the War of 1812. John, especially noticed the black soil and splendid forests in that part of the state, so about the years 1821, he entered land in Seneca Co. in what is now Bloom Twp., and soon moved there. His brothers, Noah and Peter, entered land about this time. Also, another brother, Lewis, Jr., and their sisters' husbands, Jacob Spitler and Benjamin Huddle, came a little later. About the same period came the Kellers, Kagys, Bretzes, as well as others, whose names may be found throughout this record, and settled either in Seneca or Crawford County. Here, John Seitz gave the name Bloom, to the township in which he lived. It was organized in 1824.

When Benjamin Huddle was about 11 years old, he emigrated with his parents from Va., to near Bremen, O., where he grew to adult age. After the death of his father Daniel, he moved in the spring of 1827 with his family, consisting of his wife and three children, Rebecca, Noah S. and Lydia, to the fruitful land discovered by his brothers-in-law, in Bloom Twp., as above stated. Here he cleared some fields and built a comfortable log dwelling and lived until the spring of 1830, when he sold out and moved with his young family two miles south on to an 80 acre farm in Lykens Twp., Crawford Co., which was organized the same year. Here they continued to live until the summer of 1837. During those years Benjamin served with ability as Justice of the Peace, for the new Twp., was prominent in local affairs, and old records in the county court house at Bucyrus, O., reveal that in 1831, at the age of 28, he held the office of magistrate. On Jan. 12, 1832, he performed the marriage ceremony of Jacob Foy, Jr. and Mercy Lupton, the first marriage for that year in the county. In 1837, Benjamin Huddle, with his family returned to Bloom Twp., and purchased a farm of 240 acres which was enlarged by subsequent purchases to 412 acres, being in all the north half and west half of the southwest quarter, section 30, lying 4 miles southwest of Bloomville and 3 miles east of Melmore. This farm is located diagonally across the corner of the crossroads from the first farm he had occupied and is a very fine piece of land, watered and drained by a quiet little stream named by the settlers, "South Branch of Silver Creek." Here he resided the remainder of his life, rearing his family and taking much interest in the affairs of the township and agricultural advancement, a director in the County Agricultural Society. "Uncle Benny Huddle's" orchard was known for the numerous varieties and qualities of fruits, for which he was annually awarded first premium at the county fairs. He was a staunch Democrat and local leader of the party, always working for others and not for himself. His first vote for President was cast for Gen. Andrew Jackson in 1824, of which he frequently told his sons, and instilled into their minds fundamental Democratic ideas of government. He loved "Old Hickory," but was not a political extremist. He was township trustee during 1842-43.

Benjamin and Anna Seitz Huddle were the parents of the surprisingly large number of eighteen children, fourteen of whom grew to be adults, married and reared families. The sturdiness of the stock can be judged by the fact that at the beginning of the year 1916, seven of these were still living, ranging in ages from 68 to 87 years. In Aug., 1927, only three were living; John 86, Elizabeth 84, and Jacob K. 81. The lineal descendants at the present writing, Aug., 1927, number more than 400 souls.

Early in the morning, Saturday, Jan. 28, 1860, Benjamin quietly and sweetly passed out of this natural life in the full trust and blessed assurance of a better realm gained through faith in Jesus Christ. His funeral was the largest ever known before or since at the Primitive Baptist Church on the corner of his farm, of which he and his wife were members. Two thousand people were in attendance, and many shed tears for their benefactor. The sermon was delivered by his brother-in-law, Elder Lewis Seitz. Thus, the life of a good man came to a close, leaving to his posterity the heritage of a good name.

2047-a REBECCA HUDDLE⁵, first child of Benjamin, b. near Bremen, O., Apr. 21, 1824; d. July 9, 1907; m., Elder Lewis Seitz, officiating, Mar. 2, 1845, NOAH RHEINHART, one of two sons, Noah and Jacob, of Jacob Rheinhart (b. Nov. 5, 1799; d. 1823) and *Susanna (Lasley) Rheinhart (b. Oct. 11, 1803). Noah and Rebecca Rheinhart lived on a farm across the road east from her father's farm in Seneca Co., O. Rebecca was baptized by her uncle Elder Lewis Seitz in a small creek running through the farm and joined the Primitive Baptist Church known as the "Red Barn" church on the corner of her father's farm. Noah was an industrious, energetic agriculturist, strictly honest in all his dealings. He opened a stone quarry on his farm and sold building rock. In 1852, he built a fine barn, the best in the county, 40x80 feet, covered with blue ash drawn shingles and weatherboarded horizontally with yellow poplar siding. It had numerous slatted windows and was divided in four apartments. In 1858, he built a two story house of select stones. The interior was finished throughout with curly black walnut lumber and varnished in natural color. Both these buildings were erected by his brother-in-law, Benjamin Huddle, Jr., carpenter and architect. Disheartened by the tragic death of their first son, Benjamin, which occurred on the morning of May 21, 1862, Noah and Rebecca Rheinhart sold their beautiful farm the next spring and purchased 160 acres near Sidney, O.; here, not far from Melmore, they resided for the remainder of their lives and reared a family of children of more than ordinary worth. Noah and Rebecca were bur. in Cedar Point Cem., near Sidney, O.

2047-d DANIEL BEERY HUDDLE⁵, fourth child of Benjamin, b. east of Melmore, Seneca Co., O., Feb. 26, 1828; d. Dec. 22, 1915; m. Mar. 22, 1855, MARGARET J. WILLIAMS, d. at Selden, Kans., Dec. 16, 1893, bur. in Hawkeye Cemetery, Decatur Co., Kans. Daniel, in his youth at least, possessed an adventurous disposition, inherited, no doubt, from his immigrant ancestors. He may be numbered among the famous "forty-niners," having crossed the western plains in the summer of 1852, during the historic rush for the newly discovered gold fields of California. It is most unfortunate that he left no written record of his experiences in that thrilling episode of American history. He could have told much about the Indians of the plains, the wild beasts, the mountains, the fevers of the tropics—all the perils of those romantic, winding, sun-blistered, gold-kissed western trails. He returned to Ohio in 1854, through Panama, m. and settled near Bloomville, later Tiffin, remaining until Nov., 1879, when he, with his family turned again toward the great west, then opening to eastern settlers—to Hawkeye, Decatur Co., Kans. and again in Aug., 1912 to McMinnville, Ore. where he died. Mr. Huddle was a veteran of the Civil War, having served one year in the 164th O. V. I., Co. B. During the active period of his life, he followed the occupation of farmer and stock dealer, and later in Kansas, of cattle raising. He lost his left forearm Nov. 17, 1869, in an accident while running a threshing machine. He served numbers of terms in local township and district offices. In personal appearance he was very much like the usual conception of the patriarchs of old, with a long flowing white beard. He was stockily built, and possessed a mirthful and jovial disposition. In his declining years he was stricken with blindness.

Benjamin was a mechanical genius and followed the occupations of carpenter, cabinet-maker and painter until the age of forty. After that, during his active years, he was a farmer. He was always prominent in local affairs and for a number of years was Justice of the Peace at Iuka. His children received excellent educational advantages, and several of his descendants have attained prominence in their respective spheres. In his later years, although physically feeble, his mind was excellent and many particulars regarding the lives of his parents have been obtained from him.

2111-g PROF. JOHN BENJAMIN HUDDLE⁶, b. near Omega or Iuka, Ill., Sept. 8, 1868; d. at East St. Louis, Ill., Feb. 29, 1920, from a complication of diseases; m. Oct. 6, 1891, at Caseyville, ANNIE M. SCHMIDT, a school teacher of the village. As a young man, Mr. Huddle moved to Caseyville, a village he loved to call home. He was a promising lad, a friend of that period of life has called him pleasing in manner, sensible, intelligent, and studious. He pursued his studies until he had successfully passed the examination for a teacher's certificate. He readily found employment in the schools of Caseyville, where he taught for twelve years. He studied constantly and later passed a brilliant examination for a state certificate with the highest honor ever granted a teacher in the State of Ill. Later, he attended Illinois Univ. and there passed the most difficult examination with a record of 100 per cent. He was widely known as a progressive educator, having spent practically his entire career in public schools. His practical and novel methods of imparting knowledge have met with much success, and he was widely known as an authority on many subjects. He also was among the best of mechanics, an expert jeweler, watch-maker, and repairer. He was an expert cabinet-maker, carpenter, and builder, and was specially proficient in metal work. He invented and sold to a St. Louis factory an acetylene torch for welding. He repaired and constructed intricate and difficult machinery. He was an expert scientist and read most of the works of scientific men. He knew more of the care and breeding of poultry for profit and for show than many professionals, and carefully studied agriculture and gardening. He knew literature and history, not only popular and widely known selections, but also the more obscure, difficult and beautiful. He was an excellent musician, read music easily, taught vocal and instrumental music, sang and played well. His heart was large and often dictated his actions toward the unfortunate and afflicted. Many times as a teacher, he provided shoes and clothing and food for poor children; also helped his teachers, often teaching for them, coached them for higher examinations, and aided them in advancing themselves and the cause of education. He often wrote articles for publication and many of his poems will long be remembered. The following is one of his poems:

HER HANDS

Those hands! Her hands!

Those baby hands

They have woven a rope of silken strands,
And it circles my heart with a touch so light,
That I feel not the cords that bind me quite

To her hands—

Her beautiful hands.

Those hands! Her hands!

Those girlish hands!

They beckon to me from the shining sands,
And I rise and follow with mute delight
While she strengthens the floss that holds me tight

To her hands—

Her beautiful hands.

Those hands! Her hands!
 Those maiden hands!
 Her fingers are circled with golden bands,
 They are pledges of love with love's fond art,
 And I gaze on them with a doubting heart,
 On her hands—
 Her beautiful hands.

Those hands! Her hands!
 Those mother hands!
 They fondle the infant near which she stands,
 And they speak a love without taint or guile,
 And I stand enraptured, entranced, the while
 By her hands—
 Her beautiful hands.

Those hands! Her hands!
 Those cold white hands!
 They are crossed on her breast by Death's command
 They close o'er my heart with a freezing chill,
 And I turn from her bier with a fond love still
 For her hands—
 Her beautiful hands.

Professor Huddle spent almost 26 years in public life. He was principal at the Alta Sita School, and at the time of his death, he was superintendent of the Irving School at East St. Louis, Ill. Schools were dismissed and East St. Louis principals were pallbearers. Special street cars bore teachers and friends to the funeral.

He sought the dry climate of Colorado, New Mexico and Texas in quest of health, and served a number of years with the Texas Rangers service on the Mexican border. He was interpreter to American Consul at Vera Cruz, Mexico, two years; and twelve years in the U. S. Secret Service, during which period he took an active part in cleaning up the so called "Frontier" of the "outlaw element" which infested Texas, especially in the early pioneer days. He filled judicial positions of Justice of the Peace to county Judge; was sheriff of Potter Co., Texas, and sheriff in Mitchell Co., Texas, under Richard Wan, sheriff, who killed the noted Sam Bass, at Red Rock, Texas, 1878. He was government scout on what was called "the Last Raid of the Cheyannio," also was with Gen. Lawton when Geronimo surrendered in 1885, in the Jicarilla mountains in New Mexico. In 1879, Walter's camp was twice attacked by the Indians which greatly outnumbered the whites and succeeded in driving them from their camp, burning nine wagons and destroying all the camp equipage. There were over 200 savages against 10 whites. Cooke Rhea, Mr. Burns' partner in that thrilling event is now 84, and lives in San Francisco, Cal. 2047-m JOHN HUDDLE^s, thirteenth child of Benjamin, b. on the old Huddle farm, in Bloom Tp., Seneca Co., Ohio, May 29, 1841; m. by Rev. Good, D. D., Tiffin, Ohio, May 18, 1865, ANNA DEAN STEVEN, dau. of W. C., of Melmore, O. They were thrifty farmers near Pugh's Corners, three miles south of his birthplace, Texas Tp., Crawford Co., Ohio, where Anna d. of typhoid fever, Nov. 12, 1899, bur. at Benton. John never remarried, and resides with his dau., Mrs. A. R. Swisher, on the Bucyrus-Melmore-Tiffin road on the farm where May 29, 1927, the 86th anniversary of his birth was celebrated by a happy surprise gathering of fifty relatives and friends. He is still active and has always lived within a few miles of his father's homestead, Sycamore, O. John, from boyhood was noted for his good judgment, conservative thoughts and firmness. In his early teens he was a good horseman. The best team to work on the farm was given to him. He was the plow-boy, the "stand-by," the referee on the farm. In his 79th year he served with ability as juror in the Common Pleas Court at Bucyrus, O., and in every case tried in that term of 32 days, he was never once challenged nor excused by the attorneys. At the close of the term the presiding judge made complimentary mention of Mr. Huddle as a substantial citizen, and the confidence of the parties on trial, and the attorneys had in his impartial judgment. The judge in his many years of law practice never before witnessed a similar incident. It illustrates the sterling qualities of the man. For many years he has been a consistent Christian and a loyal member of the M. E. Church. In his active period he served as Supt. of the S. S. and functioned in other official capacities. His children belong to the same church, except Florence, who is a member of the U. B. Church. The names of the sons of Benjamin appear to have been derived from the Seitz connection. John was named after his uncle, John Seitz. However, the founder of the Hottel family in America was John.

remarkable kinsman who was signally honored with the privilege of being quite intimately connected with the American Commission to Negotiate Peace at Versailles. That Peace Conference was the greatest event, of such a nature, in the World's history. Many questions of vital interest affecting the great nations of the world were thoroughly threshed out there. Relatives and friends rejoice that Mr. Huddle had the wonderful opportunity to become acquainted with these great questions, and to become associated with the heads of the world's great nations. He is now on duty as U. S. Consul at Berlin, Germany. To Hon. J. K. Huddle more than any other person belongs the credit of the initial work of this family history, also for much painstaking research labor and the construction of genealogical charts of the several major branches of the family, prior to his connection with the American Commission and advent to Europe. With this responsibility and subsequent commissions, in this and other nations, he could no longer be actively associated with this compilation, but his interest in the progress of the work is unabated. While on duty for the government at Warsaw, Poland, he was not permitted to return to his native country to marry, but the young lady, who, later was to become his wife, made the journey

2047-q JACOB KELLER HOTTAL⁵, formerly HUDDLE, seventeenth child of Benjamin was b. on the old Huddle farm in Bloom Tp., Seneca Co., Ohio, Oct. 8, 1846, grew up on his father's homestead, was left an orphan in his early teens and was educated in the district school; enlisted in the Civil War, in Co. K, 164th Regt., O. V. I., May 2, 1864, saw service in Virginia, discharged in October, same year. After the war, he continued his education in Seneca County Academy, Republic, Ohio, taught district school winter, 1865-66, then entered Heidelberg College, Tiffin, O., fall of 1866, studied there until 1869. He read law and was admitted to the Ohio bar in 1871, and to that of Kansas in 1872. From May, 1872 to May, 1882, he successfully practiced law at Tiffin, Ohio. Suffering from a nervous breakdown, due to over work, he quit the practice of law, and moved to Spartanburg, S. C., where he followed various outdoor occupations for several years. In 1882-87, he engaged in prospecting for minerals, school teaching, farming and newspaper work. Since 1898, he has engaged in real estate business and abstracting titles at Spartanburg, S. C., residing at 127 Forest St. In 1873, Mr. Hottal became interested in newspaper work and purchased an interest in, and later assumed the entire responsibility of the TIFFIN STAR. He started the first daily paper in Tiffin, O. In 1888, he entered newspaper work again, and was in the editorial department of the BIRMINGHAM HERALD, and AGE-HERALD, Birmingham, Ala. In 1895-96, he was connected with the SPARTANBURG HERALD, and later with the HEADLIGHT. He was recognized as a "hustler" and built up both papers to a prosperous basis. Mr. Hottal took an active interest in enlisting soldiers for the Spanish-American War, and was a prominent factor in organizing Co. K, of the 2nd South Carolina Regt., and was temporary captain of the company. He is a strict disciplinarian, active as a boy, at 81, straight of military bearing, vegetarian in diet, pure morals, public spirited, good teacher and conversationalist, upright in character and member of the regular Baptist Church. Nov. 4, 1911, at Spartanburg, bur. in Oakwood Cem. The entire Hottel-Huddle connection has just reason to feel proud of this remarkable kinsman who has been closely identified with the editor of this compilation. He is familiarly known as "Jake," and has traveled over many states, collected valuable data that enters into this work, and has done much to popularize this history. All join in wishing him many years of health and happiness here before he goes hence. After considerable research into the family history before this work was begun, Jacob Keller Hottal arrived at the conclusion that the spelling of the name is HOTTAL. It so appears on the tombstone that marks the grave of his grandmother, Mary Hottel, wife of Daniel Hottel, near Ottawa, Ohio. Mr. Hottal, therefore, Jan. 1, 1880, adopted this manner of orthography in preference to the Hottel and Huddle forms.

 2354-a GEORGE WILLIAM COOPER⁸, b. July 24, 1896; graduate of H. S., entered the U. S. Navy as surgeon in 1923; assigned to duty on the Medical Staff at Mare Island Naval Hospital, Vallejo, Cal. and later on the Surgical Staff of Norfolk Naval Hospital at Portsmouth, Va. Lieut. Cooper then was assigned to the U. S. Naval Medical School, Washington, D. C. for a postgraduate course. Next came two years of duty at sea on the U. S. S. Antares; most of this duty was in the Pacific at Honolulu, Panama and the West Indies on the Atlantic side.

Lieut. Cooper was one of the officers assisting in the rescue and hospital care of the many badly burned victims of the S. S. Mackinac in Naragansett Bay during the afternoon and night of Aug. 18, 1925. His ship was at anchor in the bay when the distressed Mackinac sent up her signals for rescue and he at once joined the fire and rescue party from his ship. After helping rescue the passengers, who were in great panic, and putting them into small boats to make the shore, he then worked most of the night with them at the Newport Naval Hospital, where the victims were taken. PART II

George Hottel

GEORGE HOTTEL

2x-d GEORGE HOTTEL², youngest son of John and Margaret Hottel and the progenitor of this line of history was born about the year 1728, either in Switzerland, or the famous Valley of the Rhine, Germany. When a small boy he emigrated with his parents from Rotterdam, Holland to America, arriving at Philadelphia, Sept. 11, 1732, settling later in the northern part of Bucks County, Pa., where he grew to manhood.

During the years mentioned above the Hottel family was among the many thousands who left their homes because of conscientious scruples. They believed that war was contrary to the teachings of Christianity. Therefore military service as required by law was very distasteful to them. Fierce persecutions by the European government as well as by many private citizens, induced numbers to seek safety in America, where liberty was promised them. By private conveyance, or perhaps on foot, they came to Holland, where they enjoyed greater liberties. Then, too, some being limited in financial means, remained in Holland for a time, in order to earn money to pay their passage to America.

It is claimed by some of the Hottel descendants that our immigrant came from Holland instead of Switzerland or Germany. This view can be easily accounted for from the fact that Rotterdam, Holland, was the port from which all emigrants in the above sections took passage on ships sailing to America.

The subject of this sketch and his parents were compelled to undergo the hardships of pioneer life in the colonial new world among the wild beasts and savage Indians. They began in the forest. The land was cleared, a log hut was erected and the battle with nature for supremacy begun. The family remained 18 years in Bucks Co., Pa., then came to Shenandoah Co., Va., settling near the village of Toms Brook, on a tract of land containing 341 acres. This by industry and honesty was changed from a howling wilderness to meadows, wheatfields and a happy home.

Across the public road joining his father's tract on the west, young George Hottel began his life's career as a farmer by purchasing 253 acres of land from Lord Thomas Fairfax. By subsequent purchases he owned a vast scope of choice land lying on the head waters of Toms Brook and Funks Mill Run reaching northward from the hamlet of Mt. Olive to North Mountain. He also owned various farm properties in the counties of Shenandoah and Hampshire, totalling at the time of his death, 2,369 acres. He was one of the most prosperous and outstanding land owners of Shenandoah County. The name of his wife and where he married her could not be ascertained. To them nine children were born and he gave to each a farm. He died in the Spring of 1787, in the 60th year of his age, and it is likely he was buried in the Keller Cemetery. His wife and son John preceded him in death. He was a religious man and like many of his descendants, belonged either to the Lutheran or Reformed denomination.

THE OLD HOME

George Hottel's old home is still standing in a good state of preservation near Mt. Olive. It was occupied in turn by his son Jacob and grandson George, and is now owned by Moses W. Barbe. whose wife was Lillie Ann Hamman, deceased, a lineal descendant of Barbara Anna Hottel. According to Mr. Barbe. the house was erected in 1740, but perhaps it was a little later as the Hottel family came to that neighborhood in 1750, and it is quite probable that George Hottel built it himself. The house was constructed very much like a Fort House in the days of savagery, with fort holes in the stone walls of the basement, and very large hewed logs which have been weatherboarded and plastered. An addition was built to the rear side some time later. There are five large rooms, three on the first floor and two on the second, and a large attic with a high steep roof. The first floor was made of logs hewed on four sides with 18 inch facing fitted closely together with a slip hole into the basement from the inside. The outside door of the basement was made of three ply lumber and is still in use. The joist in the house are of 25 foot pine logs hewed six by ten inches, a stone chimney twelve by six feet on the first and second floors tapering to three feet square at the top occupies the center of the house. Board partitions extend from the chimney to the outer walls, thereby affording access to the chimney from every room for the purpose of heating from the fireplaces. All partitions have doors making the entire house communicable. The fireplace on the first floor will admit a log six feet long, and that on the second floor a log four feet long. The mantels built in the chimney, hard mortar and many old marks easily attract the visitor's eye. The old log spring house is still standing near this ancient domicile and the large cone shaped stone used in the tannery by "George the tanner," is still in the front yard. A few trees whose green branches are stretched out like sentinels seem to point continually to the Old Home where were born our ancestors from whose loins have gone forth sons and daughters who have played their part in times of war and peace in the making of a great nation. In the deepening shadows of that home our dear ancestors enjoyed the music of the singing birds as they sat swaying in the trees. We sometimes wish our forebears who invaded and occupied these premises in the long ago could visit them again and reveal themselves to our curious eyes.

GEORGE HOTTEL'S WILL

An abstract of the will of George Hottel was taken from Probate records of Woodstock, Shenandoah Co., Va.; the will is dated May 25, 1782.

In the name of God, Amen: I, George Huddle, of the county of Shenandoah, in the Commonwealth of Virginia, being weakly and infirm in body, but of sound and disposing mind and memory, thanks be to Almighty God for the same, and calling to mind the mortality of mankind, that it is appointed for all men once to die, I do therefore make and publish this my last will and testament in the following manner and form, that is to say, first, I recommend my soul into the hands of Almighty God who gave it, and my body I recommend to the earth to be buried in a decent Christian like manner, nothing doubting but at the last day I shall receive the same again at the General Resurrection, and such worldly estate wherewith it has pleased God to bless me with in this life, demise and devise the same in the following manner and form:

1 Provides for the payment of all just debts and funeral expenses. Then comes bequests:

2 To my grandchildren, Henry, Gideon and John, sons of my oldest son John, deceased, 203 acres valued at 220 pounds in money.

3 To my son Henry, 218 acres, valued at 140 pounds in money.

4 To my daughter Elizabeth, wife of Christian Copp, 170 acres, valued at 100 pounds in money, being the same tract devised to him and George Keller by his father, John Hottel.

5 To my son Jacob, 253 acres including dwelling house, valued at 140 pounds in money.

6 To my son David, 292 acres valued at 100 pounds in money.

7 To my son George, 200 acres, valued at 80 pounds in money.

8. To my daughter Dorothy, wife of Jacob Funkhouser, 404 acres, valued at 100 pounds in money.

9 To my son Daniel, 220 acres, valued at 50 pounds in money.

10 To my daughter Anna, wife of Jacob Hamman, 409 acres, valued at 100 pounds in money.

Appoints Henry and Jacob, sons, his executors.

Witnessed by Jacob Rinker, Jr., Henry Keller and Jacob Keller.

Signed: George Hottel.

Probated Apr. 26, 1787.

Children of George Hottel, b. near Mt. Olive, a hamlet in Shenandoah Co., Va., are listed in the order mentioned in his will and are supposed to be in rotation of births:

3x-a John Hottel³, b. 1746

3x-b Henry Hottel³, b. 1748

3x-c Elizabeth Hottel³, b. 1750

3x-d John Jacob Hottel³, b. Jan. 20, 1752

3x-e David Hottel³, b. 1753

3x-f George Hottel³, b. 1754

3x-g Dorothy Hottel³, b. 1755

3x-h Daniel Hottel³, b. 1756

3x-i Anna Hottel³, b. 1757

3x-a JOHN HOTTEL-HUDDLE³, first child of George, was born on the old historic homestead adjacent to the village of Mt. Olive, Shenandoah Co., Va., about 1746. He died at or near Woodstock, Va., prior to 1782. The fact of his death is established by the date of the probate of his father's will, in which he devised to his three grandchildren, Henry, Gideon and John, sons of John, deceased, a tract of 203 acres of land lying on the north side of the North Shenandoah River, in Shenandoah Co., Va. John, being the oldest, grew up in those early pioneer days amid scenes of Indian savagery. Later the Revolutionary War came on, and quite likely young John's heart beat fast to the sound of patriotic music, as companies, perhaps regiments, marched through his country on their way to join Washington's army to fight for freedom from British oppression. John espoused the Christian faith and was a member of the Reformed Church, at Woodstock, of which he was a trustee.

He married ELIZABETH ———, whose surname, date of birth and marriage are unknown. They were residents of Woodstock, where three sons were born. After John Huddle's death, the widow and three sons moved to Wythe county, Va., about 1790, and settled near Ceres, in what is now Bland county. Here Elizabeth married the second time a man named SPANGLER, and by him had four daughters, names unknown. One married Gose, the second Fox, the third Rhundy and the fourth Sprecher. The descendants of these four daughters occupy Burke's Garden today and are among the finest citizens of that section. In all probability Elizabeth is buried near Ceres.

John Huddle's sons established homes for themselves. Henry settled in Kimberling district; Gideon in the Lead Mine district; and John in the Black Lick district. While domiciled in Wythe Co., the three sons and their wives executed a deed to George Copp, Nov. 8, 1796, at Woodstock, Va., for the tract of land they inherited from their grandfather. The descendants of John bear the name Huddle.

4x-a HENRY HUDDLE (HEINRICH HOTTEL)⁴, first child of John, b. at Woodstock, Va., Nov. 16, 1768; d. Dec. 14, 1846; m. MAGDALENE KIMBERLING, dau. of Martin Kimberling, who gave the land for the Kimberling Church, one of the first Lutheran Churches in the country. He was a farmer and lived three miles north of Rural Retreat, Va.

THE ORIGINAL HENRY HUDDLE HOUSE

An old log house, believed to have been built by Henry Huddle prior to 1790 still stands on a little knoll, a short distance from a bold spring on the farm of the late Isaac N. Huddle, in Black Lick district, of Wythe Co., Va. It is said to be one of the best examples of an early pioneer dwelling in Southwestern Virginia. It is surrounded by nine outbuildings, all of hewn white oak logs, which must have been built about the time the main house was erected. The old house itself, about 40 by 25 feet, contains six rooms; a large attic and a very large cellar enclosed with beautiful stonework, the mortar neatly whitewashed. The first floor is supported by hewn logs some nine or ten inches in diameter, laid close together with mortar chinked into the spaces between. The floor is of oak boards six or eight inches wide. The second floor and the attic are supported by neatly hewn beams of oak, on some of which it is hard to distinguish the axe marks. There are no ceilings in the building, the upper floors sufficing for the ceilings of the lower rooms. The stairway is three feet wide and has one landing. The stairway leading to the attic is immediately over that from the first floor to the second. The first floor is divided into three rooms, in two of which there are stone fireplaces. The larger of these fireplaces, no doubt used for the family for cooking, is a very striking example of the stone mason's art. It is constructed of neatly cut native blue limestone laid in white mortar, and shows little damage from its long use. Instead of a metal lintel to support the stonework above the fireplace, there is an immense hewn oak log scarcely scorched by the fires of many winters. Besides the fireplace to the left is a concealed stairway leading to the cellar. The entrance resembles a built in closet. The second floor is divided into three rooms, but the attic does not appear to have been cut up into apartments. There are no halls in the building. The exterior of the building is now covered with weather boarding much warped by time and the elements. The roof is of clapboards. The interior woodwork, a large part being poplar, has never been painted or stained. The hinges made of wrought iron extending across the doors, are fastened to the woodwork with iron rivets neatly hammered down. Much of the woodwork is fastened together with wooden pins. The nails used in the building were hand cut. The outside doors are divided about half way up, making it possible to leave the upper part open and the lower part closed. Henry Huddle the builder of this old log house, was the great grandfather of Mrs. Edgar P. Copenhaver and Mrs. Albert Oden Neff, the present owners of the tract of land on which the old house stands. It has been continuously (137 years) in the possession of his descendants. We are greatly indebted to R. W. Williams (no relative) of Wytheville, Va., for the description of the old house, from which we have freely gleaned for this work. Other descendants who live on the original farm of Henry Huddle are, Clemmie Six Gollehon, Helen Six, Dexter Huddle's family, Alex Huddle and James A. Huddle. Mrs. Copenhaver, the present owner of the house described above, lives in the house built by Jonas, son of Henry Huddle.

Note—An old record containing the birth dates of Gideon's children was found but the names were worn away, except Henry, Catherine, John and Kezzie, whose years of births are correct. Those of the other children are uncertain.

116x-a HENRY HUDDLE⁵, son of Gideon, b. Aug. 22, 1798; d. Feb. 20, 1854; m. 1822, NANCY HALSEY, of Scotch-Irish descent, b. in Botetourt Co., Va., Oct. 8, 1799; d. Feb. 4, 1881. They were bur. in the family cem., near Ivanhoe, Va. Their descendants failed to state their occupation and church affiliation, but it is likely they lived an agricultural life and were members of the Lutheran Church. The country in that section was nearly all in native forest at that time, with here and there a new settler's cabin. The men were engaged in clearing the land and tilling their small fields, while the women found employment, not only in their household duties, but in operating the hemp and flax break, the spinning wheel and the loom that produced the linsey and tow linen which clothed the young men and maidens when they appeared at the marriage altar. Their plain diet, was, "mush and milk for supper, and milk and mush for breakfast."

Jan. 12, 1894. Not long after their m., they bade farewell to the land of their kindred and turned their faces toward the southwest intent on finding a new locality in which to make their future home. On arriving in the pioneer state of Texas, they settled on Horsley Creek, four miles northeast of Ben Wheeler, Van Zandt Co., and resided there at the outbreak of the Civil War. Mr. Huddle joined the Confederate Army and enlisted in one of the first companies to leave for the front. He took part in the Mansfield campaign in which two of his brothers lost their lives. Soon after the war, Mr. Huddle changed his location to five miles northwest of Chandler, Tex., where he purchased and developed a farm and made a comfortable living for his family. He was known as a man of strict integrity and high ideals of citizenship. He was a Democrat in politics. As a Presbyterian in religion, he reared his family in that faith. He and his wife were bur. at Chandler.

Oct. 18, 1901. Mrs. Huddle is of Pilgrim ancestry, and through her mother, Rachel, is the eighth in descent from John and Priscilla Alden, and is related collaterally to six other members of the famous Mayflower passengers. Mr. Huddle grew to adult age in his native county and was a gallant soldier in the Confederacy during the Civil War, and served as Lieut. of Co. H, 63rd Va. Regt. He was an agriculturist by training and choice, and an honored member of the Kimberling Lutheran Church and served with ability as deacon for a great many years. He lived continuously on his father's farm on Black Lick, which is five miles north of Rural Retreat, Va., where his ten ch. were born.

3x-b HENRY HOTTEL³, second child of George, was b. it is believed near the emigration period, either in Bucks Co., Pa., or at Mt. Olive, Shenandoah Co., Va., about 1748; m. about 1771, ANNASTINA CHARLOTTE HAMMAN. Official records give her name as "Christena." They lived first on a farm of 450 acres on Stony Creek, where Columbia Furnace now stands and operated it and a flouring mill. Later they moved near Dayton, Rockingham Co., Va., not far from the Augusta county line. Here they died, and their son Frederick afterwards owned the homestead prior to his removal to Ohio. Henry Hottel and his son Henry owned jointly 341 acres of land in Fairfield Co., Ohio, in the early years of the 19th Century.

- 336x-i Frederick Hottel⁴, b. Sept. 21, 1791
- 336x-j Mary Hottel⁴

The names of Henry Hottel's children may not all be in rotation of their births as above recorded. The family record could not be found. The book containing his will with other documents, was destroyed at Harrisonburg, Va., by the Federal soldiers during the Civil War (1864), hence the difficulty in obtaining authentic records for this family.

336x-a GEORGE HOTTEL⁴, b. at Columbia Furnace, Shenandoah Co., Va., June 22, 1772; d. June 1, 1839; m. June 6, 1797, CHRISTENA COFFMAN, b. in the same county, as above, in 1778; she lived in widowhood 39 years with her son Thomas, d. May 2, 1869. Interment was in the old Hottel Cem. at Columbia Furnace, near which place they resided until several years before his death when they moved to a farm at Middle Roads, on Narrow Passage Creek about three miles southwest of Woodstock. Mr. Hottel kept a family record in German and designates himself as John. Perhaps his full name was John George Hottel. His first born was named Magdalene, but her descendants remember her as Polly. George did not accompany his father to Rockingham Co. He was a member of the Reformed Church.

338x-a POLLY HOTTEL⁵, b. at Columbia Furnace, Va., Mar. 12, 1789; d. Nov., 1872; m. JOHN W. WOLVERTON, of pioneer stock and a farmer, b. in 1787; d. in 1867. Twelve ch. were b., all attaining adult age at Columbia Furnace. Many definite records, especially birth dates are missing in this family. This is due to a lack of appreciation. Every effort was made to have a complete record.

- 339x-a Mary Wolverton⁶, b. about 1820

*George Hottel, son of David, the historian's great-grandfather, married a Barbara Hottel, and resided in Rockingham Co., Va., a number of years, at least until several children were b., then moved to Fairfield Co., Ohio, settling near Bremen, where they reared their family and eventually d. Having neither family nor official records and no certain knowledge concerning the identity of Barbara's father could be obtained. However, everything points to the conclusion that she was the dau. of Henry Hottel, Sr., of Rockingham Co., and this conclusion is corroborated by the tradition that Barbara and some of her people (referring to her brother Henry and wife, and Joseph, who lived in Fairfield Co. for a time) lived near together in separate houses in the same yard on George Hottel's farm, near Bremen, Ohio. While gathering material for this genealogy the historian visited the George Hottel homestead and discovered that there were two log houses only a few rods apart, one still standing, the other having been torn down in 1923. Our verdict, drawn from these intimate associations, that Barbara was the daughter of Henry Hottel, Sr. seems correct. There is no other place for her.

336x-c JOSEPH HOTTEL⁴, son of Henry, Sr., b. in 1776, went from his native county and state when a young man to Fairfield Co., O., where he was married, Sept. 20, 1832, to CLARISSA B. HOLTZMAN, by a Methodist minister. She may have been his second wife as a land transfer by him, May 8, 1827, names his wife, Elizabeth. Joseph's inventory and sale bill on file at Lancaster, O., Feb. 25, 1834, indicates that he died in Violet Twp., previous to that date. Moreover his widow married John Geil, Aug. 27, 1835, who formerly was married to Rachel Hottel, dau. of Daniel. This ends the record of Joseph Hottel.

336x-e PHILIP HOTTEL⁴, son of Henry, Sr., owned a landed estate in Fairfield Co., O., which he received by will and purchase from his father and brother Henry, said estate was sold by him, Aug. 8, 1817, while residing in Augusta Co., Va. This is all that could be found about Philip.

Rutherford B. Hayes, b. probably in Fairfield Co., O., or Va., Dec. 20, 1782; d. July 16, 1855; both buried at Mt. Alta, Va. Before his marriage, Henry Hottel left his native state and came to Fairfield Co., O., probably accompanied by his brothers, Joseph and Philip. He and his father of Rockingham Co., Va., took up jointly, 342 acres of Government land, one year after the state was admitted to the Union, Aug. 20, 1804. After marriage in Fairfield Co., he and his young wife settled on a farm at Crawford Springs, or Mt. Alta, Augusta Co., Va., where they lived and died. It has been related that he was an even tempered and most lovable man, and that their wedded life was one of complete joy and happiness.

3x-d JOHN JACOB HOTTEL³, son of George, b. near the hamlet, Mt. Olive, Shenandoah Co., Va., Jan. 20, 1752; d. Aug., 1820; m. June 21, 1777, MARY DOROTHEA RINGERIN (probably Rinker), of York Co., Pa., b. Jan. 20, 1755; d. soon after the death of her husband. They were bur. in the Keller Cem. near the old Hottel homestead, where they lived together so happily for 46 years and are awaiting the resurrection of the just. A very plain home-made marker of sandstone, bearing an inscription in German with English letters marks the final resting place of these pioneer ancestors. Mr. Hottel was a farmer by heredity, training and preference and made a very creditable record.

REVOLUTIONARY WAR RECORD

John Jacob Hottel helped the patriot army to fight for American freedom. When the call to arms was sounded he enlisted July 10, 1777; discharged Nov. 26, 1777. He served as a Private in the Maryland Troops in the Maryland Establishment of the Continental Line. See Vol. 18, page 283, Maryland Archives.

THE "HOME PLANTATION"

By the provision of George Hottel's will John Jacob Hottel was to come into possession of the "home plantation," so it is likely John Jacob Hottel lived on the same spot all his life, sixty-eight years. He became one of the most prosperous citizens in all that portion of the country. He continued adding to the "home plantation" until the time of his death in 1820, when he is supposed to have possessed 922 acres. He must have been thrifty and frugal and shown strong business ability, when on March 15, 1817, he drew up his last will and testament naming his two sons, George and Daniel, as executors. This document was probated at Woodstock, Va., Aug. 7, 1820. He was tactful and careful to provide for his widow, in old age, directing his seven sons to pay her twelve dollars in cash each year during her natural life and supply wearing apparel, linen of every kind, bed and bedstead and furnishing, household and kitchen furniture, as she may deem necessary, a cow, and horse with saddle and bridle, pasture and garden, orchard, house room, to have everything at hand without any trouble to her, not to suffer or want anything in health or sickness. He devised to each of his seven sons a farm and they were to pay his daughters in currency until all shared alike. In addition the daughters were to occupy one room on the lower and one on the upper story of his house west of the kitchen and to have the use of one-third of the garden as long as they remained single; and whatever they might earn by their own industry they were to keep for themselves but were not to be accounted in the estate.

John Jacob Hottel was the most outstanding member of the Hottel family. Few citizens of his day were more public-spirited than he. It is likely he was a Democrat in politics. He held the office of magistrate (Justice of the Peace) serving longer in this capacity than any other man in the country, and was eligible to the office of sheriff. He was widely known as Squire Hottel and was renowned for just decisions from his court.

His father gave him a 10 acre lot adjoining his front door yard on the south upon which he built a dwelling and tannery; and also a 90 acre tract lying toward North Mountain. He was a prominent farmer and tanner, and was popularly known as "George the tanner." He converted raw hides into leather by the old process, using bark, and supplied the leading markets of the country with his products. He was Justice of the Peace, an office at that time of far greater importance than this office is regarded today. He was a member of the old Frieden Reformed Church. M. second, BARBARA SEIVER, dau. of John, with whom he lived only a few years. The family record of John George Hottel, was very neatly kept in the German, which is now in the possession of a great-granddaughter, Mrs. Jacob H. Rutz, Toms Brook, Va. Stating signs of birth was very popular among our German ancestors in Va. more than one hundred years ago.

Olive, Shenandoah Co., Va., Jan. 15, 1808; d. at Seneca, Newton Co., Mo., Apr. 29, 1879; m. first, in his native Co. and State, June 2, 1829, MILDRED BROWNING, dau. of Elisha, b. near Strasburg, Va., same county, Aug. 15, 1809; d. Apr. 19, 1853, bur. near Bowers Mill, Mo. Second, m. Mar. 22, 1855, MRS. MARTHA JANE RILEY, nee Elam, b. at Springfield, Ill., June 2, 1829; d. at Leavenworth, Kans., 1881. Mr. Hottel left Woodstock, Va., in 1840, journeying with team and covered wagon on the old state road through Ohio and other states to St. Louis and Springfield, settling 60 miles west of the latter place, near Sarcoxie, at Bowers Mill, on Spring River in Beery, now Lawrence Co., Mo., where he spent the greater part of his life as a farmer. But he was more than a farmer. He was a Justice of the Peace, and was known to hold court at his house for two weeks at a time, trying large cases such as are tried now in county courts. Lawyers from Springfield, Mo., often came to defend or prosecute cases in his court. He and his wife were members of the old Frieden's Reformed Church. This congregation and the Lutherans worshipped in the same building near Mt. Olive, Va., but in the West he was a Lutheran, some say Methodist. Lewis Hottel served a short time in the Union Army in the Civil War. H. F. Hottel of Sarcoxie, Mo., dec'd, in a letter under date of Nov. 25, 1905, writes, "that unpleasant struggle with all its prejudices caused a feeling to arise between his grandfather Lewis Hottel's family and his relatives in his native state and for many years there was no correspondence between them, and even unto this day there are none who care to pay any attention to the descendants of that noble Democrat who was considered so unfortunate as to rear a family of Republican boys. It may seem strange that all southwest Missouri Hottels are Republicans, but environment doubtless, had much to do with their politics."

*John Jacob Hottel mentions in his will the name of his daughter Elizabeth as the wife of Peter Swartz, but the official marriage record at Woodstock, Va., says her husband's name was George Swartz. All investigations failed to clarify this discrepancy. It may be his full name was Peter George Swartz, or she may have been twice married. There is no evidence in either case, but "Peter" being part name of one of the sons is very significant and leads to an intimation that there must have been a clerical error or an omission somewhere in the use of the name.

Daniel lived for a while at the foot of North Mountain, 6 miles northwest of Woodstock, on one of his father's farms of 178½ acres which had been obtained from Henry Wilkin. When Daniel was 39 years old his father gave this farm to him, which was estimated at $2,000.00, with the proviso, that he pay the rest of the heirs who received no land, out of this valuation until all shared alike. Later Daniel purchased a farm on the Shenandoah River, southeast of Woodstock, Va., where he died. His life was devoted to his farm and family. Reformed Church. His sons, Jacob A. and Samuel were Confederate soldiers. Though opposed to secession, they took up arms in defense of Va. against invasion by the Federal troops.

1307x-c JARED HENRY HOTTEL⁶, b. July 24, 1843; was a soldier in the Confederate Army in the Civil War. He entered the service in the spring of 1861 at the age of seventeen. He served in Ashby's Cavalry, Co. K, Rosser's Brigade, Jeb Stuart's Corps, until he was killed in the Battle of the Wilderness, May 5, 1864, by a gunshot wound in the breast, and was carried from the field by Jacob Zirkle, a member of his company. He was bur. by his comrades in a garden under a cherry tree on the Plank Road, leading from the Wilderness to Orange Court House. Later, his body was disinterred and brought back to his home for final burial in the family graveyard. Katherine Hottel Benchoff, dau. of Milton H. Hottel, his brother, cherished in her possession a testament and a diary which he carried and which plainly show the blood stains of the fatal wound. The diary was taken Sept. 22, 1863, from the body of a Northern soldier and was kept daily throughout the rest of the year. It contains the Company Roster and also copies of the words of several songs sung around the camp fires, such as, "Lorena"—"Do They Miss Me at Home?"—"The Virginia Girl"—and one written about his regiment, "The 12th Virginia Cavalry." The following excerpts from the diary were chosen at random and show the type of the daily entries:

Sept. 22, 1863

We had a fight with Yanks at Jack's Shop in which I captured this diary of George T. Archer of the 2nd N. Y. Cavalry. We whipped the Yanks very badly. Then we crossed the Rapidan River and flanked around to the grade leading from Gordonsville to Stanardsville and encamped for the night.

October 9th

Left camp this morning about 9 o'clock. Drew five days rations and then commenced marching in the direction of Madison Court House. Gen. Lee commenced advancing today. A. P. Hill's Corps encamped near Madison C. H.

October 16th

I camped with cooks today. It was very rainy. Gen. Stuart started on a scout with all the good horses in our Division. Co. L came back to the wagons under command of Capt. Swindler. Gen. Roper took command of the Brigade.

December 9th

I was in camp today. Robert Rinker and I cooked one day's rations. I stood guard two hours for Chris Fansler. I was down with Co. E. this evening at a Singing.

The Roster of Co. K., as given in the diary:

Capt. George Grandstaff, Lieut. M. Funkhauser, Lieut. Samuel Hammon, Lieut. J. L. Osburn, Sgt. J. H. Rinker, Sgt. R. E. Hammon, Sgt. R. Newland, Sgt. C. L. Noel, Corpl. John P. Lonas, Corpl. A. F. From the battlefield a letter was sent to Col. Isaac Hottel, a copy of which is as follows:

Mydersville, Orange Co., Va.

May 5, 1864

My dear Sir:

It is my melancholy duty and with deep heartfelt regret that I do it, to inform you of the death of your son, Jared Henry Hottel, who was wounded in a severe engagement with the Yankees in the neighborhood, this morning, and died about an half hour afterward. The ball entered his left breast near the nipple and came out near the spine. He was brought to this place and it may be some satisfaction to you to know that his friends gave the best attention to his remains that time and circumstances could allow. As it is impossible to send him home, we have procured a box and buried him near a cherry tree 12 or 15 feet from the east corner of a garden attached to the house in which a man lives by the name of John Blakley. A head board marks the spot upon which is written, Jared Hottel, Co. K, 12th Va. Cav. The initials J. H. are also cut on the cherry tree on the side next to the grave. This little town is about 12 miles east of Orange Court House, on the Plank Road. The John Blakley house is on the left side of the road or street, a long, low house—a portion of it is used for a hospital today. Mr. Wm. Bargitt has what effects he had in his pockets. Samuel O. Zirkle, who belongs to his company, has taken charge of his horse and clothing.

Your son has been a good and faithful soldier, loved and respected by his companions in arms, who all regret his untimely fall.

Signed, P. J. F.

1387x-a ELIZA HOTTEL⁵, b. near Woodstock, Va., Apr. 16, 1815; d. July 29, 1901; m. in Va., in 1833, JOHN HARMON, son of Frederick, b. in Fairfield Co., O., Nov. 1, 1804; d. Sept. 21, 1869. There is a romance connected with the courtship of this couple. In 1833 Andrew Hottel ventured to Fairfield Co., O., on horseback to visit relatives and was accompanied by his daughter, Eliza. In the U. B. Church, then standing on the Frederick Harmon farm, a religious service was being held. It was here Eliza met John Harmon. The mutual attraction was so great their thoughts were centered on each other rather than on the services. Eliza returned to Va. with her father, but two weeks later John Harmon followed and they were married at the parental home. They returned to Ohio on horseback and established their home on a 140 acre tract, a part of his father's place in Pleasant Twp., Fairfield Co., where they lived happily together the remainder of their lives. On their place near their residence a new U. B. church edifice was erected, known as the Pleasant Hill Church, where they were faithful members and supporters. Here their ashes sleep awaiting the resurrection morn.

When a child of seven years, Mr. Hottel came with his parents from Va. to Corydon, Harrison Co., Ind., and grew to young manhood on his father's farm. He was a lifelong resident of Spencer Twp., near Corydon, and was a prominent farmer and a fine citizen. His son Craven Lynn Hottel, pays the following tribute to the memory of his father: "Peter Hottel obtained with his first wife a dowery of a small tract of land to which he made additions until he owned 200 acres. In personal appearance my father was about five feet and ten inches in height, and weighed in middle life about 170 pounds. His body was symmetrical and compact, and his physique, in general indicated health, strength and endurance. His temperament was of the nervo-sanguino-bilio type. He was in bed three times on account of sickness. His eyes were of a very dark brown color and shone with a peculiar brightness when incited to merriment or moved by anger, a thing which rarely occurred. I never saw my father thoroughly angered. His hair was jet black, of medium thickness and very fine. His countenance was open, frank, kindly and honest. His face was a sure passport for candor and honesty. Religiously, he was a lifelong and faithful member of the United Brethren Church. His faith was of the kind that knew no doubt, and his life was a model among men. He said but little about his religion, but he had the kind that kept him upright through life and supported him in death. Politically, he was a Democrat at all times and in all places. His first vote was cast for Andrew Jackson, and his last for Samuel J. Tilden. His political principles were a part of his religion. He always voted a "straight ticket," because in so doing he believed he was voting right. Thomas A. Hendricks was his ideal political leader. Socially, he was somewhat reserved, yet he loved company and enjoyed fun. He always had a kind word for little children. His early education in books was limited to a brief schooling in German, and a three months' term in English. In his early life he boarded teachers and learned much from them. His education, however, was of a practical kind and was sufficient to enable him to perform the duties of township trustee and county commissioner, the last named office he filled for eleven years. His grave is in the Thompson Chapel Cemetery, beside that of his second wife. On a plain marble slab, which marks his grave, are the very appropriate words: 'Servant of God, well done.'"

1568x-b GEORGE HOTTEL⁴, second child of David and Margaret Hottel, see No. 3x-e. Born on the headwaters of Toms Brook and Funk's Mill Run, near North Mountain, close to the hamlet, Mt. Olive, Shenandoah Co., Va., about 1781; m. BARBARA HOTTEL, first cousins, dau. of Henry Sr., see No. 336x-d. The early part of their married life was spent in Rockingham Co., Va., perhaps near Dayton, where their first four children were born; then in 1812, they settled in the wilds of Fairfield Co., now Hocking Co., O., on a hill farm of 120 acres, three miles southeast of Bremen, O. Here they erected a large log house for themselves, labored and endured the rigors of a new country. A second log house was built in the same yard which was occupied for a time by Barbara's people, probably a brother, Henry, who once lived in the same county but later returned to Crawford Springs, Va. The first house still stands unoccupied, the second was torn down in 1923. George Hottel was a farmer and a member of the German Reformed Church. He died of erysipelas in 1849. His wife died of dropsy somewhat younger than he. There being no public graveyard near, they were buried on their farm not far from the house, and their son David lies by their side. All their graves are without markers. These sturdy pioneer settlers were of the sterling stock which formed the foundation upon which prosperity of the state has been built, an honest, God-fearing people who did their daily duty and lived in peace and quiet among their neighbors and assisted in the development of their community. The orthography of the name "Hottel," was changed to "Huddle," when they came to Ohio.

1719x-d DANIEL HUDDLE⁵, fourth child of George, b. in Rockingham Co., Va., probably near Dayton, Oct. 20, 1809; d. Oct. 24, 1877; m. Mar. 14, 1834, BARBARA BEERY, b. near Bremen, O., July 18, 1814; d. of cancer of the stomach, May 14, 1864. She was the dau. of Abraham and Catherine (Fast) Beery, a granddaughter of the immigrant, Nicholas Beery, of Swiss stock. Daniel was a small boy with his parents when they traveled by wagon from Rockingham county, crossed the Allegheny mountains, and the Ohio River, experiencing hardships that we of this day know nothing about, and after weeks on the road, finally reached Fairfield Co., O., the new land of promise, where great opportunities presented themselves to pioneers. Daniel grew up on his father's farm near Bremen. He and his devoted wife lived an industrious and agricultural life, and were noted for their upright Christian characters and charitable deeds toward the poor. They first lived a few miles southeast of Lancaster, O., later midway between Bremen and North Berne in Fairfield Co., where they both died. It has been said that Daniel never went to law with contending parties, but instead suffered great loss. In politics he was first a Whig, then a Republican. He and his wife were adherents of the River Brethren Church, and on their farm stands unoccupied a small church building, which they helped to erect and support, and in which they worshipped during their lifetime. In that church yard on the hill their bodies await the resurrection of the just.

Mar. 12, 1888, MALINDA SURFACE, b. at New Hope, Preble Co., O., Aug. 20, 1849; d. June 21, 1912. When quite young Noah moved with his parents to near Bremen, O., where he resided until after his marriage. In 1860, he moved near Kalida, O., where he engaged in farming and ran a sawmill. On Oct. 2, 1882, he with his family moved near Chattanooga, Tenn., and engaged in fruit growing and gardening on the west slope of Missionary Ridge, also in the mercantile business in Chattanooga. In 1887 he returned to Ohio, settling near West Sonora, where he farmed a few years, then moved to West Sonora, and was postmaster under President Cleveland's first administration. In connection with the post office he conducted a grocery store. He was a Democrat in politics, and Justice of the Peace in Putnam Co. for many years, also a member of the school board in both Putnam and Preble Counties. He and his first wife were Primitive Baptists. His second wife belonged to the U. B. Church. His declining years were spent with his youngest daughter, Mrs. William Taylor, near Phillipsburg, O., where he died and was bur. by the side of his second wife in the Lewisburg Cem.

Jan. 19, 1860, CATHERINE SHUMAKER, dau. of David and Susan (Errett) Shumaker, b. near Galion, Crawford Co., Ohio, Oct. 13, 1837; d. Apr. 8, 1918, both were bur. in Forest Hill Cemetery. He grew up in this pioneer county. His educational privileges were limited to a few weeks of schooling during the winter months of his childhood and early manhood. They began housekeeping in a log cabin on the Shumaker homestead near Galion. In Aug., 1861, they moved by covered wagon and team to a tract of wild and uncultivated land, near Napoleon, Henry Co., Ohio, that was entered by her father. The clearing of the virgin forest, log rollings, and erection of buildings, made up the interesting career of these pioneers of early days. But as the years passed and finances permitted, more modern buildings were put up, which bear the impress of thrift and enterprise. Mr. Huddle was a successful agriculturist and stock raiser. In later years he devoted great care in the cultivation of different kinds of fruits and berries. Politically, he was a Republican, later a Prohibitionist. He led a simple, active and methodical life. He was well informed on current events and movements of the day. He and his wife were members of the Evangelical Church in Napoleon. He made a great record as a churchman, was class leader 49 years, and contributed liberally to her activities. He enjoyed the esteem and confidence of the people and helped to make history in Henry County.

1853x-a WILLIAM DAVID HUDDLE^r, b. in a log cabin on the Shumaker farm near Galion, Ohio, Feb. 2, 1861; d. in Westerville, Ohio, Apr. 10, 1928. When six months old he came with his parents to Napoleon, O., where he grew to young manhood on his father's farm. He received his preliminary education in the rural district and Napoleon schools. He m. first, Sept. 22, 1887, SUSAN IDA BOND, an estimable lady and daughter of Reuben and Sarah (Bolender) Bond, b. near Wauseon, Ohio, June 21, 1861; d. at Belmore, O., Aug. 7, 1910, bur. at Napoleon. She left a beautiful testimony of unselfish fidelity to her church by bequeathing her earthly possessions to the Theological Seminary at Naperville, Ill., to be used for the education of young ministers. The Rev. Huddle m. second, Jan. 23, 1912, MRS. LULU MAY VALENTINE, widow of Dr. H. C. Valentine, and dau. of the late Henry O. and Catherine (Stone) Harden, of English ancestry. She was b. at Stoutsville, Ohio, May 26, 1873. She was educated in the schools of her native village. Taught for six years, and also assisted her father in the office of the "Fairfield-Pickaway News."

The Rev. Huddle's interest in religious matters dates from his early youth. He united with the Evangelical Church in 1878. Out of a background of intense conviction of sin, came a definite and satisfying religious experience upon which he pillowed his head at the time of his departure. He received a definite call to the ministry and characteristic of his usual method of procedure, immediately set about to prepare himself for his life work. In 1883 he entered North-Central College at Naperville, Ill., and graduated from the Latin Scientific course, June 16, 1887, with B. S. degree. At Mt. Cory in 1885, he was licensed to preach and joined the Ohio Conference at Cleveland in 1887. He served for seventeen years, pastorates at Gibsonburg, Mt. Cory, Lancaster, Westerville and other places. Here intervened a period of three and one-half years in which he sustained the relationship of supernumerary, because of ill health. Entering active work again he served nineteen years. Just prior to his passing he acted as supply pastor for Como Ave. Church, Columbus, Ohio, for two months. He was treasurer of the Ohio Conference for eighteen years (1910-1928) and was always painstaking in the care of his accounts. He displayed good business judgment throughout his administration. Funeral services were held at Westerville, where he had lived since 1917, and Napoleon, Ohio. Interment at Napoleon. Twenty-seven ministers were present at each service.

The Rev. Huddle was engaged in the preparation of the "Hottel Genealogy" when his death occurred. His wife assumed the task of its completion.

GEORGE HUDDLE'S WILL

It is believed that the descendants of George Huddle will be interested in reading his last will and testament which was admitted to probate in the court of Botetourt Co., Va., at Fincastle, Sept., 1794. The instrument is exceedingly interesting, showing his religious belief and his painstaking care of the testator in the handling of his estate. It is as follows:

In the name of God, Amen. The 28th day of Feb., 1794.

*MARGARET WINEMAN, after the death of George Huddle, m. June 18, 1795, JACOB SNYDER, to whom one dau., EVE, was born, who m. MILES TINNEY, and to this marriage, SUSAN WINEMAN TINNEY was born, who m. JAMES MADISON FIGGAT. To them sons and daughters were born. Miss Janie R. Figgat, Fincastle, Va., is informant.

I, George Huddle, of Botetourt Co., and state of Va., being sick of body, but of good and perfect memory, thanks be to Almighty God, and calling to remembrance the uncertain state of this transitory life, and that all flesh must yield unto death when it shall please God to call; do make, constitute and ordain and declare this my last will and testament in manner and form following, revoking and annulling by these presents all and every testament and testaments and wills heretofore by me made and declared either by word or writing, and this is to be taken only for my last will and testament and none other; and, first being penitent and sorry from the bottom of my heart for sins, past, most humbly desiring forgiveness of the same.

I give and commit my soul unto my Saviour and Redeemer in whom and by the merits of Jesus Christ, I trust and believe assuredly to be saved, and to have remission and forgiveness of my sins, that my soul with my body at the General Resurrection shall rise again with joy, and through the merits of Christ's death and passion possess and inherit the kingdom of heaven prepared for his elect and chosen; and my body to be buried in such a place where it shall please my executors hereafter named to appoint and now for settling my temporal estate and such goods and chattels and debts as it has pleased God far above my deserts to bestow upon me.

Item, I give and bequeath unto my wife, Margaret, the house and lot I now at present live in and own during her carnal life and after her decease, I will that it shall be sold and then the money that shall arise from it shall be equally divided among my three children, George, Elizabeth and Christian, and such land as I now have in possession there be sold thereof as much in four or five acre lots to pay those debts I now at present owe provided there be not income and property enough to satisfy them, but if there is income enough to pay those debts I now at present owe, there shall be none of the land sold and the interest arising from the said land shall fall to my wife, Margaret, until my oldest son is of age, if she remains a widow, but if in case she should marry before my oldest son is of age, the interest of the said land shall be taken from her and put to the use of my three children above mentioned, and as soon as my oldest son is of age the land shall be sold and equally divided among the above named children, and if either of the children should happen to die before it arrives to its age, the mentioned estate is to be equally divided between the other two.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal this day and date above mentioned.

Signed, George Huddle.

1991x-a GEORGE HUDDLE, III⁴, son of George, b. at Fincastle, Va., about 1789; d. in 1825; m. May 16, 1801, Alexander Balman, officiating, BARBARA WILFONG. They were married in Va., and the same year emigrated to Ohio accompanied by his brother Christian, settling near Londonderry, now Gillespieville, Ross Co., O., where they built a log cabin on the tract of land they had bought. Ohio was then wild, swampy and heavily timbered. Ague, milk sickness and wild beasts abounded. Mode of travel was by team, (sometimes ox-team) covered wagon and camping outfit. Having heard that Sandusky County was a fine farming community, George and his family moved to that county, bought land and erected a house, his brother Christian helping him. The venture was disappointing as George was taken ill with milk sickness and remained only a few years. He fancied that if he were back to his original domicile in Ross Co., he would recover his health. The transfer was made, but he never regained his health and died in 1825, and bur. at the Schooley Cem. He was a tanner and farmer. Their children were all born in O. Dunkard Church.

1991x-c CHRISTIAN HUDDLE⁴, son of George, was b. at Fincastle, Botetourt Co., Va., July 3, 1793, according to tradition he was a hunchback and but one year old when his father died and was reared by Mr. Brubaker. He was in school but twelve days. He was a self-educated, intelligent man, well read in the Bible and a member of the Christian Church. Mr. Huddle was a carpenter by trade and built many houses in Chillicothe and Ross County. On ceasing from active labor he lived with his dau. Mrs. Martha Walker, of Burlington Junction, Mo., where he d. Jan. 6, 1883. He m. Mar. 6, 1817, NANCY KELLEY, b. in Ross Co., Ohio, Dec. 29, 1798; d. near Chillicothe, July 30, 1867. He learned his mother's language, German, in youth and often amused his grandchildren by talking "Dutch." In later life he remembered but little of it. Mr. Huddle served in the War of 1812 and was a member of Virginia guards and was on duty on the stage at a theatre in Richmond on the night of Dec. 26, 1811, when the theatre was burned down and 72 lives were destroyed. He attended the funeral of the victims which was conducted by a young Baptist minister, taking as a text the first five verses of the 13th chapter of St. Luke. The scenes of that fatal night never faded from his mind. He came to Ohio in 1815, accompanied by his older brother, George, and they settled near Londonderry, now Gillespieville, O., Ross Co. After Christian married he established a home between Gillespieville and Chillicothe, where he labored, prospered and reared his five ch., whose descendants have gone to the western states.

Nov. 27, 1801, both were entombed in the Funkhouser Cem., on the farm upon which they settled in 1775 on Mill Creek, one and one-half miles above the present site of Mt. Jackson, Va. Here they owned a large acreage of choice land and engaged in farming as their principal vocation. In 1782, Dorothy received as a legacy from her father 404 acres of land lying in Hampshire Co., Va., now W. Va. There were stirring times during the early years of their marriage. The Revolutionary War was fought and George Washington made President of the United States.

ORIGIN OF THE FUNKHOUSERS

Jacob Funkhouser's parents, John and Mary, originally came from Zurich, Switzerland to America some time between 1700 and 1740, and settled in the northern neck of Va., on the headwaters of Tumbling Run, about four miles west of Strasburg, Va., formerly Stoverstown, Dunmore Co. At that time this section was a wilderness and inhabited only by the Indians. Deer roamed through the forests and the streams abounded in fish, ducks and geese. Wild and dangerous beasts were plentiful. They were schooled in the hardships of pioneer times. They owned large grants of land from Lord Thomas Fairfax, Baron of Cameron. They felled the giant oak and erected their log cabin in the wild woodlands when the track of the red man was there. They preferred such environments in a land dedicated to religious and political freedom rather than to suffer persecution in their native land. In this traditional home nine children were born, one of whom was Jacob Funkhouser, who married Dorothy Hottel.

JACOB FUNKHOUSER'S WILL

Believing that the many descendants of Jacob and Dorothy (Hottel) Funkhouser will appreciate it, we herewith reproduce in full the last will and testament of Jacob Funkhouser, admitted to probate in court of Shenandoah Co., Va., at Woodstock, Jan. 11, 1802. The document is exceedingly interesting, showing the religious frame of mind and the painstaking care of the testator to have everything done carefully and justly. It is as follows:

In the name of God, Amen:

I, Jacob Funkhouser of Shenandoah County, State of Virginia, yeoman, being in low state of health, but of perfect mind and memory, for which thanks be given to God, do make and ordain this my last Will and Testament in manner following:

I recommend my soul into the hands of Almighty God, that gave it, and my body I recommend to the earth to be buried in a decent Christian burial at the discretion of my executors; and as touching such worldly estate wherewith it has pleased God to bless me in this life, I give, devise and dispose of the same in the following manner and form:

First, I give and bequeath unto Dorothy my dearly beloved wife, the place, land and plantation whereon I now live, during her natural life, and a full third part of all movable estate whatsoever after being appraised, and that she shall keep all my children that are yet under age and raise them until they become of full age, and the said children shall be obedient and shall in the fear of the Lord obey her and assist her as their duty requires. But if my said wife shall marry again then she is to have the third part of my land and plantation to live on, or have the third of the produce thereof as long as she lives, and what children are then under age, to do with them as shall seem best to the satisfaction of the executors and good friends; and if my said wife remains in a widowhood state and should get infirm or incapable of assisting and providing for the living as aforesaid; on said place, then it is my will that she shall have a sufficient maintenance from her children out of my estate.

Second, That to my oldest son, George, I give him the sorrel horse as he now claims as his own, to have free besides his equal portion of my estate.

Third, To my eldest daughter, Mary, I likewise give in the same manner a bed and bedding, furniture and a cow, to have free besides her equal portion.

Fourth, The remainder of my movable estate is to be appraised (after my wife's third is deducted), each of my children to have an equal share thereof, and no vendue or public sale to be made, but if it should become necessary that any of the estate should be sold it should be sold at private sale.

The names of my children are: George, David, Mary, Jacob, Abraham, Joel, Dorothy, Daniel and John. And the land and plantation whereon I now live shall be divided as to make four places, and the land in Rockingham Co. be divided, if it be judged convenient, into two places. And said land and plantation shall be appraised in a reasonable valuation, not too high. And these of my children that get land shall give or be made so that each of my children shall have an equal part of the valuation, in like manner as in the movable estate, as aforesaid.

And as for the land, my eldest son George, is to have first choice of the land, and the next oldest of my sons, the next choice, that is of each of them as will take land. So that such as get no land to have an equal share of the same. Further, and if it be so that any of the children die before they come to their free age or die without bodily heirs, then such ones share or portion shall be an equal share among the rest yet living. And there shall be no objection or hindrance on the part of my said wife if any of my sons shall want to live on said lands as aforesaid divided and appraised, and take the same for his dividend, she with her consent shall allow it, provided it be no incumbrance to the same.

And further, That if the children shall come to their full age, they shall have their equal part of their movables, and likewise their portion of the valuation of the lands if they shall have need thereof, either in part or the whole of such as get or have lands, that is if they can do it without injuring themselves, otherwise to pay them off in reasonable terms of payment. And further that after the death of my wife whatever there be left of her estate bequeathed to her should be equally divided among the rest of my children and their heirs. And the lands bequeathed as aforesaid, be to them, their heirs and assigns, forever. It is to be understood that the lands bequeathed as aforesaid, are to my sons.

I likewise constitute, make and my son George and Micheal Growes, Sr., the sole executors of this my last will and testament. And I disallow and revoke all former testaments, wills, legacies, &., ratifying and confirming this to be my last Will and Testament.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal this 26th day of Sept. in the year of our Lord, 1801.

THE FUNKHOUSER BOOK

For the collection of valuable material and information that enter into this chapter much credit belongs to the Funkhouser History, a small volume collated and published in 1902 by the late Jacob Funkhouser, son of John H. Funkhouser. From this book we have gleaned "the finest of the wheat," amplified many incomplete parts and in many instances made use of the author's language as facts and figures could not be better stated.

Here he spent his boyhood and attended the rural school until adult age. Being of a musical and mechanical turn of mind, young Jacob became very skillful in the making of musical instruments and other contrivances. At the age of 20, he sought an apprenticeship in the small reed and pipe organ factory of the M. P. Moller Organ Co., Hagerstown, Md. He soon won his way into the directorship of the entire plant that has become the largest Pipe Organ Factory in the world. In 1921, he became vice-president and general manager and has traveled extensively throughout the United States, South America and Europe in the interests of the company. To his credit he has many unique and important organ patents. He is a member of the Episcopal Church and a 32 degree Scottish Rite Mason and belongs to other fraternal orders. He m. McMurray, Hedgesville, W. Va., Feb. 24, 1928. She comes from one of Virginia's most cultured families, a lady of charming personality, a typical gentle woman of the old South, and of a deeply religious nature. She has for many years been a faithful member of the Presbyterian Church. At the outbreak of the War Between the States, Mr. Funkhouser enlisted in the Confederate army, Co. C, 7th V. C., the noted "Laurel Brigade," and served throughout the war with distinguished bravery in many major battles and skirmishes at various points in the Valley and West Virginia. He was promoted to captaincy of his company and upon two occasions had horses killed in action, one at the battle of the Wilderness and the other while taking part in Hampton's Raid, when 2000 of Grant's beef cattle were captured and brought into the Confederate lines. After the war Capt. Funkhouser and his bride engaged in farming and for many years resided near Mt. Jackson, where their home was famed for delightful hospitality. He was a member of the school board of the county, and an official member of the U. B. Church. His membership was transferred to the Presbyterian Church upon retiring to Woodstock, Va. about 1907. He was interested in religious activities and civic affairs. Four ch. were b. at Mt. Jackson, Va.

Dr. Funkhouser spent his early years on the parental farm, in the beautiful Shenandoah Valley in full view of the picturesque Massanutten mountain, the winter months being devoted to the country schools. In the fall of 1860 he entered the preparatory department of Otterbein College, Westerville, Ohio, and was one of the early graduates. Although knowing that some of his brothers were in the Southern army, on Aug. 4, 1862, Dr. Funkhouser with other students, signed up with John Mock, recruiting for Co. A, the 95th Ohio Volunteer Regt. By the 30th of the same month he was in the battle of Richmond, Ky., where he was slightly wounded and captured with several thousand others, but was soon paroled by his captor. After being exchanged he served during the rest of the war, being with Gen. Grant through the whole of the great Vicksburg campaign and with Gen. Smith in rescuing Gen. Banks on the notorious Red River expedition. The latter part of his war service he was clerk at headquarters of Gen. Smith. After the war, Mr. Funkhouser returned to college, graduated June, 1868, with the degree of B. A., three years later received degree of A. M., to which was later added the honorary degree of D. D. by Otterbein, and still later that of LL. D. by Lebanon Valley College. He also graduated from Western Theological Seminary (Presbyterian) at Pittsburgh, Pa., May, 1871. He was one of the founders of the first Theological Seminary, now Bonebrake Theological Seminary, the ministers' training school of the U. B. Church, Dayton, O. He became professor of New Testament, Greek and Homiletics, and its president from Oct. 11, 1871 to 1913. He did the unusual thing of declining the Bishopric, to which position the General Conference of 1893, had elected him. Such honors are not often refused. He was made Prof. Emeritus and Director of Seminary Extension Work, 1913-21. It is given to but few men to serve a great church one-half century in one capacity as was the privilege of Dr. Funkhouser. The Bible was indeed his vade mecum. 2193x-h DANIEL FUNKHOUSER⁴, the eighth child of Jacob, b. on Mill Creek, near Mt. Jackson, Shenandoah Co., Va., about 1795; grew to adult life on his father's farm and had the same educational advantages as other members of the family in those pioneer days. He improved his opportunities well and developed those sturdy, industrious and frugal traits which marked him in after life. He m. his brother David's widow, MRS. CATHERINE FUNKHOUSER, nee Deisinger, dau. of Peter, in violation of an arbitrary law which was afterwards rescinded. Fearing indictment and prosecution in the courts of Va. for this, he went West about 1820, to a country far more pioneer than the one he left, locating near Circleville, Pickaway Co., Ohio, where he died in 1829 and was survived by his widow and four ch.

2355x-a Amos Funkhouser⁵, b. about 1821; d. aged 12 years from injuries received when thrown from a horse.

2355x-d Sarah Funkhouser⁵, b. May 11, 1827

2355x-b ELIZA FUNKHOUSER⁵, b. near Circleville, Ohio, Dec. 12, 1823; d. near Laredo, Grundy Co., Mo., Aug. 10, 1898; was m. July 7, 1844, at Findlay, O., to JOHN WOODWARD THOMPSON, b. at Lancaster, Pa., Apr. 17, 1813; d. near Laredo, July 10, 1892. The early married life of this couple was spent in Fairfield Co., Ohio. In the fall of 1853, in quest of his health, they settled near Springfield, Ill., and in 1856, crossed the Mississippi River at St. Louis, and settled at Linneus, Linn Co., Mo., where their oldest child, Emma Jane, died of malaria fever. Broken hearted over this loss in a strange land Mr. Thompson begged his wife to return with him to the old home in Ohio. He regretted very much that he ever left it. She thought of the long weary journey back, so decided to stay in Missouri, and in the following spring they settled near the village of Apha, Grundy Co., on a farm adjoining the farm owned by Henry Rinker, a native of Va. and a second cousin to Eliza. Their nearest railway town was Trenton, the county seat, 15 miles away. Mr. Thompson was a tailor by trade in Ohio and Illinois, but engaged in agriculture in Mo. They were deeply religious and were members of the Methodist Church at Lindley, seven miles distant. In later years the Methodists held services in the little old red "Bethel" schoolhouse that was built on the corner of their farm, where Mr. Thompson was class leader and had charge of the Sunday School. He was a valuable asset to the community. In 1873, they again deeply mourned the loss of Mary C., a sweet girl with blue eyes and fair hair, who was laid away in Holloway Cemetery five miles from the Thompson home. Later, parents and other relatives were bur. at the same place. They left a blessed heritage to posterity. Mrs. Eliza Thompson lamenting that she had never seen her father's kinsmen and learning that several families of them were living at Plattsburg, Mo., decided to visit that city with the view of forming their acquaintance. She arrived at the above city, Sept. 1, 1895, and had the pleasure of meeting three of her first cousins, Abraham, George and John A. Funkhouser. She received the most cordial greeting and welcome at their homes. It seemed to have been a happy meeting of kindred sympathy and sentiment replete with history and pleasant memories. She stated that her father Daniel had d. in Ohio in 1828 or 29, and that she was then 72 years of age and had been married more than forty years. Facts regarding her visit were gleaned from the Funkhouser history.

Frazey. Mr. Sparks grew to young manhood in Clinton Co., Ia., and in 1882, went to S. Dakota to take part in the development of that country, graduated from the commercial Dept. of Dakota Univ. at Mitchell, June 8, 1890, returning to his native state in 1895, took up his residence and established a photographic studio in Marshalltown. He retired from active business in 1916, spending part of his winters in Calif. He and his family belong to the M. E. Church of Marshalltown and he served on the official board for many years. Dr. Merle Smith, his biographer, spoke in highest terms of Mr. Sparks' Christian life, saying among other things: "There was an element of reliability about him that is very fine to think about. He was one of those dependable people who make possible the real work of the church of God on earth, who live quietly and modestly but truly and sincerely." His life has been a real contribution to Christianity.

Aug. 9, 1821, CHRISTINA FISHER, dau. of George and Barbara (Biedler) Fisher, b. near Edinburg, Va., Oct. 2, 1800; d. Oct. 7, 1874. In early childhood his parents died, leaving him to be reared and educated by his older brothers. At 16 years of age he learned the saddlery and harness trade at New Market, Va. He then married and purchased a farm of 313 acres eight and one-half miles west of Harrisonburg, Va., and owned a number of slaves who were afterwards emancipated by the Civil War. His farm products were marketed at Fredericksburg, Richmond, Scottsville and Alexandria. Later Winchester became the great flour market, hence his team traversed the Valley turnpike, taking 20 barrels of flour at a load. In 1862 his team was pressed into army service. He went with it to Huntersville, W. Va., hoping he would be permitted to return with it. In this he was disappointed and had to sell the team and wagon to the Confederacy. He died the next year leaving a widow and eight children. They were bur. on their farm in a private lot. All their children were b. at Rawley Springs, Rockingham Co., Va.

2407x-a Joel Funkhouser⁵, b. Nov. 16, 1822; d. paralysis May 18, 1891.

A red scotch granite in Green Lawn Cem. at Plattsburg, Mo., perpetuates the memory of this loyal and dutiful son. He was brought up on his father's farm and being apt to learn was commended by his teachers for the progress made in his studies and for his deportment. He visited Iowa several times, and in 1856 located at Plattsburg, Mo., where he engaged in merchandising until 1862; at this time he bought out the Clinton Co. Insurance Co., a banking institution, which he conducted until 1866. He then formed a partnership with James M. Clay and established the firm which bore their names, Clay and Funkhouser Banking Co. No house stood higher in financial circles for integrity and sound business. He was cashier of this bank and was popular in Northwest Mo. His estate was estimated at over $100,000. He was an invalid many years; unkm.

2407x-b Barbara Funkhouser⁵, b. about 1825; d. May 13, 1894. She was a member of New Election Church from Nov. 16, 1850. She was an invalid and endured more than two years of confinement to her bed. Unkm.

2407x-c Mary F. Funkhouser⁵, b. about 1828; d. Oct. 18, 1893. She was a member of the New Election Church from Jan. 20, 1855. She was a constant attendant at the bedside of her invalid sister, Barbara, until physical weakness and disease prevented. After much suffering she entered into rest; unkm.

2407x-d Jacob Funkhouser⁵, b. at Rawley Springs, Va., Mar. 30, 1830; d. at same place, July 14, 1903. One year prior to his departure, he collated and published a history of the Funkhouser family, particularly of Jacob and Dorothy (Hottel) Funkhouser and their descendants. This small but invaluable volume has been a great aid in the writing of this history. Though some parts were only given in outline form, they have been developed by the author. Credit is due Mr. Funkhouser for many accurate details made use of in the compilation of the Funkhouser chapter.

2407x-f Elizabeth T. Funkhouser⁵, b. about 1836; no further record

2407x-g George F. Funkhouser⁵, b. May 20, 1839; fell on the field of battle at the age of 25 years. He was a diligent student and made commendable progress in his books, preparing for a professional career when the war broke out between the states, but the call of his country was to him more than personal distinction and he was prompt to offer himself for the defense. About June 1, 1861, he entered Co. I, First Regt. Va. Cav., afterwards in Gen. Fitz Lee's Div. He was constantly with his regiment in all the campaigns in Va., Md. and Pa.; in the first battle of Manassas, operations of the Peninsula, seven days battle around Richmond, the battle of the Wilderness and many others. He bore a part in the series of battles down to the brilliant cavalry victory gained near Charles City Court House, on Friday evening, June 24, 1864. It was then that Sergt. George F. Funkhouser fell, killed instantly by a shot through the heart. He was bur. in the family lot at home. He was kind and modest and a faithful friend.

2407x-h JOHN A. J. FUNKHOUSER⁵, youngest of a family of eight children, b. Aug. 8, 1844; m. Nov. 6, 1867, ALICE HANGER, of Augusta Co., Va. He was a student at Mr. Neal's School at North Mountain when the war broke out. His father hired a substitute for him, but notwithstanding the substitute who was at his post of duty, the Confederacy required his services. He joined Capt. Woodson's Co. of partisan rangers and continued in service to the close of the war. He then attended Prof. S. J. Coffman's school in Albemarle, later Prof. Hoover's H. S. at Churchville. He obtained a good education and followed teaching, then later engaged in merchandising at Churchville for some years. In 1885, he moved to Plattsburg, Mo., where he had a large hardware establishment for many years. Later he was interested in an Electrical Light Plant and in the banking business and was vice president of the Clay and Funkhouser Banking Co. He was successful in business and owned an imposing and lovely residence where he died Apr. 20, 1898. Children were b. at Churchville, Va.

Jan. 18, 1849, both bur. at W. Alexandria, O. The early married life of this couple was spent in the community of their birth but in 1832, they with their dau. Lucy and her husband ventured to Ohio. They loaded up the family and their goods on wagons and started out to find new land and opportunities in that western state, settling two and one-half miles east of West Alexandria, in Preble County, which was then comparatively unsettled. The land was wild and covered with heavy timber and much of it was extremely swampy. Conveniences and comforts were few. Roads, churches and schools were practically non-existent. But time has wrought great changes. By thrift and industry the land has been cleared and broken. Good roads, churches, and schools, conveniences and comforts have come. Many descendants of this pioneer family are found in and about W. Alexandria. They have fine homes and are prosperous. The virtues of their ancestors, names and deeds are a part of Ohio's cherished pioneer annals.

In 1782, her father gave her 409 acres of land in Hampshire Co., Va., now W. Va., which he received by a grant from Lord Thomas Fairfax, Aug. 19, 1772. Their home in Virginia was in Shenandoah Co., about five miles northwest of Mt. Jackson, not far from where her sister Dorothy, the wife of Jacob Funkhouser, lived. Here their ten children were born.

EMIGRATE TO OHIO

This young couple in Oct., 1805, loaded up their family and their goods on wagons and bade farewell to the land of their kindred, turned their faces westward, spending about a month in the journey, driving over mountains, through dense forests, deep and treacherous streams, amid privations, hardships and dangers until wearied and tired in body with the long journey, they arrived at North Bristol, Trumbull Co., O., a country more primitive and wild than the one they had left. The site that was to be the future home of Jacob and Anna Hamman was a dense forest. Their indomitable energy surmounted difficulties and succeeded in everything they undertook. Their first task was to clear the land and establish a home. Log-rollings, frequent in that day were not only times for work, but also were social occasions of liveliest interest. In those early clearings, trees were burned that would have made millions of feet of lumber, which now would bring fabulous prices in the market. But there was no other way for the early settlers to subsist. The cleared soil was worth more to them than the timber. The farm formerly owned by Jacob and Anna Hamman is now owned by a great grandson, Charles F. Norton.

JACOB HAMMAN A REVOLUTIONARY SOLDIER

Jacob Hamman had a taste of British oppression and like the patriots who banded together at the opening of the Revolutionary War, he resented the passing of the Stamp Act and other injustices by the hand

*There is a tradition in the family that the Hamman ancestor came over with Lord Baltimore, but inasmuch as Lord Baltimore sailed from England, if the original Jacob Hamman came with him, he was probably a refugee in England because of the fierce persecution and required militarism of his native country. It is believed that Jacob Hamman was a Lutheran.

of King George III. When the call to arms was sounded Jacob joined the Colonial Army at Germantown, Pa., which had been his home since coming across the ocean. Then came the heart breaking campaigns with Gen. Washington at Valley Forge, Trenton and the disastrous battle and hasty retreat from Germantown. But the tide turned and before long Jacob was standing with the victorious Colonials at Yorktown—Cornwallis had surrendered.

OFFICIAL WAR RECORD

Jacob Hamman is shown on a general muster roll of the Second Battalion of Northampton Co. Militia, May 14, 1778. He belonged to Co. 6. See Penna. Archives, 5th series, Vol. 8, Page 114—D. A. R. Library, Washington, D. C.

FAMILY RECORD

Just before going to war Jacob Hamman bought a new Bible for his family, a fine old German book, printed in 1763. Jacob prospered and was happy. He was on the threshold of new pride, new glory—the arrival of a new offspring to carry on the family name. A cold October wind was blowing snow through the crack under the cabin door. Jacob put another log on the fire. He lit his pipe on the new blaze. The neighbors and others were all in the bedroom extending first greetings to his youngest. Jacob opened his faithful old Bible, lit a fresh candle and brought quill and ink from the pantry. Then he pulled up his chair to the table. The Bible should contain the story of his family. This is what Jacob wrote on the fly-leaf: "This Bible belongs to Jacob Hamman and he bought it in the year of our Lord, 1774. On Apr. 12, I was married."

The names and birth dates of his children were written with a bold hand in German script. After most of their names the sign of the Zodiac in which they were born was given. We are indebted to the present owner, a great-great-grandson, Otto J. Hamman, of Cleveland, O., for the English translation from the original. We record the same herewith, as he wrote it, prefixing the number to correspond to the chronological order in which they are considered in this work.

Feb. 13, 1890; m. in Virginia, JOSEPH FELLER, b. at Toms Brook, Va., July 13, 1814; d. Sept., 1889, both bur. in the Crabill Cemetery, 5 miles south of Corydon. Mr. Feller was a cabinet maker. His skill was utilized in the making of furniture and coffins. This young couple first established their home at Toms Brook, where eight ch. were b. But in Oct., 1857, they ventured to the then "far West" over rough roads or no roads at all, mountains, streams, and thick and tangled forests, reaching their new home at Corydon, Harrison Co., Ind., where they spent the rest of their lives. Robbers, wild beasts and other dangers unknown today confronted these plucky pioneers. In later years they often looked back to this trip, to the parting benedictions of relatives and old saint's love and prayers, with great satisfaction and pride. Lutherans. Two more ch. were b. at Corydon, Ind.

*Tradition relates that three Fansler brothers emigrated West from Virginia about the year 1800. Henry stopped in western Va., Peter and John went on to Ohio.

Aug. 21, 1904, bur. at Bristolville. Hannah spent her childhood in the East, coming with her parents to Bristol at the age of 14 years. She was a member of the Methodist church from girlhood and was a loving, faithful companion for 53 years. Henry Fansler began life with a splendid constitution, a brave heart and willing hands. By dint of hard and earnest toil he became a prosperous farmer and stockman. He had quite a reputation as a breeder of fast trotting horses. His early education was received in a log schoolhouse and though meager, because of his intelligence he became a good reader and writer, keeping abreast of the times. In 1870, he purchased a farm of 142½ acres in Bazetta Tp., where he and his second wife died. They were cared for by their youngest daughter, Harriet Amelia Fansler, who still occupies the homeplace. He was a Methodist, and was bur. at Bazetta, near Cortland, Ohio. The Fanslers were all musicians including the great-great-grandchildren of 1929.

*Gabriel Sager, son of Baltzer and Elizabeth Sager, was b. in Bavaria or Baden, Germany, July 24, 1734, a weaver by trade and Mennonite preacher; d. Jan. 31, 1816; m. Apr. 8, 1762, Margaretta Delphin, dau. of John and Margaretta Delphin, b. in Klein Biberau, Germany, Sept. 26, 1737; d. Aug. 28, 1822. According to Isaac W. Sager, Gabriel Sager accompanied by four brothers, Jacob, Adam, John and Philip, came to America in 1756, and settled in New Jersey. Soon thereafter they settled in Bucks Co., Pa., and on Sept. 27, 1765, Gabriel was naturalized by the Commonwealth of Pa. (the certificate being now in the possession of one of the direct descendants, Frank J. Sager, Carizozo, New Mexico). He lived in Bucks Co., at least ten years, how much longer is unknown, then moved to Shenandoah Co., Va., and from there to N. Bristol, Trumbull Co., O., in 1808, where he and wife died. They had eight children, the fourth being William, who preceded him to Ohio. Gabriel when a young man made several trips to America. On one occasion the vessel was driven northerly by the winds out of its course and another time it was pursued by whales. They were diverted by throwing empty barrels into the sea. Escaping this peril they confronted hunger. Their stock of provisions became exhausted and they were driven to eat rats that infested the ship. Finally after a stormy voyage of 18 weeks they reached their port.

On the fourth of June, 1905, Mr. and Mrs. Sager with their son Joseph, three years of age settled at N. Bristol, O., where there were less than half dozen families living in Bristol then and very few in adjoining townships. Tired and worn from the long trip they went to the home of Mr. Sager's brother-in-law, Abraham Baughman, for their first night's rest in the wilds of northeastern Ohio. The next morning the two men blazed their way through the forest to select a site for Sager's future home. A farm of 350 acres was purchased from Alfred Wolcott. A part of the purchase price, $300.00, was brought from Virginia in silver dollars. Sager loaned his saddle bags to Wolcott to carry this money away. While waiting for a log house to be constructed the family lived for four weeks in the covered wagon or moving van which they brought with them from Va. There was not a sawed piece of wood in the building. The floor, roof and doors were all made of puncheons split from the surrounding timber. The cabin was 18 by 20 feet and had but one room, yet when half the floor was laid, the family moved in. Their first bedstead occupied one corner. It was made by boring holes in the walls in which were inserted the ends of the side and end rails, the other ends were fastened to the only post used. Some years later Mr. Sager built a commodious frame house which is still in good repair. He built the first flour mill in his township for Abraham Baughman the next year after coming to Bristol, then later built one on his farm for himself, which he operated in connection with his farm work. Mr. Sager's father, Gabriel, a Mennonite minister organized the first church in Bristol Tp., in 1808, and taught the first school (German) in 1810-11 when he and his brother Samuel and a few others built the first schoolhouse in 1812, where N. Bristol now stands. He never identified himself with any local church, but observed the forms of family worship and lived honorably. Formerly family meetings were held in his father's residence. He was of a kindly disposition and was liked by all with whom he came in contact, but he cared little for society and rarely visited his children after their marriage, but always welcomed them at his own home and took great pleasure in their companionship.

2918x-f JOHN HENRY NEAL⁶, b. at Hiram, O., Aug. 6, 1857; m. May 14, 1885, DORCAS N. JOHNS, b. at Scio, Ore., Feb. 28, 1862. The description of his county and work is as follows: "In the late 80ties, I served as surveyor of Grant Co., Ore., which was then nearly as large as New England. The northern portion is largely occupied by the Blue Ridge Mountains, with small intervening valleys. The mountains are covered with pine forests. The southern portion is largely a great plateau, with some mountains and many hills projecting from its surface. Precipitation is scant. This vast country was thinly peopled, with few roads, in fact no roads at all that would be considered such today. To get about over this territory I used a buckboard and a light team and usually carried a camping outfit and was prepared to camp when night overtook me. At this time large game, chiefly deer and antelopes existed in almost unbelievable numbers in this country. The streams were full of trout also. Later the southern portion of Grant Co., was organized as Harney Co., and I served as surveyor of Harney Co. one term." Mr. Neal is a stockman by vocation and a Presbyterian. He lives at Beaverton, Ore.

K, 12th Va. Cav., and was looked upon as one of the bravest soldiers that his state furnished the Confederacy. He was twice wounded, a finger shot off and three horses were shot from under him. Nature endowed him with sterling qualities, a man who believed in God, faithful to his family and community. Mr. Hamman made a creditable record as a farmer, citizen and member of the M. E. Church, S. He lived near Mt. Clifton and was entombed in the Ryman Cem. A singular incident occurred at the time of his death. A family clock purchased at the time of his marriage in 1873, was observed by those present to be ticking as strongly as ever. They heard it strike three. At seven min. past the hour (July 24, 1924), it stopped just as Mr. Hamman drew his last breath.

ORIGIN OF THE KELLERS

According to their historians, the first Kellers that came to the United States were from Switzerland where their ancestors lived for centuries. Amos Keller of Tiffin, O., (who collaborated with the Rev. E. S. Shumaker, D. D., of Indianapolis, Ind., writer of the Henry Keller genealogy) visited Switzerland in 1903. While there he found a marble slab in the basement of the Minstral Cathedral in Basel bearing the following inscription: "Jacob Keller, the butcher, died Oct. 13, 1572." It is said there are hundreds of inscriptions on slabs marking Keller graves in that country. In Prof. I. D. Rupp's "30,000 Immigrants" Dr. Shumaker found fifty-six bearing the name of Keller who came to Pennsylvania from Switzerland, from the Palatinate and other parts of Germany. It is probable they were all related or were descended from one common ancestor. When Rev. Eli Keller, D. D., (historian of the Joseph Keller lineage) told Prof. A. L. Koeppen, a Dane highly educated and especially well versed in ancient history, that he traced his family to Bavaria, Prof. Koeppen said: "Ah, no, never. The name Keller is Swiss. Why at Bavaria?" "Easily enough. At the time of the great plague in the fourteenth century your ancestors, with many others, moved down from the mountains into the Rhine countries to escape the so called Black Death." "Thus, then like the noted Rhine having its sources in the snow capped Alps, we as a family have our source far back in the country of Tell and Zwingli. The blood in our veins and the thoughts of our minds may still have, after so long time, some affinity with the past—how much we cannot know, much less describe." Along with the Kellers came other families nearly all of whose surnames will be found in this genealogy. These were closely associated by intermarriages in this country with the Kellers, Hottels, Rinkers, Fravels, Sagers, Funkhousers and probably others. Our Swiss ancestors had much in common in Switzerland and in Germany. They were related to each other by marriage and religious ties in Europe and came to America together because of these relationships, seeking a peaceful home in the New World. P. S. Rhodes, associate historian, Woodstock, Va., made a thorough investigation of the various Keller families in Shenandoah Co., Va., and found there were at least three distinct families that located in the county prior to the Revolution. According to tradition they were distantly related and the similarity of names would seem to justify the claim. For an account of those not found in the Hotte! Genealogy, see appendix.

2y-e BARBARA ANNA HOTTEL², (only daughter of Johannes (John) and Margaret Hottel) was born in Europe about 1730. After her arrival in the United States she married GEORGE KELLER. According to Dr. Eli Keller, Joseph Keller, a younger brother of George, was born in Schwarzenacker, near the city of Zweibrucken, Bavaria, (Rhein-Pfalz) on March 15, 1719. This gives an approximate idea regarding the place and date of birth of George Keller. The above historian gives a word-picture of the country from which the Kellers came, especially around Zweibrucken which is exceedingly beautiful. On the east ten or twelve miles away, arise the Hardt Mountains from whose rills and rivulets Erbach River is formed as it flows down the valley to the Saar and Mosel Rivers. Near by on the west and south lies sunny France. On all sides vineyards and lowlands, as it were, interchange friendly greetings. Rev. Dr. P. Vollmer of Philadelphia, when he heard the Keller ancestors were from Zweibrucken exclaimed; "Ah, you should see that country. Its richness and beauty cannot be described." Dr. Eli Keller makes this statement also: "Of his parents we have no record.

By tradition we have the following: His mother was first the wife of Mr. Guth, and had a son who, when grown, emigrated to America. When widowed she married a Mr. Keller and had two more sons. Mr. Guth was a member of the Roman Catholic Church but dying when his children were young, they were instructed and confirmed in the Reformed Church to which their mother belonged. The older of the two brothers also emigrated to America and settled in Virginia. Their names were George and Joseph." George Keller, according to Prof. I. D. Rupp's "30,000 Immigrants" came from the Palatines on the ship "Pleasant," J. Morris Captain. Points of departure were Rotterdam, Holland and Deal. They arrived at Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 11, 1732, with 150 passengers. He landed just one month later than John Hottel, his father-in-law. It seems almost certain that these immigrants had much in common in Europe and came to America because of association in the old country, as well as for opportunities which the new world afforded. It is probable that on his arrival George Keller was associated with his brother Joseph in Northampton Co., Pa., and perhaps with the Hottel family during their eighteen-year sojourn in Bucks County of the same state, and emigrated with them to Shenandoah Co., Va., in 1750. He settled permanently on the headwaters of Toms Brook in Stonewall District near the original Hottel homestead not far from Mt. Olive. The same year the Hottel family emigrated to the Shenandoah Valley. George Keller purchased from Lord Thomas Fairfax 400 acres of land lying on the South Shenandoah River. By inheritance through his wife, Barbara Anna, he came into possession of a part of the original Hottel homestead where they lived for the remainder of their lives. Many of the descendants of George Keller still reside in the vicinity of the old family home, and much of the land is still in their possession. He died late in 1782 or in the early part of 1783, leaving a will in which he provided for the comfort of his widow and left much land to his children. He was an outstanding citizen in the early history of Shenandoah County, having been one of the justices of the first court. He was also a prominent churchman. In one instance where reference is made to a land deal, George Keller mentions John Hottel as his father-in-law. In another when referring to his wife he calls her Barbara, while the immigrants register has the name Anna. Her full name therefore must have been Barbara Anna Hottel. The children of George and Anna (Hottel) Keller were born in the seventeen-forties and fifties. The Keller family record could not be found. The names given below were copied from George Kellers will and may not be in rotation of births.

3y-a George Keller³

3y-b Anna Keller³

3y-c John Keller³, who probably lived near Stony Creek, Shenandoah Co., Va., sold the farm he inherited to Russell Borden. No further record.

3y-d Elizabeth Keller³, is supposed to have married Joseph Snapp, June 15, 1784. She received from her father 203 acres of land.

3y-e Margaret Keller³

3y-f Mary Keller³

3y-g Jacob Keller³

3y-h Henry Keller³

3y-i Barbara Keller³

3y-a GEORGE KELLER³, (first child of George²), born it is believed, in eastern Pennsylvania in the seventeen-forties, grew to young manhood on his father's farm near Toms Brook, Shenandoah Co., Va. His father gave him a tract of land on the Shenandoah River east of Woodstock, which he sold prior to the former's death and settled in Augusta in 1788. From marriage records of Augusta County it seems probable that George Keller³ had the following children:

4y-a James Keller⁴, bought land in 1777, deeded to George Keller, in 1791

4y-b Anna Keller⁴, m. Jacob Baylor, Mar. 29, 1789

- 4y-c Fred Keller⁴, m. Barbara Baylor, Mar. 6, 1787
4y-d Charles Keller⁴, m. Barbara Smith, Mar. 20, 1789
4y-e George Keller⁴, m. Sophia Mowery, May 7, 1786
4y-f Sarah Keller⁴

REVOLUTIONARY WAR RECORD

It is said that Joseph Keller who was a resident of Northampton Co., Pa., heard the roll call of George Washington's Army at Brunswick, N. J. Among the list of names called was that of Keller. Upon inquiry he found this Keller to be a descendant of his brother George of Virginia. This George Keller was one of the secretaries of George Washington and was evidently a son or grandson of George Keller², of Toms Brook, Va.

Mrs. Julia Mellott of Chevy Chase, Md., obtained from the D. A. R. library, Washington, D. C., the following:

"Abstracts from the Records of Augusta County by Lockwood, Vol. II, page 472 give in Augustine Argenbright's Declaration (Revolutionary Declarations are the sworn statements of service required to be made by applicants for pensions under laws of the U. S.) of Oct. 23, 1832, that in 1781 he volunteered with others from Augusta to repel the invasion of the British under Cornwallis who was then advancing into the interior of North Carolina. Shortly after the battle of Guilford was fought the troops were discharged. Captain Smith of Staunton was commandant of his company. Colonel Moffett commanded the Regiment. Gen. Campbell commanded the Brigade. Alexander Williams and George Keller were with him on the expedition. George Keller is also mentioned in Samuel Bell's Declaration, same volume page 469. George Keller was married to Sophia Mowery on May 7, 1786, same volume, page 349."

In the Virginia State Library George Keller is listed as a soldier and for services was paid off at the Monongahela River. This may have been a campaign against the Indians, but there seems to be no doubt that he served in the Revolution.

4y-b ANNA KELLER³, (second child of George¹) was born presumably, in the eastern part of Pennsylvania in the seventeen-forties. In 1750 she came to Shenandoah Co., Va., with her parents, who settled on a farm near the village of Toms Brook, and married HENRY FRAVEL in 1754 or 1755. Henry Fravel was the son of Isaac Fravel who emigrated from Switzerland to America at an early date, the exact time unknown. According to tradition he settled in what is now Rappahannock County, Va., and spent the remainder of his life there. Isaac was the father of three children, Henry, Moses and Mary, whom he brought with him. Mary was lost in the voyage across the Atlantic and Moses, it is said, settled in North Carolina before going to Pennsylvania. But little is known concerning Moses, but it is believed he left descendants as historians have found Fravels that could not be placed in the family of Henry. According to some, Isaac had a third son who went to Indiana. The Fravels spoke the German language being scarcely able to speak English at all. The original name was Frovel. Henry Fravel located permanently in Shenandoah County early in life. Soon after marriage he settled on a farm of 200 acres two miles southeast of Woodstock. He built the first house in this section and lived there ten years before the village of Woodstock (Muellerstadt) was laid off. The nearest white man at that time lived at Mt. Olive, a hamlet six miles north of Woodstock. The land was deeded to him by his father-in-law in 1767. This was received by grant from Lord Thomas Fairfax, Oct. 20, 1750. Henry Fravel's neighbors were the Kellers and Hottels at the head of Toms Brook ten miles away. The principal settlements within the present bounds of Shenandoah County were by the Funks near Strasburg, the Allens, Moores and Whites on the bottoms about Mt. Jackson. The only road into the valley was the Indian trail on the present site of Valley Pike. Mr. Fravel was a man of much energy and wise in his choice of location. The bottom land of his estate is still rated among the best in the vicinity, while all of his land has produced bountiful crops for more than a century and a half. Later in life he bought and improved much other land which at his death was parceled out for homes for his children, each being nicely provided for.

At various times Mr. Fravel was called upon to serve as guardian of orphans, to settle estates, and in other ways assisted his neighbors in matters of business in times of real need. It is believed he lived sixty years after his marriage. At the time of his death which occurred in 1819, he possessed a large personal estate. He always employed free laborers, being without doubt opposed to slavery. He was an elder in the Reformed Church and his children were brought up in the same faith. He is listed among the vestrymen of Gen. Muhlenberg's church at Woodstock, Va., when two lots, No. 113 and No. 144, were transferred to the vestrymen for a church building and a graveyard. The deed was admitted to record on Sept. 27, 1774. See Wayland's History of Shenandoah Co., pages 400 and 401.

"PIONEER METHODS"

"In early times there were no cook stoves. The cooking was done in the fireplace. Every kitchen had a large fireplace, in which a crane was hung across the open space above the fire. From the crane usually short chains were suspended with hooks at their lower ends from which pots were hung in which food was cooked. There was one large pot with short legs and a cast iron cover, called the Dutch oven, which was used for baking. The Dutch oven was placed on the hearth in front of the fireplace. The bread or pies were placed inside the oven, the cast iron lid was used to cover the pot or oven, and then live coals and hot ashes were placed under the oven and over the lid. The corn pone and pot pies when thus baked were most delicious. The baking of bread, pies and cakes was done mostly in 'out-of-door' bake ovens, made of brick or clay."—Selected from Rev. E. S. 5y-a GEORGE FRAVEL⁴, son of Henry and Anna Keller Fravel, b. east of Woodstock, Va., June 29, 1755; d. May 19, 1823; m. ELIZABETH BUSHONG, of York, Pa. To George was devised by his father's will, a part of the original plantation and tract of land containing 152 acres adjoining the village of Woodstock on the east. For the most part he was engaged in agriculture but in the days of stage driving he kept a tavern on the main street of Woodstock in the old building below Schmitt's drug store. The country in that vicinity was nearly all in native forest with here and there a new settler's cabin. The howl of the wolf and the scream of the panther became less frequent as the tinkle of the cow bell was heard in the land. There was plenty of game in the woods and fish in the streams.

"For fish we used the hook and line,
We pounded corn to make it fine,

On johnny-cake our folk would dine
At our log cabin home,
In the wild woods of Virginia.

And when good meat we wished to eat,
We killed the stag by the hillside craig—
Or shot the bounding roe
Near our log cabin home
In the wild woods of Virginia.”

There was an abundance of wild grapes, plums, berries and nuts of various kinds in the woods and the wild bees and sugar maples furnished plenty of honey, sugar and syrup. The table drink was crust or roasted rye coffee, sage or sassafras tea, and on special occasions “store tea” and sometimes blackberry wine was served, the latter being a fine drink for log rollings and cabin raisings.

May 14, 1885. In 1826, young as he was Mr. Fravel pushed out into the world for himself and learning the trade of copper and tinsmith in his native state he journeyed to Maryland, living in that state for a short time. He then went to Woodstock, and assisted Abraham Fravel in a store. In April, 1835, he accompanied Abraham Fravel's family to LaPorte, Ind., and there married his oldest daughter, Sophia E. With the exception of one year in South Bend, Ind., he spent the remainder of his life in LaPorte. His educational advantages were limited, but his aptitude, energy and industry were such that he was a well educated man, noted for his general intelligence and ease and correctness of expression both with tongue and pen. He was a public spirited citizen and bore an active part in all enterprises of interest to the people. Though born and reared in a slave state, he was an anti-slavery man and became a Republican in politics on the organization of the party. He was one of the leading merchants of LaPorte, a prominent member of the Masonic fraternity, and in 1840 held the office of school commissioner of the county, the duties of which office he discharged with ability and success. While at the breakfast table one morning he was stricken with paralysis which terminated his life in a few hours. His wife resided in Ind., chiefly at LaPorte, over half a century. *It is related that the family of Etters came to this country from Germany and settled in Virginia some time before the Revolutionary War. Mary (Polly) Etter, at that time being nine years of age, subsequently married John Shroffe, also a native of that country. Shroffe discovered gold in the mountains of Virginia and set out on horseback across the mountains to convert a quantity of it into money. He was never seen or heard of again. Whether he was murdered or returned to his native country is a matter of conjecture. His sons, John and Charles, endeavored to find the place where the gold was discovered, but every effort was in vain. Elizabeth Shroffe, a sister of these boys, married Jacob Fravel.

July 6, 1840, MARY FRAVEL, dau. of Jonathan, see No. 979y-d, b. near Woodstock, Va., Oct. 16, 1820; d. Apr. 7, 1895, bur. by the side of her husband. He was baptized in early infancy by Rev. George Keidy, and confirmed Oct. 29, 1837, by the Rev. Jacob F. Dieffenbacher.

Mr. Rinker was educated in H. S. at York, Pa., in 1834-35, and was a freshman in Marshall College, Mercersburg, Pa., in 1837. It was his purpose to take a collegiate course, but sickness and other reasons prevented. On May 18, 1844, he was ordained to the sacred office of the ministry of the Reformed Church, and was installed as pastor over the Mill Creek charge, which was in that day composed of Zion, St. Jacob, Pine, Columbia Furnace, Union Forge, Rader's and Solomon's appointments, making his place for service on horseback in all kinds of weather at times so cold that he had to walk and warm his hands by placing them under the saddle blanket one at a time as he walked beside his horse. He was an indefatigable worker, almost constantly in the saddle visiting the sick, burying the dead and looking after the careless. Most of his studying was done on horseback and at broken moments. In 1874 he served his second charge known as Lovettsville in Loudoun Co., Va., which pastorate covered a period of sixteen years and nine months. In social circles he was cheerful, pleasant and communicative. As a pastor he was faithful, prudent and sympathetic, and fearless to rebuke and admonish when occasion demanded it, yet always in the spirit of love. The last time Rev. Rinker appeared on the floor of the Synod of the Potomac, was in 1889, when it convened at Woodstock. His heart's desire was to meet and greet his brethren in the ministry once more before he closed his eyes in death. Slowly and feebly he walked up the aisle of the church leaning on his son's arm. As he approached the chancel railing the entire Synod voluntarily rose to its feet. Dr. Rupley, the oldest member of the body who was a student with Rev. Rinker at Mercersburg, introduced the aged father with feeling and befitting words. The scene was pathetic and many cheeks were moistened with tears of affection and sympathy. Both he and his beloved wife retired from active life to the farm near Maurertown, Va.

RINKER BROTHERS IN THE CIVIL WAR

Jonathan Henry Rinker enlisted as a volunteer the first year of the Civil War in Co. C, 10th V. I. (Southern Greys) at Edinburg, Va. Robert D. Rinker also volunteered and joined the same company under Capt. Swann. After serving awhile in the infantry, they joined Co. K, V. Cav., Gen. Rosser's Brigade. Later their brother Jacob G. joined the same company, and the three brothers served in that regiment till the close of the war. Jacob G. was wounded in the shoulder, his collar bone being broken in one of the engagements, but all three escaped serious injury, and after the surrender returned to their homes.

6y-j ABRAHAM FRAVEL^s, (son of George and twin brother of David), was b. at Woodstock, Shenandoah Co., Va., July 28, 1796; d. at the residence of his son-in-law, Major William B. Biddle, in LaPorte, Ind., Jan. 26, 1879; m. in 1818, in his native county, SOPHIA HAAS, b. in same county as above; d. Apr. 3, 1861, both bur. at LaPorte. He united with the M. E. Church, S. at Woodstock, in 1812, and emigrated to LaPorte, Ind., in 1835. He identified himself with the M. E. Church upon his arrival there, and his house for many years was like a home to Methodist preachers who always found the latch string out, a cordial welcome and the best of entertainment. He carried on a grocery business at LaPorte for some years, after which he was connected with different firms in the capacity of a salesman and bookkeeper, took an active interest in the prosperity of the town, occupied positions of trust and responsibility, first as treasurer of the town, then school commissioner, and in 1842 was elected to the office of Justice of the Peace, which he held four years. He was appointed notary public, in 1853, which commission was renewed from time to time while he was able to attend to business. He was an anti-slavery Democrat, always voting with that party until the passage of the Lecompton Bill, in 1854. From that time he was a Republican. He performed his duties faithfully and efficiently, and left an untarnished record.

211y-b ROBERT FRAVEL^o, b. at Woodstock, Shenandoah Co., Va.; was captain in the Mexican War. A short time after returning from Mexico, he d. from diseases contracted while in the service, and was laid to rest in Patton Cemetery. His niece, Mrs. Mary (Fravel) Biddle, relates an interesting story of an old flag. In 1846, a state of war was declared between the United States and Mexico. A company was formed in LaPorte, under command of Capt. W. W. McCoy, and my uncle Robert Fravel was commissioned first lieutenant. Before the company left for Mexico several ladies met at my father's (John Bunyan Fravel) home and made a flag. My aunt, Miss Miranda Fravel, presented it to the Company with the promise that it should be returned if there remained a man to bring it back at the close of the war. When they were on the Rio Grande, Lieut. Fravel was left in care of Samuel Mecum on an island to die. That day the Company moved on about four miles mostly through a marsh and camped for the night. When peace was declared in 1848, what was left of the brave gallant company returned to LaPorte bringing back with them the old flag discolored and bullet torn, but with no stains of dishonor upon it. To the strains of martial music Capt. Fravel unrolled it and in a befitting speech presented it to the ladies who made it. This took place in my grandfather Abraham Fravel's house then on East Main Street. Since my father furnished the material for the flag it was given to him. It remained in our family until 1904, when my aunt, Mrs. Arelin (Miranda Fravel) of Washington, D. C., who was visiting us, at that time, took the flag with her on her return home, and placed it in the National Museum.

211y-c THEOPHILUS FRAVEL^o, b. in Shenandoah Co., Va., Apr. 8, 1824; d. at Westville, Ind., Jan. 7, 1900; m. first, MISS JOHNSON the daughter of a Methodist minister, whose early death he was called upon to mourn. He m. second, in 1866, MRS. MARY (COBB) STEWART, b. Aug. 20, 1826. She was the widow of one of the founders of the Chicago Tribune, daily newspaper. Mr. Fravel came to LaPorte, Ind., with his parents in 1835. He was educated in the Indiana Medical Institute of that place, and at Rush Medical College of Chicago. He first practiced medicine at McHenry, Ill., coming to Westville, in 1856, where he spent the remainder of his life. He and his wife were identified with what was best in Westville. Though modest and unassuming, the doctor possessed strong convictions of right, and was not lacking in courage. At one time single handed he attempted to quell a street riot brought on by the liquor interests who tried to drive a temperance speaker from the town. Dr. Fravel received some injuries, but his antagonists suffered more in public opinion. In bad and pleasant weather for forty-four years Dr. Fravel steadily pursued a large practice, easing the pains and aches in almost every household. He was a pillar of strength in the M. E. Church, holding a place on the official board for many years, and was twenty-four years superintendent of the Sunday School, which position he held at the time of his death. When Mr. and Mrs. Fravel grew old they crossed the river of death together. One in life, so were they also in death. They both had been subject to organic heart trouble. They sought milder climates and brief respites from ill health, spending one winter in California. The dark shadow fell on them Sunday evening at nine o'clock, Jan. 7, 1900. On that evening Dr. Fravel was lying on the couch talking to Mrs. Fravel. Their conversation was cheerful in tone and each spoke of feeling unusually well. They counted on many more days of usefulness together, but without warning the summons came. The doctor after a few gasps became unconscious. Being alone Mrs. Fravel ran to the neighbors for assistance, returning to his side just as his pulse faintly quivered for the last time. Sorrowfully kneeling by the side of his couch she placed her hand on her husband's face and in a dazed manner exclaimed "Oh love, why did you leave me, why did you leave me!" and immediately expired in the arms of her friends. The caskets, exactly alike, were handsome products of the cabinet maker's art. They were covered with heavy broadcloth and rich silver bars extended the entire length of the sides. On top were plates containing the names of the deceased with other data. At a few minutes past eleven the pallbearers, honorary and active, took their places beside the caskets and proceeded to the church. They were bur. in Pine Lake Cemetery, LaPorte, Ind. Having no children he gave his home to the city of Westville, for a library.

211y-d MIRANDA FRAVEL⁶, b. at Mt. Jackson, Shenandoah Co., Va., Feb. 5, 1826; d. at San Diego, Calif., in 1906; m. to O. D. ARELIN, who was editor of a newspaper in Jackson, Calif., at the time of his death in 1864 or 65. Sometime in 1849-50, Miranda and her sister Martha went together as young brides to California. Miranda when a widow returned with her daughter, Dora, (1866) and went to Washington, D. C., to be with her sister Harriet. Miranda was employed in the treasury department for many years, later returning to Calif. She was laid to rest at San Diego.

The Fravel family was destined, in part, to move into the unexplored, or at least undeveloped sections of our country. In 1836, five brothers and three sisters, sons and daughters of Henry Fravel moved to Ohio and other western states, where land could be bought at $1.25 per acre. With their indomitable energy they surmounted difficulties and succeeded in everything which they undertook in this wonderful pioneer country. They erected log cabins, barns, shops and corn cribs out of timbers cut from the forest which they endeavored to clear that they might improve the land. The corn they planted was covered with the hoe and hill tamped with the back side of the hoe in order to pack the ground well over it and thus keep out the air. They did intensive farming and the virgin soil produced bountiful crops.

"In those pioneer days, according to a noted author, hogs were allowed to run at large, being turned loose in the woods in the spring, and living mainly on pasture and nuts. Nuts made a very fine quality of meat. When the time came for killing their meat, they would have a 'rounding up' time, sometimes with dogs, sometimes on horseback. The pioneers would build a corral, providing the same with a trap door, to which was attached a rope to raise and drop as the hogs were driven in. A man would climb a nearby tree, and with his hands on the rope operate the trap. Sometimes the hogs were so wild and had such large tusks men were somewhat afraid of them. A large family would kill eight, ten, or even as many as twelve hogs for the winter."—Selected from Keller History.

Feb. 25, 1896, both bur. in the Fancher graveyard. After passing his boyhood in Va., Mr. Fravel was engaged 24 years in transporting various kinds of merchandise by an overland route with wagon and four-horse team from Virginia thru North and South Carolinas and possibly Ohio. Retiring from the overland route he came with his brothers to Ohio, in 1835, m. and settled on a farm of 140 acres of choice land which was purchased for $800. This he cleared, and built a comfortable home for himself and bride, near New Albany, Plain Tp., Franklin County, and there nine children were born and reared. Ohio then was the only West, and abounded in timber swamps, Indians and wild beasts. The popular and only mode of travel was by team and covered wagon with camping outfit. These Fravel brothers and their forebears were stout and robust people. John Fravel was a soldier in the War of 1812. He came to a tragic death while unloading hay by use of a horse and rope. The clip slipping from the singletree, he received a blow which ended his life. He was carried to the house by his brother Absalom and son Henry, dying soon after.

June 24, 1789, bur. in a private family grave lot on Frank Crisman farm near the village of Lost River, W. Va.; m. Jan. 30, 1775, GEORGE WILKIN, b. near Woodstock, Va., in the seventeen-fifties. George Wilkin had an older brother, Mathias, who married Barbara Fravel's aunt, Margaret Keller. See Margaret Keller No. 3y-e. George and Mathias were the sons of *Godfrey Wilkin, immigrant. They grew up amid pioneer scenes, learned the lessons of industry, frugality and honesty and helped to run their father's farm near Woodstock, Va., then married and together each acquired several hundred acres of the finest bottom land of the old Fairfax grant situated on Lost River in Hardy Co., W. Va. Here in this new and undeveloped country they labored all their lives and prospered. Their sons and daughters and many of their descendants have moved into other states, and have played their part in times of war and peace in the making of a great nation. How much this generation has lost of these pioneer events because they were never recorded.

Abstract of a will of Henry Fravel, father of Barbara, was taken from probate records at Woodstock, Va. The will was dated Jan. 18, 1819, and probated May 8, 1820.

First, he provides for the children of his deceased daughter, Barbara, the wife of George Wilkin, "Or some of them," and then makes bequests as follows:

1 To my grandson Henry Wilkin, the sum of $30.00 in current and lawful money.

2 To my son Benjamin Fravel, the sum of $30.00, which he shall apply for the sole use of my granddaughter Anna Wilkin, for her comfortable support in the best manner he can.

3 To my granddaughter Barbara, wife of John Jordan, of Woodstock, the sum of 50 pounds, current and lawful money.

Lizzie and Mary, daughters of Barbara, were not mentioned in the will. The phrase "some of them" implies not all of Barbara's children were made beneficiaries. The names of Lizzie and Mary would have been lost to the family had it not been for William Henry Miles of Newark, O., a descendant of Henry Wilkin, who has in his possession an old record from which their names were taken and added to Barbara's family group. According to tradition their descendants are in the state of Tenn. Perhaps these two daughters became separated from the other members of the family, or may have died. If so this accounts for the omission of their names in the will. Evidently Lizzie and Mary are the children of Barbara Fravel Wilkin. We have no further record of them. After Barbara's death George Wilkin m. Lydia Wise, and to this union nine children were born. For the benefit of future generations we give 361y-a HENRY WILKIN⁵, son of George and Barbara Fravel Wilkin, b. at Lost River, W. Va., July 4, 1781; d. Aug. 23, 1864; m. Aug. 24, 1816, MAGDALENE SMOOTS, dau. of Mathias and Barbara (Feckley) Smoots, b. in Shenandoah Co., Va., July 6, 1796; d. June 14, 1869. Henry Wilkin first came to Licking Co., O., on a prospective venture as a single man then returned to Lost River to get his wife and on Oct. 16, 1816 they moved to Ohio in a typical Virginia wagon drawn by a six horse team, driving some cows with them. Accompanied by Magdalene's uncle, Philip Smoots, they arrived in Licking County which then was a wild frontier district. Much of the land was still owned by the government. Henry purchased 160 acres in the above county in Mary Ann Twp., six miles east of Newark, known as Wilkin's Corners, now owned by a grandson, Henry Wilkin. There in the midst of the forest he built a hewed log house while the family lived in their wagon. Their first cook stove was a hollow stump. He began to clear away the timber, plowed and planted the fields and in the course of time the rich virgin soil yielded bountiful harvests. Some years later Mr. Wilkin bought a half section adjoining his homeplace. He owned two other farms in Licking Co., two farms in Wyandot Co., two in Putnam Co. and one in Indiana, making a total of 700 acres at the time of his death. He was an ardent Democrat and held the office of township trustee and treasurer. He retained the Southern spirit during the Civil War days. Two of his sons were drafted, but they hired substitutes rather than take up arms against their native state. His son George, however, was a soldier in the War. Henry Wilkin and wife were laid to rest in metallic coffins hermetically sealed and bur. in a private burial lot on the farm. Forty-three years later their bodies were moved to the Barnes Cemetery in the same vicinity. Their children were all born at Wilkin's Corners.

Levi was the only son of George Claypool, b. Mar. 31, 1741; d. Sept. 24, 1829, and Catherine Miller, his wife, b. Oct. 22, 1759; d. June 18, 1832 near Lost River, Va. He being the only child inherited all his father's property. He and his family remained on Lost River until after the death of his mother. In Oct. 1833 he brought his family to Ohio and settled on the 1000 acre tract of land which his father had purchased at $1.25 per acre. He and his family lived in a rented house for the winter and the following spring moved into his own clapboard-roofed log house which is still standing on the old homestead near Nashport, O. In 1835 he erected a substantial brick house for himself and other buildings for his workmen. He was an old line Whig and joined the Republican Party on its organization. He was a successful farmer and a well informed citizen. He filled the office of Justice of the Peace with great satisfaction to his constituents from 1866 to 1873 and was appointed Notary Public by John J. Jacob, Governor of W. Va. He was a member of the board of education of his district for 20 consecutive years. Injured in the railroad accident when the iron bridge at Zanesville, O. fell into the river he was ever after subject to rheumatism and for several years rode round his farm on "Old Het" to direct his workmen. On Sept., 1856 he married MRS. MARY ANN FRAVEL, widow of Joseph Fravel and dau. of Godfrey Wilkin. Mr. Claypool joined the M. E. Church in 1849 and was a systematic and liberal giver to the church and benevolences. He was stricken with apoplexy and after a week's illness died on Sunday morning, Apr. 19, 1874. He was one of the oldest citizens and the largest land holder in Muskingum County. Besides over 3000 acres of most splendid land in said county he owned nearly 2000 acres of western land. Men best acquainted with him estimated his possessions to the value of half a million dollars. For further record of Mary Ann Fravel Claypool see No. 512y-f.

704y-a NORTON FRAVEL CLAYPOOL⁶, b. near Lost River, W. Va., July 1, 1822; d. at Zanesville, O., Dec. 1, 1908; m. Nov. 19, 1850, JULIA FRANCES LYNN, dau. of George and Elizabeth Spots Lynn, b. Oct. 30, 1829; d. Sept. 21, 1867. As educational advantages were limited in the first half of the 19th century Mr. Claypool received little aid from the schools. But his mental endowments and his environments contributed toward making him a strong, self-reliant character. In the truest sense of the term he was a self-made man. Mr. Claypool was 11 years old when he came with his father to Muskingum Co., O. In 1854 he engaged in the mercantile business at Nashport, O., continuing 18 years. He owned and operated the Claypool mills and also conducted a carriage business at Irville. In 1860 he planted the first peach orchard in his vicinity which became noted as the largest in the state. He was the first man to own a steam thresher in his community. He was in continuous service as postmaster and deputy at Nashport from 1851 until 1885. On July 23, 1863, being a loyal advocate of the Union, at the call of duty he instantly stopped his threshing machine and before the day was done reported as captain at the head of a company of 77 men, and was ordered to the Duncan Falls to repel Gen. Morgan's raid through Ohio. After a strenuous campaign through eastern Ohio Morgan was captured by other Union forces and Captain Claypool and his daring "Ohio Cavalry Militia" were ordered home to Nashport and there disbanded on July 29, 1863. On Oct. 29, 1863, Norton F. Claypool was commissioned as Colonel by Governor Todd and assigned to the Second Regt. Ohio Militia in Muskingum Co. He was an ardent Republican, a prominent member of the Irville lodge of the Masonic fraternity and a loyal and devoted member of the M. E. Church. In him the Methodist preacher found a warm friend and his home a place of generous hospitality. For a number of years he was a member of the officary of the local church, serving as steward, trustee and several times as lay delegate to the Ohio Annual Conference. During his later years he resided with his dau. Ella and husband, George Gill. The interment was in the Hanover Cemetery by the side of his beloved wife.

SIPLE, b. at Doe Hill, Va., May 17, 1871. In his infancy Rev. Kibler became a member of the Evangelical Lutheran Church through the Sacrament of the Holy Baptism administered by Rev. H. Wetzel. At the prayer age he was instructed and confirmed by the late Rev. D. E. Snapp. Rev. Kibler was among the first students to enter the Seminary at Hickory, N. C. Completing his course in 1890 he was ordained to the holy office of the ministry, July 13, 1899, by Rev. W. M. Sibert in St. Micheal's Church, Pendleton Co., W. Va. At the same time and place he was installed as pastor of the South Fork charge in Pendleton County. In 1894, he followed a call to a mission field in Greensboro, N. C. Subsequently he served congregations at Chippewa Lake and Youngstown, O., and at Highlandtown, Baltimore, Md. He was installed as pastor of the latter charge, Nov. 26, 1899. In 1900 the Theological Seminary at Chicago, conferred on him the honorary degree of Bachelor of Divinity. In the early part of the year, 1905, after suffering from a heavy cold, Rev. Kibler developed a severe case of tuberculosis. A sojourn in Ashville, N. C. and the best medical treatment was all in vain. About a week before his death he accompanied his father and his brother to his old home near Woodstock, Va., where he gently fell asleep. His obsequies were conducted from the Patmos Lutheran Church, Revs. J. H. Lutz and J. F. Mueller officiating at the altar and grave and Rev. J. E. A. Doerman preached the sermon.

979y-d MARY FRAVEL^s, (dau. of Jonathan Fravel) b. Oct. 16, 1820; d. Apr. 7, 1895; m. July 6, 1840, REV. HENRY ST. JOHN RINKER, b. Feb. 28, 1819; d. Jan. 31, 1900, at Maurertown, Va. He was a minister of the Reformed Church and a member of the Synod of the Potomac. Mary Fravel grasping the thought of her husband's calling discharged her duties and improved her opportunities with rare devotion and skill. After their life's work was accomplished, they retired and spent the remainder of their days on their farm near Maurertown, where they died. For further record see Henry St. John Rinker, No. 123y-c.

979y-e REBECCA FRAVEL^s (dau. of Jonathan Fravel), b. Apr. 12, 1823; d. Oct. 31, 1894; m. Sept. 25, 1856, ABRAHAM RHODES (as his second wife), b. Mar. 3, 1817; d. July 16, 1887; both bur. in the home cemetery. He owned and operated his father's homestead which lies two and one half miles southeast of the village of Toms Brook, Va. near where the stream empties into the beautiful historic Shenandoah River. Here they spent their lives and here their children were born and reared. The farm is now owned by a son and two daughters. He was a just man, a faithful friend and good citizen, in politics, a Democrat. A member of the Reformed Church. Abraham Rhodes was first married to Sarah Haun. For record of Sarah and children see No. 2531x-c.

MILTON A. RHODES AND WIFE

B. SPRIGGLE, of Maurertown, Va., b. in 1861. Mary was a member of the Reformed Church, her husband the Disciple. They reside near Toms Brook, partially retired from active farm work after having gathered a substantial competence.

987y-c Maggie E. Rhodes^s, b. June 20, 1861; unm.

987y-d MILTON ASHBY RHODES^s, b. Apr. 20, 1863; m. Sept. 14, 1911, ELIZABETH REGINA McINTURFF (dau. of John and Mary (Boyer) McInturff), b. June 14, 1880; d. Apr. 6, 1912; bur. at Woodstock. Her father's farm residence was one mile east of Toms Brook, where she was educated and when quite young identified herself with the Church of God, two miles west of the village. In her church she was an earnest worker and efficient organist and very popular with young and old. Mr. Rhodes received his education at the Zion school, at eighteen joined the Reformed Church one mile west of Toms Brook, and spent his life on his father's homestead which he and his two unmarried sisters, Annie and Maggie, now own. Like his father in many respects he is a quiet, peaceable, law abiding citizen with no aspiration for notoriety.

987y-e PHILIP SAMUEL RHODES^s, b. near Toms Brook, Va., Apr. 3, 1865; m. June 8, 1898, SALLIE M. FUNK, b. near Strasburg, Va., Nov. 17, 1867. Mr. Rhodes was born and grew up where the stream of Toms

Brook empties into the north branch of the Shenandoah river; was educated in the public school and the Polytechnic Institute of New Market; followed teaching five years or more and operated a farm during the summer period. In May, 1889, he moved to the vicinity of Woodstock, and has since owned the Henry Bushong farm a mile south of the county seat. Being of a mathematical turn of mind Mr. Rhodes took up surveying and has followed that vocation many years. In 1903 upon recommendation of the county supervisors, the Circuit Judge appointed him surveyor of Shenandoah Co. He performed the duties of this office seventeen years. His skill in running the lines for many difficult and disputed farm boundaries helped the court to clear up many problems in connection with real estate properties in the county. Mr. Rhodes voluntarily retired from the surveyor's office in 1920, and since then has devoted his time to agriculture. From 1920 he has been a director of the First National Bank of Woodstock, and since 1916, president of the Farmer's Mutual Telephone System of Shenandoah County. He is a substantial citizen and an honored member of the Reformed Church serving as deacon. His wife and daughter are Presbyterians.

3y-e MARGARET KELLER³ (dau. of Geo. and Barbara Ann (Hottel) Keller), b. near Toms Brook, Shenandoah Co., Va.; m. MATHIAS WILKIN, (son of Godfrey Wilkin, Sr.) b. in 1738. They were residents of Lost River, Hardy Co., Va., now W. Va., and were engaged in farming pursuits. The names of all their children have not been found. According to Samuel Kercheval's History of the Valley of Virginia, written in 1833, Mathias Wilkin at the period of the Revolution, 1781, adhered to the cause of the British sovereignty over the colonies for he was classed with the party of Tories who manifested symptoms of rebellion by refusing to pay taxes and to furnish their quota of men to serve in the militia. John Claypole, near Lost River, W. Va., a Scotsman by birth, headed the insurrection; Gen. Morgan with his army was sent from Winchester, Va., to this Tory section of Hardy Co., to quell the rebellion. Among other incidents it is related that some young men of Gen. Morgan's troops captured Mathias Wilkin, placed a rope around his neck, and threatened to hang him. Col. Smith, second in command, rode up, saw what was going on and ordered them to desist instantly. Mathias Wilkin died prior to Oct. 15, 1812, on which date Margaret Wilkin, his widow, conveyed her dower interest in the estate of her late husband to Henry Fravel, Sr., and on Nov. 9, 1812 his two sons, Joseph and Henry conveyed their interests in the lands of their father to Henry Fravel, Sr. these interests being several small tracts of land, on which mills were located lying adjoining each other on Lost River, and containing together 230 acres. The property was valued at 650 lbs. current and lawful money. Henry Fravel willed this to his son Benjamin. For record of Godfrey Wilkin see Appendix.

At an early age he attended an Academy at Marshall, Ill., and following this, McKendree College at Lebanon. While engaged in teaching he read law at Marshall with Charles Constable, then one of the prominent attorneys of the State. In the spring of 1862, he entered the service of the Union as Captain of Co. K, 130th Illinois Infantry and was mustered out at the close of the war with a major's commission. After the war Mr. Wilkin formed a partnership with the late Judge Scolfield at Marshall and continued there until Scolfield was called to the Supreme Bench. Mr. Wilkin was elected to the Circuit Bench in 1879, and was re-elected six years later. He was assigned to the Appellate Bench in 1885, and served three years. He moved to Danville during this period and was elected to the Supreme Bench in 1888 and by re-election served with honor and distinction as a member of that able body until death. Judge Wilkin was a man of kindly manners and gentle ways, always approachable, genial and exceedingly charitable in his estimate of his fellowmen. As a jurist his ability was recognized far and near; his honesty and integrity were never questioned. He was a member of the M. E. Church, and illustrated in his character all the cardinal Christian virtues. His funeral was held at Danville, but his remains were taken by special train to Marshall for interment.

3y-f MARY KELLER³, dau. of George and Barbara Anna (Hottel) Keller, b. on her father's farm on the headwaters of Toms Brook, near Mt. Olive, Shenandoah Co., Virginia, in 1743; d. Mar. 15, 1806; m. in 1773, COL. JACOB RINKER, of Revolutionary fame, b. in 1749; d. Jan. 18, 1827; both laid to rest in the Rinker Cemetery at Conicville at which village they lived. Mary Keller's paternal grandfather came to America from the eastern part of Switzerland where the German language is spoken.

Jacob Rinker, Sr. and Catherine, his wife (the parents of Col. Jacob Rinker) were natives of the Canton of Zurich, Switzerland and came to America in 1725. They were among the first, perhaps the first, to settle at Conicville, Va. Jacob Rinker, Sr. was b. in 1705; d. Aug. 26, 1779. Catherine d. Mar. 15, 1788, in her 81st year. He was a true Republican and a staunch citizen. His will is on file in the archives of Shenandoah County at Woodstock, Va. They had three sons, Jacob, Jr., Henry and George. The family spoke the German language.

Col. Jacob Rinker, and Mary his wife, lived on the present site of Conicville, Shenandoah County, Va., in a log cabin to which he gave the name "Cabin Hill." A large acreage of land was devised to him by his father Jacob Rinker, and his wife Mary received from her father a dowery of 203 acres of excellent land near Hamburg. To this they added other tracts by purchase and died possessing a large landed estate.

Col. Rinker was a prominent, sturdy pioneer citizen participating actively in the promotion of enterprises that reflected the progressive spirit of his day. He served as surveyor of Shenandoah Co., from 1785 to 1817. In the clerk's office of this county there are books that contain 630 folios of works by his own hand. He also served as magistrate for many years, and was well versed in law.

In the Revolutionary War, Col. Jacob Rinker was first Lieut. Captain of Jonathan Clark's Company in the 8th Virginia Regiment from Mar. 4, 1776 to May 10, 1777. He served with this Regiment in its campaign in South Carolina during the Revolutionary war period. In 1778, Gen. George Rogers Clark from Albemarle Co., with 200 Valley of Virginia men went west of the Allegheny mountains and captured all the Northwest Territory north of the Ohio River from the English. His force was so small that he had to call for volunteers to help him hold that great territory; and, Cartwell, in his history, states that one of four men of his neighborhood among the Valley of Virginia men who volunteered and went west and served under Gen. George Rogers Clark in 1781, was this Jacob Rinker. He represented his county in the convention held in Richmond to ratify the proposed constitution of the United States, and voted for its ratification. From an act of the state Legislature, Nov. 13, 1786, there is also positive proof that Jacob Rinker commanded a company of militia from Shenandoah County in the year of 1780 to 1781 while on its campaign in the Southern Army. This company reached Gen. Dan Morgan, 36 hours before the Battle of Cowpens and in which the patriots were victorious over the British. This company also guarded the prisoners taken at that battle while en route to Winchester, Va. where they were imprisoned. (See Wayland's History of Shenandoah Co., page 349.) One cold day in January, eleven years after the death of his wife, Col. Rinker, then 78 years of age, rode from his home at Cabin Hill, to Woodstock, Va., and remained over night with his daughter, Mrs. Robert Gaw, nee Barbara Rinker. When they went to his room the next morning to call him to breakfast they found him dead in bed. He was taken to Cabin Hill for burial.

1375y-a LEVI RINKER⁵ (son of Absalom,) b. near Edinburg, Va., Apr. 19, 1809; d. Jan. 7, 1888; bur. in the Cemetery at Grace Church, Rinkerton, Va.; m. May 26, 1836, MARGARET JANE REED, b. Jan. 15, 1815; d. May 1, 1869. For many years Levi Rinker lived with his aunt and uncle, Elizabeth and Christopher Hickle. As they had no children he inherited at their death a large part of their land and other property. He also inherited from his father a considerable estate. As the Hickle home was on Mill Creek about two miles west of Mt. Jackson, Mr. Rinker was enabled to farm his large acreage in his early life with much profit. Being industrious and enterprising he soon accumulated a large landed estate. During his active years he was constantly buying and selling land. He operated a flour mill on Mill Creek, which he built as well as the handsome brick residence on a beautiful eminence overlooking the creek. Here he also built a large store room where he conducted a general merchandise establishment for many years. His splendid mill and saw mill kept constantly humming with a large and profitable business. Mr. Rinker was too old for active military service in the Civil War, but in many ways lent his great ability to the furtherance of the cause of the Confederacy. He lost heavily during the war which was a great blow to his energy and enterprise. He never fully regained his former eminent position in the affairs of his county, but continued to lead an active and useful life as long as he was able. His mill and store where a post office was located for many years was named Rinkerton for him. He was an intelligent and well educated man and the moving spirit in all progressive civic activities in his part of the county for a long period and wielded a powerful influence in the affairs of his community. In his later years he was a member of the County Board of Supervisors where he greatly aided the management of the finances of the county—a difficult task during the reconstruction period following the War.

Mr. Rinker gave the land which Grace Reformed Church is located and for the beautiful cemetery adjoining it. He was a leader in the Church of his choice and served many years as elder, and was for a time treasurer of the Virginia Classis.

Dec. 3, 1809; d. in 1890. According to an account given by Markwood Monroe Burtner, a grandson, Eli Keeran built a mansion on the northeast corner of Keezle's Crossroads, four miles from Harrisonburg, Va. and in order to accommodate his tenant on the farm, moved into his new home before all the plastering was dry. The dampness give his wife inflammatory rheumatism from which she suffered intensely the remainder of her life, about twenty years, fourteen of which she was confined to her chair. At the time of her death, her joints had become stiffened and ossified so that her body conformed to the shape of the chair. Rather than permit the undertaker to break her bones after death so that she might be buried in a regular coffin, a special coffin was made to conform to her shape, and thus she was buried near Bridgewater, Va. Mrs. Keeran was one of the most pious and even tempered of Christian women. She was never known to speak ill of anyone and always had a good excuse for the failings of others. Mr. Keeran was of German parentage. He was a farmer and blacksmith. United Brethren Church.

Jan. 26, 1843, MARY ANN LANTZ, b. Jan. 18, 1822; d. Aug. 8, 1881. He was a farmer in the vicinity of Edinburg, Va. During the Civil War, Capt. Rinker enlisted in Co. K, Va. Cavalry as a volunteer, notwithstanding he was exempt because of his age, for he was not a man to shrink from peril and duty in times that try men's souls. He was the gallant leader of a company of Confederate Cavalry that gave much good service from the beginning of the war. In August of 1862, while in pursuit of a party of foraging infantry he was killed when a volley was fired into the company from a barn near Zane's old furnace on the back road between Strasburg and Winchester in Frederick Co. Lieut. Col. Funk was at his side at the time. Capt. Rinker was carried several hundred yards before he fell from his horse. It was supposed by the men with him that he was shot by a woman. The following epitaph was carved on his monument erected to commemorate his services:

"Resolved that we deplore as a serious loss to the cause of the South, the death of Capt. I. P. Rinker who was not only a gallant soldier, but a kind and accomplished officer, who deserved, as he enjoyed, the respect and love of his men."

Sept. 17, 1873; bur. in the St. Matthew Church Cemetery. They lived near Mt. Olive, Va. on a farm. The Coffmans who first settled in the Shenandoah Valley, Va., were natives of Germany. Kostlin, the writer of the life of Martin Luther, says he had a nephew and nieces who lived with his family at Wittenburg, Germany. Their names were Ceriac, Elsa and Lena Kauffman. They had lived at Mansfield, Germany. Kauffman may be the original spelling of the name. The Coffmans are all Lutherans. Mary was a member of the Reformed Church.

Second, m. Mar. 18, 1858, MARY CAROLINE BARBRE, b. at Waverly, Ill., Oct. 11, 1837; d. Feb. 3, 1924, at Taylorville, Ill. At the time of his father's death he was seven years of age. At fourteen he bore a large part of the responsibility of the support of a large family. Converted at the age of 18, he was soon impressed that he should preach for which he made preparation by attending Heartsville College. He traveled many fields in Ind., Ill. and Kans., and served as Presiding Elder four years, taught three years in Westfield College, one year in a seminary in Ill., and eight years in the schools of Lexington, in the same state. The last thirty years of his ministry were spent as a member of the Ill. Conference of the United Brethren in Christ. Rev. Keller was always pronounced in his faith, a strong preacher and a good executive. He served on the State Council of the Anti-Saloon League of Ill. for many years. He was a soldier the last six months of the Civil War in Co. E, 156th Regt., Ind. Vol., was appointed Corporal Apr. 18, 1865, also guard of U. S. mail. In later years he traveled for the American Bible Society. His home was at Roodhouse, Ill.

THE CLAYPOOL FAMILY

The Claypools were of Scotch descent. One of the earlier members of the family was James Claypool of Waldrun Park, Northamptonshire, England who was of such importance in the kingdom that he was granted a coat of arms. John Claypool married Elizabeth, the favorite daughter of Oliver Cromwell. James, a brother of John, and Norton Claypool came to America. The former was a witness to the signing of the charter of Pennsylvania by William Penn. They were opposed to the Revolutionary War. The pioneer of the Claypool family in Fairfield Co., O., was Jacob Claypool who was born in Hardy Co., W. Va. in 1775 and came with his family to Ohio in 1811. His first wife was Margaret Baker who died in 1828. His second wife was Mrs. Neal, a native of Ross Co., O. When in 1816 the Lancaster band was organized he was made director. The same year he was elected to the Ohio Legislature which position he held for three terms.

Isaac Claypool, son of Jacob, b. in Fairfield Co., O., June 21, 1821; d. June 21, 1902. He married first, Aug. 17, 1843, Nancy Meason, b. in 1821, d. in 1855; m. second, Sarah A. Pierce, b. in 1836, d. in 1893; third, m. Annie E. Cosgrove. Children still living are Jacob, James B., Frank P. residing in Fairfield Co., O., John R. and Emma E. (widow of Alexander McCowan), living in Lancaster, O. and Ada (Mrs. Albert Creighton) of Newark, O.

THE KELLERS OF SHENANDOAH COUNTY, VIRGINIA

There were at least three Keller families that located in Shenandoah Co., Va., prior to the Revolution. The history of George Keller who married Barbara Ann Hottel, and his descendants, has already been given. It may be of interest to those who bear the name of Keller to know something of the other families that according to tradition are distantly related to them.

ABRAHAM KELLER was a resident of Shenandoah Co. at the time of its formation in 1772, how much earlier no one knows. His home was on the South Shenandoah River in what is now known as Warren County. He was one of the first justices of the county and served a number of years. He was also sheriff two or more terms. In the George Rogers Clark expedition against the Indians of Illinois (1778) he served as second lieutenant in Captain Joseph Bowman's company. He died Apr. 20-26, 1778. His will was executed on Apr. 20, and probated on Apr. 26, 1778, (See Will Book "B," folio 323). By the term of his will his son William received the farm or plantation on which he lived. To his other children John, Elizabeth, Joseph and Rachel he gave an equal share of the value of his entire estate. William sold the farm in 1788 and possibly left the state. Nothing is known of John. Elizabeth died unmarried in 1804 leaving her estate in part to the children of Rachel who married first Benjamin Matthews by whom she had the following children: Abraham, Isaac, William, Elizabeth, Rebecca and Sarah. Joseph located on Mulberry Run in the north end of Shenandoah County where at the time of his death in 1825 he owned a large tract of land. By the terms of his will his son George came into possession of 225 acres of the part that joined the place where he then resided. Elizabeth, wife of John Stickley, was given 150 acres, the remainder of the place joining John Supinger and others. To his wife Leah, Joseph gave a life interest in the homeplace while to his daughter Esther, wife of John Bly, was given a part of his lands.

DR. GEORGE KELLER came to Virginia from Lancaster County, Pa. in 1762. He located first on the North Shenandoah River but soon after moved to Powells Fort Valley where he lived the balance of his life. He practiced medicine and was commonly called Dr. George to distinguish him from his contemporaries of the same name. He died about 1787. His will dated Dec. 28, 1787 was probated Jan. 31, 1788. In this he provides for the comforts of his wife, Barbara, and gives to his son Jacob when 21 years of age the choice of two farms, that on which they lived at Powells Fort or one on the east side of the North Shenandoah River at the base of the Three Top Mountains. Four other children were to have the farm not chosen by Jacob. These were Elizabeth, wife of Joseph Snapp; Mary, wife of Adam Shireman, Jr.; Magdalene and Barbara.

ORIGIN OF THE NORTONS

Jacob Norton was born in the northern part of Germany. His father was an Englishman who went to live in Germany and married a German woman. Jacob married Barbara Mizner and emigrated to Shenandoah Co., Va., where he remained until 1806 or 1810, when he went to Ohio, settling in the north part of Bristol Twp., Trumbull County on a farm later owned by his eleven children. Zachariah, the third son, married Lydia Hamman, who lived on a small farm in N. Bristol, which was purchased by Lydia's father. Jacob Norton served in the War of the Revolution as an aid on Gen. Washington's staff. Possessing some skill in the care of the sick and believing much in hygienic treatment for the ills that flesh is heir to, he had the opportunity to put his faith into practice at this time. A plague broke out in the army which seemed to baffle the skill of the army physicians. Jacob asked permission to prepare food for those afflicted on the staff and it was granted him. The result was marvelous. Gen. Washington then requested him to go among the troops and order this sort of food for all afflicted. It had the desired effect and in a very short time the army was able to move on, for which kind deed he was amply rewarded by Washington. The story is handed down to posterity that Jacob Norton came to Bristol, O. with a heaping half bushel of silver money. After his death a distribution of it was made to his children and handed down to grandchildren, who had much of it made into silverware or exchanged it for the same. Our information was gleaned from some old notes by Mrs. Rose C. Norton.

HISTORY OF THE WHITAKERS

*Lydia Whitaker, dau. of Jeremiah Whitaker, was b. Sept. 28, 1794; d. Feb. 24, 1853; m. Feb. 28, 1820, Joel Sparks, b. in Salem Co., N. J., Aug. 31, 1794; d. in Elwood, Ia., July 11, 1871. They were members of the M. E. Church, of which he was a trustee. Lydia descends from a long line of distinguished ancestors. The insertion of the following collateral data is made by special request for the benefit of any in future generations. The Whitakers are an ancient English family. The original spelling of the name was "Whitacar." Richard Whitaker, the immigrant, was a native of London, and tradition says, he came to America and settled in West Jersey at the time of the plague, in 1665 or the year following the year after the great fire. He was married in Salem, N. J., in 1679. No doubt Lydia is a direct descendant of Richard Whitaker. Jeremiah Whitaker, father of Lydia, was the son of Thomas, the second, b. Sept. 1, 1754; d. 1814; m. Feb. 19, 1778, Sarah Keen, b. June 17, 1757. Children: (1) Priscilla, b. 1779; (2) Jeremiah, b. 1780; (3) John, b. Nov. 30, 1783; (4) Henry and Sarah, twins, b. 1785; (5) William, b. 1787; (6) David, b. 1790; (7) Hannah, b. 1792; (8) Lydia, b. Sept. 28, 1794; (9) Ann, b. 1797; (10) Thomas, b. 1800; (11) Marah, b. 1803. The will of Thomas Whitaker, the second, was probated in 1779. His sons Jeremiah and Thomas were named as executors. The account was settled Nov. 30, 1779. This Thomas was contemporaneous with those known to be the grandchildren of Richard Whitaker, the immigrant. The families are unquestionably identical, although this has not been proved. Dr. Sheppard Whitaker, b. in Cedarville, N. J., Jan. 20, 1823; d. at Millville, N. J., 1893, was 30 years a physician. He was a son of Thomas, the fourth, a cousin of E. P. Sparks. Jeremiah Whitaker, Jr., son of Jeremiah, Sr., had 10 children: (1) Ann Ray, b. 1805;

(2) John, b. 1807; (3) Hannah, b. 1808; (4) Elim D., b. 1810; (5) Jeremiah, b. 1812, d. 1812; (6) Daton Buck, b. 1814, d. 1888; (7) Ruth Burt, b. 1817; (8) Priscilla, b. 1812; (9) Jeremiah Potter, b. 1821; (10) William C., b. 1823. Miss Mary Streets, Bridgeton, N. J. is a great granddaughter of Ann Ray. Miss Elizabeth Whitaker, Bridgeton, N. J. is a daughter of William C.

THE WILKIN FAMILY

GODFREY WILKIN, SENIOR, was born in Switzerland early in 1700 and came to America before 1750. As members of this family belonged to the First Reformed Church. It is believed he landed at Philadelphia. Our first authentic record is of a land grant filed in the land office at Richmond, Va., Sept. 11, 1756. This grant is for 400 acres near Woodstock, Va., to Godfrey and George Wilkin of Frederick Co., Va. Nothing further is known concerning Godfrey until Mathias Wilkin, called eldest son and heir, qualified as administrator of his father's will, May 26, 1785. This information was found at Woodstock, Va., Book B, pages 340 and 429.

A bill of appraisement of the estate of Godfrey Wilkin ordered by the court in June 17, 1785, shows it to have been of considerable magnitude for those days. Godfrey Wilkin's children were as follows:

- (1) Mathias Wilkin, m. Margaret Keller, lived at Lost River, W. Va.
- (2) Elizabeth Wilkin, m. John Haas

- (3) Henry Wilkin, m. Rachel Silkitt or Shilcutt, moved to Highland Co., O.
- (4) Philip Wilkin, m. Anna Layman, Apr. 29, 1788, moved to Highland Co., O.
- (5) Godfrey Wilkin, Jr., m. Catherine Layman, June 13, 1786, remained near Woodstock, Va.
- (6) John Wilkin, m. Hannah Craybill, moved near Newark, O., 1812
- (7) George Wilkin, m. Barbara Fravel and Lydia Wise, lived at Lost River, W. Va.

For most of the above information we are indebted to Mrs. C. P. Lesh, Indianapolis, Ind., historian of the Wilkin family. That pertaining to Mathias, George and John was obtained from other sources. This information is given for the benefit of those of the Wilkin family who through intermarriages are related to the Keller, Fravel and Hottel families.
